VOL. 1. NUMBER 22.

NOTICE.

The Eclectic Botanic Medical Society will hold its annual meeting at the Court-house in Montrose, June 10th. Doct. Loomis will lecture upon the injurious effects of Calomel on the human system.

Come friends and put shoulder to the wheel.—By organization we concentrate our forces and render them available. Our strength may be estimated by it. Our exertions are the best evidence of our valuation of our principles—of the integrity of our purposes. In order to compass these important ends we must unite and cohere, we must organize ourselves and stand by our principles and by each other, so long as there remains a convict to make or a victory to achieve. Association imparts life and activity. It strengthens our high and firm resolves. It creates power which if lawfully and justly exercised favors the progress of science. Its influence sways the world, and gives character to individuals and respect to their opinions. Combine our forces, unite our interests, increase our numbers and means, organize all our friends, for there is not one so humble that he cannot contribute to our prosperity or afford some aid. The tendency of combination is to provoke effort. Did you ever observe a small band of brethren firmly united, and resolved upon one object, who failed to make friends? Did you ever observe that those who enlisted were less decided and as their numbers increased their facilities for growth and prosperity decreased? Does it not always excite resolution and induce exertion to stand committed before the world in a grave cause? There is no being so insipid as the passive, luke-warm friend, whose snail-ish faculties are too inert to take a stand or make a decision. I consider him nearly as great a nuisance as he who basely makes professions of friendship, while secretly leading a life of hostility.

Then be decided and be laborers, be engaged and be united to extend our principles and render them available.

NOTICE.

The Pennsylvania State Convention of Universalists will hold its annual session at Brooklyn, Susquehanna county, on the first Wednesday and following Thursday (4th and 5th) of June next.—Rev. N. Stacy was appointed to deliver the occasional sermon and Rev. J. H. Campbell alternate. All friends coming by the New York & Erie Railroad should stop at Great Bend, from which place our friends will take them to Brooklyn and back free of charge. A. B. Gause, Standing Clerk.

Phœnix Store!

THE subscribers would inform their friends and customers that notwithstanding their severe loss by the late fire, they have obtained the building recently occupied by the Messrs. Lathrop, near-ly opposite Searle's Hotel, where they are receiving a fresh supply of goods, which together with their old stock saved from the fire, gives them quite a general assortment, which they hope to be enabled to keep good. Necessity will compel them to sell mostly for ready pay. Also they must say to their customers indebted either to B. Sayre or S. H. Sayre & Co., that prompt and immediate payment must be made, as this is the only means they have to keep up their business.

"A friend in need is a friend indeed."

May 20, 1851. S. H. SAYRE & CO.

P.S. THE Stove and Tin branch of the business will be carried on by B. C. Sayre and A. L. Webster, a few doors below the brick corner, under the firm of Sayre & Webster.

A Great National Picture! WASHINGTON!

From Stuart's Celebrated Painting!

THIS large and magnificent FULL LENGTH PORTRAIT OF WASHINGTON, from the burin of an American artist, is considered by all who have seen it to be one of the most beautiful specimens of art ever published, and a correct likeness of Washington. The size of the plate is eigteen by twenty inches, which will make a hand-some picture for the parlor, and should be in the house of every American citizen.

It is a correct copy from Stuart's celebrated original Painting, now at the State House, Hartford, Connecticut.

It is finely engraved, and printed on superior plate paper. That it may be within the means of all, the publisher has reduced the price to ONE DOLLAR!

☞ All persons remitting the amount may rely upon receiving a perfect copy by return of mail to any part of the United States, (carefully put up on rollers made for the purpose,) free of postage.

Address orders (post paid) to the publisher,

JOHN S. TAYLOR,
Book-seller and publisher,
17-w3 142 Nassau st., New York.

Have you a pain? Have you a Sore—And, Worse by far, a sore Throat? We have heard a capital good story of Dr. Samuel A. Walker, D.D., the popular [illegible] which is worth printing. A physician [illegible] bought a tract of land in one of our beautiful [illegible] upon the water side, and in the course of time put a handsome dwelling house and [illegible] upon it. The land was laid out into [illegible] and mounds, with fruit trees, vines, [illegible] and fountains and statuary—tastefully [illegible] and removed back to the city. After [illegible] to sell it at private sale for a long time, and [illegible] a purchaser, he applied to Mr. Walker [illegible] it disposed of at auction. Mr. Walker said [illegible] that it was just the kind of place to suit him, and went with his best friend Freeman [illegible] bid in the estate, and whenever the Doctor [illegible] little homestick or inclined to sell out, he will [illegible] him.—Boston Commonwealth.

LYNCH LAW IN ARKANSA.—John Lynch [illegible] Judge, was a native of South Carolina, who [illegible] to Kentucky shortly after Daniel Boone. [illegible] were 450 miles from any seat of Justice. The appointment of Lynch to Judge, first place in the case of an Indian who stole a [illegible] from Daniel Boone. The Indian was caught [illegible] in the act, and immediately instituted a [illegible] and twelve Jurors to try the offence. John [illegible] was elected Chief Justice. The Indian was convicted, and sentenced to receive thirty-nine [illegible] which were forthwith given. The authority [illegible] was given to Lynch was retained, and the trials [illegible] Lynch law were had whenever any outrage [illegible] committed. Lynch was a daring, dissolute character [illegible] he outlived Boone, and resided in the latter part of his life on an Island in the Mississippi.

[illegible] OF GRAMMARIANS.—The Boston Transcript [illegible] a conversation between a young lady [illegible] writes for the magazines and an old gentleman [illegible] can speak English.

Old Gentleman.—Are there any houses building in your village?

Young Lady.—No sir. There is a house being built for Mr. Smith, but it is the carpenters who are building it certainly a different thing from being built, and how long has Mr. Smith's house been building?

Young Lady.—(Looks puzzled a moment, and then answers rather sharply.) Nearly a year.

Old Gentleman.—How much longer do you think it will be being built?

Young Lady.—(Looks relieved.) I don't know, sir, I should think Mr. Smith would be annoyed by its being so long being built, to call and settle without delay.

[illegible] it, and the new one being only being built, [illegible] stead of being built as he expected, he cannot [illegible] over. As a matter of personal comfort the [illegible] must be most agreeable, in addition to its [illegible]

The young lady leaves the room very suddenly.

DISCOVERY.—Henry Ostheer, of Danville, Montour county, was accidentally drowned in the canal at Selinsgrove on Sunday the 4th inst. He was an Englishman by birth, aged 24 years, and was supposed to be intoxicated at the time of his death. An inquest was held on the body and the verdict rendered "death by accidental drowning."

A man with a large family was complaining of the difficulty of supporting all of them. "Why don't a friend, (two have gone to serve you) do something and help you know." "I'm thinking so, they are too big to work," was the answer.
