in those speeches last Saturday, it would not be entirely correct.

Now, permit me tostate what in my humble opinites true Democracy or Republica tion consut It is for a man to use his best endeavors to inform himself as to the real merits of any measure that may be brought before the public, irrespective of may be brought being introduces; and if you wish what this or that party introduces; and if you wish to ask the opinion of a friend who you think can to ask the ophical yourself, let a strong party man judge better than yourself, let a strong party man of any nort be the less one you consult; for if he is otherwise honest his judgment is sure to be more or less warped by his feelings or imaginary interests. And where you have fully satisfied yourself as to be more or interesting of to the the merits or demerits of any question, go to the polls and vote for the person who you think will be most likely, if elected, to carry out those views, and be sure you do not alter your mind by what may be said by the busy-bodys who are the most noisy about their political principle on election day and if they attempt to brow beat you, or call you by any offensive epithets, you may be sure their cause is a bad one, or at least, in bad hands, and I moreover believe if every man were to vote on that principle alone, we would eventually find our public expenses materially lessened, and a certain lass of politicians decidedly more scarce.

I now take leave, for the present, of the subject, by saying that I have not penned this article so ch with reference to the result of the contest which is now pending; but have endeavored in some measure, if possible, to correct the error which I fear too many have fallen into in regar to the true meaning of Democracy. ## An Appeal to the Friends of Free Soil is the 12th Congressional District.

A cause so sacred as that of keeping our vast Territories uncontaminated by slavery and trans-mitting to our posterity the fertile fields of the West, where they can earn their own bread and sit under their own vine and fig-tree, without having the frown of Jehovah resting upon them for their cruelty and injustice to their fellow man-is of too much importance to be treated lightly at this time ; and should call forth our best judgment in regard to the course we should pursue in the coming

How stands the case ! The Hon. David Wilmot who has done so much for our couse is no-longer a candidate, and to fill his place in the councils of the nation they offer us a "Free Soil Cass man," by the name of G. A. Grow. Now, if Mr. Grow was a true friend to Free Soil, why were the dough-face Hunkers so anxious to have him take the place of Mr. Wilmet ? Would they who are so great sticklers for a candidate from Tioga, have taken a man from Susquehanna had they not been assured that when the great trial in regard to form ing State Governments for our Territories comes on, he would cast his vote on the side of the op pressor ! The fact is, he cannot be trusted. It will be for his supposed interest to prove false to Freedom as he will have some six or eight hundred dough-face supporters who will expect him to do something for them. Now, is it not wisdom on our part to support a man who has always been a friend to freedom, and whose whole soul is enlisted in our cause! Such a man is J. C. Adams, who in 1844 fought manfully against the annexation of Texas to stop the giant strides of the Slave power which was spreading the withering curse of Bla-very over the fairest portions of our otherwise happy country. Now, should he be elected to Songress, we can rely upon him as a firm friend to our cause, and one, too, who will never yield up the ship while there is a plank left to stand upon And, indeed, if we must be bought and sold, let us have something nearer an equivalent than G. A. Grow, for so true and tried a champion in our cause as David Wilmot. TRUE FERE-SOILISM.

Whigs of Susquehanna :-- The 8th of October is at hand. On Tuesday next, a Congressman, Sen ator, Representative and county Officers are to be effected. In the choice of these, inferents are at stake of great importance. Interests that demand the attention of every Whig, and we cannot excuse ourselves for any neglect of duty in this mat-

Shall we suffer defeat because we have been defeated heretofore ? Shall we quietly submit to the dictation of a corrupt clique, and suffer the election to go by default. No, never ! we can, we will " give them a piece of that same old tane." The truth is, the prospects of electing John G. Adams and Col. E. Smith, is better by far than when Messrik Lowroy and Wilmot were in the field, and all that is necessary, it that every Whig vote is polled. There is much encouragement too, from the honest dem subci encouragement too, from the nonest dem-ocracy, who of late have become disgusted with the intolerable corruption and tricking of the Fire Proof gentry, by their assumption of power in the withdrawal of Messre. Wilmot and Lowrey and substitution of G.A. Grow, Esq. Demonstrations of their outraged feelings are constantly made in our ears, giving assurance that they are men made of stuff that cannot be bought and sold with impunity, but will utterly repudiate the effrontery of these Demagogues at the coming election who have thus betrayed their trust. That all who thus feel, will thus act we cannot expect, we know too' well the strength of party lines, but that many have the courage of men, we do know, and will at all hazards vote with us-however strong the efforts to keep them in the traces. For such democrats we have a welcome we of fer them a ticket, pledged in the support of Free-Soil—pledged for the repeal of that "edious farce," the small note haw of last session—pledged for the the small note hav of last session—pledged for the real interests and welfare of our country.—a ticket every wry competent to administer and carry out all the great democratic principles, (notwithstand-ing we were told at the Ratification failure of last Saturday by Prince John, the famous Red dutch cabbage of Kinderhook, that Whigs were in-competent torule.) We offer men tried and true, wholly competent and no man in his senses, will deny it, (Cabbages may say what they please.) For such men we ask your suffrares, so loop as For such men we ask your suffrages, so long as they are true to their trust and no longer. We say then Democrats, vote with us, break up this faction that have grown fat and aleak and strong, upon the Public fodder. Whige don't stay at home, let no man neglect to vote. True we have been often beaten, so have reformers in all ages. We have borne it like men and can suffer still longer, but not quietly, and if we rally all is safe. Gur cause is the cause of the People, - we repeat it, all is safe. Let us act. WILLIG.

can, they can manufacture cheaper than we can: down with the tariff, let us exchange, they will solt trade with us unless we will with them? dc. Well the tariff was abolished; our iron interests were left unprotected, our railroads are all built with English iron, our furnaces are stopped, debts are contracted in Europe for goods, and how are they to be paid. Not in pork, for that is lower there than here, an immense number of hogs in Ireland to supply the market; not in flour, for France and other European nations can furnish them cheaper than we can, -- not in any of the products of agrithan we can, --not in any of the produce of agri-culture, for they have them in produce abundance. # SENATOR.

We are happy to announce to our readers the name of Col. ELHANAN SMITH as the Whig candidate for Senator of this Senatorial district. He is known in the district as a man of abiility. perseverance and integrity—every way worthy the support, not only of the Whigs but also of all can-did, highminded, and independent persons. In him the people can confide. They can rest assured that he will not sell the rights and interests of his party to secure his election, or afterwards his reelection. His extensive acquaintance throughout the district ensures him the cordial support of all fair and candid men. We can approach any respectable man, and with the greatest confidence and asable man, and with the greatest connence and as-surance, ask him to support such a candidate. And especially do we call upon our own party for de-tirmined and energatic action in his behalf. How unlike is our candidate to his opponent. Mr. Sand-erson, the hunker candidate, has been carrying water on two shoulders at least. He yielded a cold and formal support to Mr. Wilmot while that man had bounty to bestow, while at heart he was opposhad bointy to bestow, while at heart he was oppos-ed to his free soil movements. As Wilmot's star-declined, Sanderson was found to gradually aban-don his orbit. 'He was pig and puppy 'till his nom-ination was secured through Wilmots influence, and then the latent feelings of his heart got the maste-ry of his head, and he came out a pro-slavery Low-rey man. What confidence can the people place in each material. They can have account of the start of th in such material I They can have no regard to principal if they sustain him. We shall soon see what stuff they are made of .-- Bradford Argus.

From the Carbondale Journal.-Destructive Fire !!

Our village has been the scene of the most destructive fire which has ever before occurred in it-in extent of territory, and value of property amounting to five times the damage to our village in 1846. The fire broke out about 11 oclock in the barn belonging to the Carbondale House kept by Mr. Thomas. The wind being from the west and the material so combustible, it gained the mas tery of all efforts to confine it and soon set fire to the Hotel and to the store of T. Dickson & Co. and the Pa. Coal Company's Office. The heat became so intense that the Post Office across the street next caught fire, from which it spread north and south, and ran with such fury that the inhabitants and shopkcepers had not time to secure their property from destruction ... From the Carbondale House the fire in a southernly direction burnt the residence of Mrs. Raynor, and the saddlery shop of Mr. Farnum. There being some fifty feet between Mrs. Raynor. and the store of Grow and Bros., with much effort in this direction the fire was checked.

Northerly from Dickson and Co's, the gro ceries of G. R. Crocker and Anthony Swartz, and the store of Jasper Stark were consumed. Richmond & Robinson's store, though several times in flames, was finally saved. On the east side Main st. the Post ( ffice with the store of Love & Gillepsie, was destroyed southerly, the residence and store of Patrick

Excessive Importation.

The London Morning Herald, in a long article refers to the American commercial news received received on Monday; and remarks that 'manmachined goods continue to be thrown in on the American market to an enormous extent, and are drawn against to the utmost limit, which alone accounts for the rate of exchanges being sustained at such a figure. The ultimate issue of all this is not in the least doubtful; and, as we have had re peated occasions to state of late, disaster is merely a question of time. -N. Y. Tribane.
