

notice, and puffing his name and fame through the medium of the public prints, was false. This, to be sure, it is easy to assert, but the facts can be readily ascertained in Bradford and various other counties, where the owners of his owned part of the presses, and in others where he buys the privilege, by holding out the hope of a reward. AN OBITUARY.

The Hon. Joshua W. Comly.
Mr. Meredith was not only a State, but a National reputation. Judges, County Clerks, and members of both the Supreme and Circuit Courts, and from this fact as well as from his services in the Legislature and Congress, they are well known in every part of the State. The gentleman whose name stands second on the Whig ticket, has never held an office, and though he possesses a very high local reputation, is not generally known to the citizens of the Commonwealth. A few remarks about him may not be considered out of place by the public.

Joshua W. Comly is the son of Charles Comly, a merchant of Philadelphia, who removed from that city to Millersburg, Northumberland county. Joshua W. Comly, received his education at Princeton College, where he graduated with great honor.

From Princeton Mr. Comly returned to Northumberland county, and studied law under Samuel Hepburn, Esq. After the admission to the bar, he returned to Schuylkill county, and practiced law at Lewisburg. He felt Schuylkill and emigrated to Danville near Montour, then Columbia county, where he has resided for the last fifteen years. His practice in Montour and in the adjacent counties, is very extensive; and the many important cases entrusted to his care have been handled with extraordinary ability. His legal learning, logical mind, and habits of careful research, have gained him a handsome and lucrative practice, and established a high reputation wherever he is known.

As a politician, Mr. Comly has always been a mild and moderate, though a strong Republican, and sound and conservative in his principles. He has never been an active political honor. His private character is of the best kind, being a gentleman of unbounded integrity, pure morals, and amiable temper. In the strong opinion of his friends, he is one of the best men in the county, and his services to the State and Nation will be remembered with affection.

He is the father of a family of five children, and is now in the enjoyment of a comfortable and peaceful retirement.

Mr. Comly's proposed lineal inheritance tax, in noticing Col. Bigler's proposed safety fund scheme, yesterday, we only offered a few brief comments upon one of the minor provisions of the bill, leaving its main features, embraced in the first and second sections, to another time. We now propose to examine their practical operations, had that bill become a law.

We will take the case of a farmer.— We will suppose through industry and good management he has become proprietor of a farm, and that that farm through the continued exertion of his well directed industry, has become of the clear value of two thousand dollars, or upwards. Such a farmer as this, in Pennsylvania will be a comfortable support, but not much more. Nor will we suppose that the owner is the head of the family, as most good and honest men are, and this family is very dependent upon the strength and labor of the father. This supposed case is so common among the rural population of this state that it is the rule and not the exception.

This man in the midst of his labors and usefulness, is struck down by illness, and laid on a bed of languishing. The best skill which the neighborhood affords is employed regardless of expense, to preserve his life; but in vain. He dies. His property remains in the hands of his afflicted family, who struggle on as best they can, without him.

In this supposed case we have not drawn in any peculiar or aggravating circumstances, but have simply depicted the ordinary features of this afflictive dispensation which sooner or later must befall every household. Yet at this time of quietness and trial, when the widow might expect the language of Job and cry, "Haste ye upon me, O my friends, for the hand of God hath touched me," this law (which happily was strangled in its birth) would have come in to demand of this widow and her orphan children its one per cent amounting in this supposed case to twenty dollars or over) in addition to all other taxes.

We shall not tax Colonel Bigler with cruelty or hard-heartedness. We think this is not his character; but, on the other hand we believe that if he could have "perceived" the "bearing" of his own scheme, he would have shrunk from it, with horror. No, we shall permit him to continue under the cover of mental weakness, of that thick-headedness, which incapacitates him for investigation.

So much for the provisions of the section of that famous bill. The unconstitutional and unjust features of the first section may form the subject of another article. In the mean time we ask the people whether they intend to support a man for Governor who if they cannot allow him the plea of mental weakness, has rendered himself obnoxious to the charge of cruelty in its worst form, in attempting to impose a heavy tax upon widows and orphans at the very moment when every good man would desire to relieve them if possible of every burden.— Pillsbury Gazette.

The Reason why the locooco journal at Montrose is assailing Mr. Jessup in reference to the affairs of the Bank of Susquehanna County, was fully explained to us the other day by a gentleman who has had ample opportunities to make himself acquainted with the secret motives of the editor and his associates. It appears that Mr. Thomas P. St. John, the cashier under those fraudulent management the bank was ruined, is to be tried at Montrose for his misdeeds in a few weeks, and a special court to be held by Judge Williston. His locooco friends at Montrose who were accomplices more or less direct with him in the great swindle, are anxious to relieve his case in the public estimation and through public opinion, in the estimation of the jury by whom he shall be tried, by wrongfully shifting a portion of the odium over upon Mr. Jessup. This is an old game, which rogues often play at, and frequently with success. In this case it has been carried too far, and is reacting powerfully. We are assured that Mr. Jessup will run far ahead of his ticket in Susquehanna county. In this county he will poll more than a party vote, and so he will in Wyoming, Luzerne, Pike and Monroe counties.— Advertiser Democrat.

A party of six Ojibway Indians called upon Jenny Lind at Rochester. She requested them to sing some of their war songs. They complied, and she paid them back with the Echo and Bird songs.

A writer in the North Carolina Statesman expresses a wish that the Devil had all the South Carolina traitors. We can't see what the Devil would do with them. They are all such fire-eaters that they would probably burn him out of house and home.— Louisville Journal.
