The Home of Early Days. BY MRS. S. L. MILES FASSETTE.

"I turn me back, Off times in midnight slumber, and appear They whom I loved, and my loved home is near. Back to my home, my own loved home..."

"Once more 'neath my own loved sky, And a veil is cast o'er the long, long years Since last I looked a good by..."

On the Death of LIZZIE LITTLE, Daughter of Rev. H. J. and Jane E. Little, Montrose, Pa.

LINES BY MRS. S. L. MILES FASSETTE.

Weep we! yes, our flower is withered, Gone our little prattling one, She who late hath brought such gladness..."

Oh how fondly wert thou twining 'Round our hearts, as day by day We have watched the lid unfolding..."

The Clock of the World. BY C. C. CARPENTER.

Roll on the clock of the world! Considering Liberty as the clock of the world, Science as the pendulum, by which the motion of this ticking time-piece of rolling ages is regulated, and the Printing press the key, we see that they are inseparably connected...

And when the voice of Henry, Otis, and Adams sounded through the land, the old banner raised from its dreary repose, and struck with such force as to break the shackles from three millions of men...

The Panic. BY MRS. S. L. MILES FASSETTE.

Cholera in Sandusky, Ohio. FRANKLIN, Sept. 18, 1849.

MR. CHAPMAN:—I am often asked: what the great fatality which attended the cholera at Sandusky, City, is to be attributed to? It is not strange that such inquiries should be made...

Talking Toll. BY T. S. ARTHUR.

Mr. SMITH kept a drug shop in the village of Lancaster, which was situated a few miles from Lancaster. It was his custom to visit the latter place every week or two, in order to purchase such articles as were needed from time to time for his business...

How to get a wife.

Many are the methods which persons ambitious of committing matrimony adopt to secure a partner. Some cooquer by the power of gold, some by the force of intellect...

The Farmer's Wife.

The life of the Farmer is so often made a scene of complimentary remark, so often for its peacefulness and independence, that the wife of a man of this rank is supposed to be the happiest woman in the world...
