The Toads - A Parody.

BY TITUS HOLLAND, Esq.

Hear the hill-toads with their toads; Spotted toads; What a scene of horror and disgust their noise for toads.

With their croaking, croaking, croaking, Through the day and through the night, Like a self on amphibious.

On the air it is growing loud; Aid our senses of harmony corroded; How it sounds, How it sounds.

On the toads, toads, toads, toads, Toads, toads, toads, Toads, toads, toads, Toads, toads, toads.

Hear the grub-toad water toads; Frog-calls toads; Roaring terror by a thousand different notes;

On your grand old father, you pass before the Royal presence, make your bow of respect; receive the faint suggestion of a response; and pass along and away to make room for the next customer.
