Susquehanna County vs. JAMES DEANS vs. JONATHAN E. CHURCHILL. It is agreed that this suit is settled. The defendant confesses judgment for all the legal costs, and admits having spoken the words charged, but that he did so under excited feelings, and that whatever he has said against the Plaintiff at any time or on any occasion, he said without reflection, without cause, and without any foundation in truth, and regrets the same, and in full justice to the said Plaintiff he now makes this statement. J. E. CHURCHILL. BENJ. S. BENTLEY, Atty. for PFE August 5, 1850. Susquehanna County vs. I certify that the foregoing is a true copy of paper filed in the above entitled cause. Witness my hand and seal of office at Montrose, the 24th day of August, A. D. 1850.

Susquehanna Academy, Montrose, Penna. THE Trustees of the Susquehanna Academy respectfully inform the public that the large and very commodious building, constructed for the purpose, is now finished, and will be opened for instruction on Tuesday, the 10th day of September. They would hereby draw the attention of the friends and patrons of our Institution. It is located at Montrose, the county seat of Susquehanna county, Penna., a place noted for the salubrity of its climate, the beauty of its location, and the healthful tone of its morals. It is situated 14 miles from the village of Great Bend on the Susquehanna River; where is located an important Depot of the New York and Erie Railroad Company; at which two passenger trains, from the East and West, stop daily, and from which to Montrose are two daily stages. It is also on the direct route of communication South and North; thus rendering it easy of access from every direction. Arrangements will be made for the comfortable accommodation of pupils from abroad. It is the desire and purpose of the Trustees, by appropriate discipline, by the course of study pursued, by the thoroughness of the instruction imparted, and by the facilities furnished, to secure for it a high standing among the literary Institutions of the kind in our land. COURSE OF STUDY. I. Academic Department.—Grammar, Arithmetic, Reading, Writing, Spelling, Elementary History. II.
