Johnston Club Songs.

Bigler's Montrose Speech.

Written for the Young Man's Johnston Club, by H. H. FRAZER.

Tune—"Roein the Bow."

One warm afternoon in the summer
It chanced, in a fine grove of beech,
Some five hundred people assembled,
To hear Bigler make a big speech, &c.

"Democracy's champion, chosen
Her standard to bear in the fray,"
He certainly showed himself valiant
In murdering English that day.

His awkward attempts at "soft soddee"
The audience met with a laugh,
That he should suppose them so verdant,
So easily caught with his chaff.

Many subjects he learnedly handled,
As slavery, the tariff, and such—
But when he was quoting hog-Latin,
The ignorant thought it was dutch.

His lucid remarks on the tariff
Were tho't more profound than the rest.
Having been on both sides of that question,
He ought to know which is the best.

How plainly he showed as our duty
Concerning the fugitive slave—
He'd catch the 'black rascals,' & cage 'em,
And thus our great Union he'd save.

Then hurrah for the valorous rafteman,
Now embarked in a crazy old boat,
That, soon as the 'ides of October,'
Is bound up Salt river to float.

Bigler's Hopes are gone!

Written for the Young Men's Johnston Club, by I. L. LITTLE.

AIR—Come darkies listen to dis song.

That Bigler is a clever man
No one pretends to doubt,
For since the canvass first began,
He's shown it "in and out,"
By making for himself a claim
Of all the Whigs have done;
But as we shout Bill Johnston's name,
He finds his hopes are gone.

Oh! Bigler's hopes are gone—
Oh! Bigler need not try;
He thinks they love him in their heart,
'Tis only "in his eye."
Oh! Bigler's hopes are gone,
Oh! Bigler how you sigh,
Bill Johnston's on the track again,
And Locofoco's fly.

A dozen laws, how strange it is,
That other folks have made,
He says are handiwork of his,
And grew beneath his shade;
The sinking fund the Whigs have tried
And found to work so well,
Then loud against the plan he cried,
Now hear him o'er it swell.
O Bigler's hopes, &c.

Once on the Senate floor he stood
As champion of the slave,
Denounced the hunters of their blood,
In maudlin tones, yet grave;
Now turning from that platform free,
Flies not the storm-cloud faster,
Than he to bow the coward knee,
Unto his truckling master.
O Bigler's hopes, &c.

A boy once tried to catch the lark,
He thought he could not fail,
And slily crept up in the dark,
And looked to see her tail;
Some salt he held within his hand,
And moved as light as air,
But as the nest he blankly scanned,
Behold she was'nt there.
O Bigler's hopes, &c.

Thus would sold Bigler gain our votes,
With protestations strong;
But he has sung the same old notes,
And we have heard them long;
And as he tries to chain our ears,
With soft words from afar,
And fain would draw us still more near,
Behold we are not "thar."
O Bigler's hopes, &c.

The Rallying Cry!

Written for the Young Men's Johnston Club, by I. L. LITTLE.

Tune—"Sparkling and bright."

Our eyes are bright, and our hearts are light,
As we rush to the battle fray;
Our banners beam in the golden gleam
Of a long and glorious day.
Hark to the shout as our lines file out—
Gallant Johnston is ahead;
And see each lance in the sunlight glance,
As on by him they're led.

CHORUS.

Then sing again the glorious strain—
Hurrah! the Chieftains bold!
Cheer away boys, let them hear your noise!
Strike for our man as of old.

The 'Old Guard' comes with her rolling drums;
Lancaster's true Whig yet;
They hear the cry of the battle nigh,
And rush where foes are met.
Hark to the cheer, ringing far and near,
Philadelphia's gallant sons,
In squadron wheel, with their burnished steel,
To crush the Loco guns.
Chorus—Then ring again, &c.

With Jessup's name like a wall of flame,
To lead the conflict stern;
Each quiet glade and each woodland shade
Pours a host no fear's will turn.
United all, they stand or fall
Through our country's height and glen
And cry to those leagued with our foes,
Give way, we know the men.
Chorus—Then ring, &c.

From vallies still, and each blue hill,
Comes forth a dauntless host,
Each heart beats high as the gale sweeps by,
Loaded with freemen's boast.
They hear it swell, but they know it well,
They have heard it in days of yore;
High on the blast, like a hurricane passed
That same old shout before.
Chorus—Then ring, &c.

From east to west, in their armor dressed,
Whigs rush to their standard high;
From south to north they are coming forth,
As sounds their battle-cry,
The freeman's might on the side of right
Is found with true steps all;
With stalwart hand, a gallant band,
They come at Johnston's call.
Chorus—Then ring, &c.

Ho! sally then, brave hearted men—
On like the rushing of fire;
Our foes fly fast, with faces aghast—
They hear you coming for.
They hear your cry, pealing on high,
And mingle with shouts of fear;
Now on to battle, dear to all freemen's gears,
Once more a hearty cheer.
Chorus—Then ring again, &c.

Lever, Watch, and minute Automata Mechanism.

J. A. SINGLETON (Pupil of Litherland, the Patentee, and late with H. Rotkell, Liverpool,) Chronometer, and Patent Lever Watch Manufacturer.

In compliance with numerous influential and earnest solicitations to remain in Montrose, I have consented, on condition that I meet with that encouragement and approval which it shall be my constant study and interest to merit:

In addition to the Manufacturing Department, J. A. S. undertakes effectually to repair every description of Geneva Musical Tableux, Repeating and other Watches, together with Automata Mechanism, however complex. The disagreeable jarring so prevalent in spiral music, and so justly complained of, thoroughly eradicated, more particularly so in Musical Boxes.

It must be admitted that, in connection with, and in addition to theoretical knowledge, or a speculative acquaintance, it is indispensibly requisite the artisan should be practically familiar with the complex nature of that delicately minute description of machinery referred to. This qualification, and this only, renders the artist competent to accomplish with mathematical accuracy.

If upwards of forty years' assiduous and practical perseverance in the construction of various approved escapements for the more accurate means of measuring Time, in conjunction with unique specimens of Automata now in his possession, together with the high patronage enjoyed, preponderates in the scale of scientific approbation, then J. A. S. unostentatiously presumes he has some pre-ensions to the confidence of those honoring him with the recommends.

CABINET SHOP.

NEW ARRANGEMENT.

William W. Smith & Co.

HAVE now completed their arrangements for manufacturing and keeping constantly on hand all and every kind of manufactured out of the best quality of Mahogany, Black Walnut, Maple, Cherry, and other lumber, and in the best and most durable manner. Among the articles which they intend to keep on hand or make to order, are Mahogany, Black Walnut, Cherry and Maple Bureaus, Side Boards, Secretaries, Book Cases; Centre, Card, Pier, and other Tables; Stands of every variety; Sofas, Settees, Divans, Ottomans, &c.; Bedsteads of all kinds and varieties, made of Mahogany, Black Walnut, Cherry and Maple. Also, Mahogany, Black Walnut, Curl and Fancy CHAIRS of every variety and description, which they have now on hand, and intend to keep a constant supply. Any article desired will be supplied on a few days' notice.

Household Furniture,

As the subscribers have often been solicited to enlarge their business and to open an establishment of the kind in Montrose, which could supply every variety of Household Furniture, and save the trouble of sending to the Cities for such articles, they hope to meet with liberal patronage and encouragement.

The British Periodicals, and the Farmer's Guide.

LEONARD SCOTT & CO., No. 54 Gold street New York, Continue to publish the four leading British Quarterly Reviews and Blackwood's Magazine; in addition to which they have nearly completed the publication of a valuable Agricultural work, called the "Farmer's Guide to Scientific and Practical Agriculture," BY HENRY STEPHENS, F. R. S., of Edinburgh, author of the "Book of the Farm," &c. &c. assisted by JOHN P. NORTON, M. A. New Haven, Professor of Scientific Agriculture in Yale College, &c., &c.

This highly valuable work will comprise two large royal octavo volumes, containing over 1400 pages, with 18 or 20 splendid steel engravings, and more than 600 engravings on wood, in the highest style of the art, illustrating almost every implement of husbandry now in use by the best farmers, the best methods of ploughing, planting, haying, harvesting, etc., etc., the various domestic animals in their highest perfection; in short, the pictorial feature of the book is unique, and will render it of incalculable value to the student of agriculture.

The work is being published in semi-monthly Numbers of 64 pages each, exclusive of the Steel engravings, and is sold at 25 cents each, or $5 for the entire work in numbers, of which there will be at least twenty-two.

The British Periodicals Re-published, are as follows, viz:

The London Quarterly Review (Conservative),
The Edinburgh Review (Whig),
The North British Review (Free Church),
The Westminsters Review (Liberal),
Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory).

Although these works are distinguished by the political shades above indicated, yet but a small portion of their contents is devoted to political subjects. It is their literary character which gives them their chief value, and in that they stand confessedly far above all other journals of their class. Blackwood, still under the masterly guidance of Christopher North, maintain, its ancient celebrity, and is at this time unusually attractive, from the serial works of Bulwer and other literary notables, written for that Magazine, and first appearing in its columns both in Great Britain and in the United States. Such works as "The Caxtons" and "My New Novel" (both by Bulwer), "My Peninsular Medal," "The Green Hand," and other serials, of which numerous rival editions are issued by the leading publishers in this country, have to be reprinted by those publishers from the pages of Blackwood, after it has been issued by Messrs. Scott & Co., so that Subscribers to the reprint of that Magazine may always rely on having the earliest reading of these fascinating tales.

Terms.

New Weekly Magazine.

THE NORTH AMERICAN MISCELLANY is issued weekly in elegant style, 48 large octavo pages, or 496 pages a year, with engravings in each alternate number.

TERMS—Three Dollars a year, or 6¼ cents a No.

CONTENTS—Choice miscellaneous selections from the current literature of this country and of Europe—comprising historical and other tales and romances, of high literary character; biographies, essays, anecdotes, reviews, poetry, criticisms, etc.

By issuing weekly, we shall present our readers with the most interesting selections from foreign literature, earlier than we could do in a monthly form.

The North American Miscellany will equal in tasteful appearance, any magazine published, and the four numbers a month, costing but 25 cents for the four, will contain a considerable larger quantity of reading matter than any monthly in America. The best articles will be selected from all the publications, which sustain the highest character for literature, humor and wit among the periodicals of Europe.

Our object in issuing weekly is, that our readers may receive the choicest selections from current literature at short intervals, in a form elegant and better adapted to preservation than that of a newspaper. A. PALMER & CO., Publishers.

22 Broomfield street, Boston; 111 Chestnut st. Philadelphia; and 8 Barclay street, New York.

☞ This work is also published in monthly parts each containing four weekly numbers, done up in a splendid Tinted cover.

June 27, 1851.

Appleton's Mechanic's Magazine, & Engineer's Journal.

THE design of the Publishers in issuing this work, is to spread before the friends of science, and the Mechanics, Engineers and artisan's of the United States, all the treasures of mechanical science that can be found in this, or any foreign country. The services of eminent scientific and practical men have been engaged as contributors to it, and efforts will not be spared to enlist all who are interested in the extension of scientific principles.

The works of the most distinguished writers in this department of knowledge, which have hitherto been as sealed to our engineers and mechanics, will be placed at the service of the Editor; and especially all the Scientific Journals of any value, which are published in Europe. Many of these works and ournals are rich in matters of the highest interest to all who are engaged in the various branches of mechanics. At the same time these are often voluminous and expensive, and contain much that is merely of passing interest, and thus are, very generally, placed beyond the reach of the great mass of those who should be familiar with their contents. The results of foreign workshops, likewise, are too little known, and less appreciated by us, whilst it is often in these places that most important facts are developed. It is our object to remedy these evils, and to place this valuable information within the reach of every one who has a desire to obtain it.

The editorial responsibility of the Magazine is confided to Julius W. Adams Esq., C. E., a gentleman of extensive scientific attainments and practical discrimination, and who has been professionally engaged for the last twenty years in the mechanical, and in their kindred, pursuits.

Terms.

Three Dollars a Year, or Twenty-Five Cents a Number. The Magazine can be obtained of Booksellers and Periodical Agents, and of the Publishers; and liberal arrangements will be made with the Trade and with Agents for circulating the work, and specimen numbers will be supplied to canvassers without charge.

Great Bend, Sept. 25, 1850. 22tf.

A Chemical Compound similar to the Natural Oil of the Hair.

The Spanish Hair Gloss.

A CLEAN, WHITE, AND BEAUTIFUL PREPARATION for promoting the growth, luxuriance and beauty of the Hair—removing dandruff, scales and scurf, and curing the cutaneous diseases of the scalp—unequalled for keeping the hair moist; imparting to it a rich, silky softness and highly beautiful lustre. Its soothing and agreeable properties will be found remarkable, applied either to the head or irritations of the skin. It is unlike any of the alcoholic and oil preparations so commonly used for the hair. Its superiority over all Hair preparations consists in its properties being moistening and cooling, instead of drying and heating as the alcoholic preparations are; and being free of the greasy qualities of marrow, oils, &c. Its power to remove the glutinous coating which obstructs the pores of the skin when unhealthy, and which prevent the follicles from exuding an oily substance necessary to the natural moisture, beauty and growth of the hair, is unequalled.

One free application of the Hair Gloss will impart a more lasting beauty and moisture to the hair than a whole bottle of the alcoholic preparations usually sold; besides, it will not soil the finest linen. Persons whose hair is slightly gray, will find this article to make their hair darker, and render the gray hairs scarcely perceptible. Mothers will find this preparation the best they can use to dress children's hair, keeping it in place, giving it a most beautiful lustre, and causing it to grow luxuriantly. If any preparation of art can cause the hair to grow, the Spanish Hair Gloss will do it.

Very liberal discounts made to Druggists and those who buy by wholesale. Address C. P. Fay, Owego, N. Y. Price 25 cents per bottle.
