

Heart's Soliloquy.

Softly, softly, glides my boat,
O'er this mountain shadowed lake...

ITEMS.

GRANT BRADLEY A RAILROAD PRESIDENT.
Rev. Thomas Whittemore, of Cambridge, the President of the Vermont and Massachusetts Railroad...

Unity-Strand Congress.

MONDAY, Dec. 4. The Senate was called to order at 12 o'clock. An appropriate prayer was delivered by the Rev. Mr. Butler...

the Democracy.

the Democracy. the caucus they had held a night or two ago...

Washington, Nov. 30th.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30th. The Democratic caucus assembled at half past 7 last evening...

Case of Mr. Thrasher.

Boston, Nov. 28th. A letter from Mr. J. S. Thrasher, dated Punta Fortes, Havana, Nov. 12th...

From California.

The steamship Cherokee, Captain Windle, arrived at her dock on Saturday evening at 7 o'clock...

Philadelphia, Nov. 28.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 28. In the Circuit Court, this morning, Mr. Cowden, the 12th juror, was sworn...

The Susquehanna Register. JOHN C. MILLER, EDITOR.

MONROE, PENNA.

Thursday Morning, Dec. 4, 1851.

Absence of the Editor will excuse the lack of editorial in this number of the Register.

Meeting of Congress.

Congress met at noon on Monday last. By reference to the proceedings in another column, it will be seen that the House organized by electing the Hon. LYNN BOYD, of Kentucky, Speaker, and J. W. FORNEY, of Phila., Clerk...

Col. Forney is a young, active, ardent politician—decidedly a Banker; and devoted heart, hand and soul to the election of Mr. Buchanan to the Presidency. He is the bosom friend of the boys in general and of Ned Forrest in particular...

GOODY'S LADY'S BOOK.—The December No. of this superb monthly is promptly on our table. We can but reiterate what everybody says, that the Book classifies as high as an elegant and high-toned periodical. Published by L. A. Goody, Phila.—$3 per annum. For $3 50 in advance, we will send the Register and the Lady's Book for one year.

GRASSMAN'S and BARTMAN'S are also tip-top Magazines, running neck-and-neck with Goody in the race for popularity. Published by J. C. Taylor, 142 Nassau st., New York, at $1 per annum.

KATE. A name that is pronounced as often as this one is like to be, should be pronounced correctly. The 's' in the Magyar language is equivalent to our 'sh', and the 'h', to our 't'. The correct pronunciation, therefore, is as if it were spelled Kosh-yot, with the emphasis on the first syllable.

A number of Philadelphia ladies design presenting to the Hungarian hero, Louis Kossuth, upon his arrival there a splendid silver goblet. It stands twelve inches high, is of massive material, and besides several appropriate devices, bears the following inscription: "Him whose great heart for freedom glows like thine—Ten thousand glad and grateful hearts enshrine."

SENATOR FOOTE, in his passage northward lately stopped at Montgomery, Ala., at the request of a number of Union men of both parties, and delivered a speech in the State capitol, in which he contended that the convention, which issued the Southern Address had in view the preservation of the Union, and that the Nashville Convention was called for the same purpose.

After the House had been called to order, and 113 members answered to their names—Mr. Jones, of Ten., moved to proceed to the election of Speaker vice voce, and would merely remark that, for one, he should vote for Linn Boyd...

After the House had been called to order, and 113 members answered to their names—Mr. Jones, of Ten., moved to proceed to the election of Speaker vice voce, and would merely remark that, for one, he should vote for Linn Boyd...

Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, nominated Thaddeus Stevens for Speaker, a gentleman as pure a friend to the Union as any other citizen did ever see. As to the merits of the compromise measure, he hoped the gentlemen opposed to agitation would not open it early in the session...

Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, desired to say that the presentation of the name by him of Thaddeus Stevens, had no cognate with the Whig caucus—the Campbell took no part in it. Mr. Meade said that the compromise resolution in the Democratic caucus was laid on the table because the subject would properly come before the Baltimore Convention...

Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, desired to say that the presentation of the name by him of Thaddeus Stevens, had no cognate with the Whig caucus—the Campbell took no part in it. Mr. Meade said that the compromise resolution in the Democratic caucus was laid on the table because the subject would properly come before the Baltimore Convention...

Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, desired to say that the presentation of the name by him of Thaddeus Stevens, had no cognate with the Whig caucus—the Campbell took no part in it. Mr. Meade said that the compromise resolution in the Democratic caucus was laid on the table because the subject would properly come before the Baltimore Convention...

Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, desired to say that the presentation of the name by him of Thaddeus Stevens, had no cognate with the Whig caucus—the Campbell took no part in it. Mr. Meade said that the compromise resolution in the Democratic caucus was laid on the table because the subject would properly come before the Baltimore Convention...

Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, desired to say that the presentation of the name by him of Thaddeus Stevens, had no cognate with the Whig caucus—the Campbell took no part in it. Mr. Meade said that the compromise resolution in the Democratic caucus was laid on the table because the subject would properly come before the Baltimore Convention...

Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, desired to say that the presentation of the name by him of Thaddeus Stevens, had no cognate with the Whig caucus—the Campbell took no part in it. Mr. Meade said that the compromise resolution in the Democratic caucus was laid on the table because the subject would properly come before the Baltimore Convention...

Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, desired to say that the presentation of the name by him of Thaddeus Stevens, had no cognate with the Whig caucus—the Campbell took no part in it. Mr. Meade said that the compromise resolution in the Democratic caucus was laid on the table because the subject would properly come before the Baltimore Convention...

Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, desired to say that the presentation of the name by him of Thaddeus Stevens, had no cognate with the Whig caucus—the Campbell took no part in it. Mr. Meade said that the compromise resolution in the Democratic caucus was laid on the table because the subject would properly come before the Baltimore Convention...

Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, desired to say that the presentation of the name by him of Thaddeus Stevens, had no cognate with the Whig caucus—the Campbell took no part in it. Mr. Meade said that the compromise resolution in the Democratic caucus was laid on the table because the subject would properly come before the Baltimore Convention...

Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, desired to say that the presentation of the name by him of Thaddeus Stevens, had no cognate with the Whig caucus—the Campbell took no part in it. Mr. Meade said that the compromise resolution in the Democratic caucus was laid on the table because the subject would properly come before the Baltimore Convention...

Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, desired to say that the presentation of the name by him of Thaddeus Stevens, had no cognate with the Whig caucus—the Campbell took no part in it. Mr. Meade said that the compromise resolution in the Democratic caucus was laid on the table because the subject would properly come before the Baltimore Convention...

Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, desired to say that the presentation of the name by him of Thaddeus Stevens, had no cognate with the Whig caucus—the Campbell took no part in it. Mr. Meade said that the compromise resolution in the Democratic caucus was laid on the table because the subject would properly come before the Baltimore Convention...

Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, desired to say that the presentation of the name by him of Thaddeus Stevens, had no cognate with the Whig caucus—the Campbell took no part in it. Mr. Meade said that the compromise resolution in the Democratic caucus was laid on the table because the subject would properly come before the Baltimore Convention...

Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, desired to say that the presentation of the name by him of Thaddeus Stevens, had no cognate with the Whig caucus—the Campbell took no part in it. Mr. Meade said that the compromise resolution in the Democratic caucus was laid on the table because the subject would properly come before the Baltimore Convention...

Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, desired to say that the presentation of the name by him of Thaddeus Stevens, had no cognate with the Whig caucus—the Campbell took no part in it. Mr. Meade said that the compromise resolution in the Democratic caucus was laid on the table because the subject would properly come before the Baltimore Convention...

Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, desired to say that the presentation of the name by him of Thaddeus Stevens, had no cognate with the Whig caucus—the Campbell took no part in it. Mr. Meade said that the compromise resolution in the Democratic caucus was laid on the table because the subject would properly come before the Baltimore Convention...

Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, desired to say that the presentation of the name by him of Thaddeus Stevens, had no cognate with the Whig caucus—the Campbell took no part in it. Mr. Meade said that the compromise resolution in the Democratic caucus was laid on the table because the subject would properly come before the Baltimore Convention...

Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, desired to say that the presentation of the name by him of Thaddeus Stevens, had no cognate with the Whig caucus—the Campbell took no part in it. Mr. Meade said that the compromise resolution in the Democratic caucus was laid on the table because the subject would properly come before the Baltimore Convention...

Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, desired to say that the presentation of the name by him of Thaddeus Stevens, had no cognate with the Whig caucus—the Campbell took no part in it. Mr. Meade said that the compromise resolution in the Democratic caucus was laid on the table because the subject would properly come before the Baltimore Convention...

Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, desired to say that the presentation of the name by him of Thaddeus Stevens, had no cognate with the Whig caucus—the Campbell took no part in it. Mr. Meade said that the compromise resolution in the Democratic caucus was laid on the table because the subject would properly come before the Baltimore Convention...

Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, desired to say that the presentation of the name by him of Thaddeus Stevens, had no cognate with the Whig caucus—the Campbell took no part in it. Mr. Meade said that the compromise resolution in the Democratic caucus was laid on the table because the subject would properly come before the Baltimore Convention...

Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, desired to say that the presentation of the name by him of Thaddeus Stevens, had no cognate with the Whig caucus—the Campbell took no part in it. Mr. Meade said that the compromise resolution in the Democratic caucus was laid on the table because the subject would properly come before the Baltimore Convention...

Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, desired to say that the presentation of the name by him of Thaddeus Stevens, had no cognate with the Whig caucus—the Campbell took no part in it. Mr. Meade said that the compromise resolution in the Democratic caucus was laid on the table because the subject would properly come before the Baltimore Convention...

Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, desired to say that the presentation of the name by him of Thaddeus Stevens, had no cognate with the Whig caucus—the Campbell took no part in it. Mr. Meade said that the compromise resolution in the Democratic caucus was laid on the table because the subject would properly come before the Baltimore Convention...

Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, desired to say that the presentation of the name by him of Thaddeus Stevens, had no cognate with the Whig caucus—the Campbell took no part in it. Mr. Meade said that the compromise resolution in the Democratic caucus was laid on the table because the subject would properly come before the Baltimore Convention...

Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, desired to say that the presentation of the name by him of Thaddeus Stevens, had no cognate with the Whig caucus—the Campbell took no part in it. Mr. Meade said that the compromise resolution in the Democratic caucus was laid on the table because the subject would properly come before the Baltimore Convention...

Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, desired to say that the presentation of the name by him of Thaddeus Stevens, had no cognate with the Whig caucus—the Campbell took no part in it. Mr. Meade said that the compromise resolution in the Democratic caucus was laid on the table because the subject would properly come before the Baltimore Convention...

Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, desired to say that the presentation of the name by him of Thaddeus Stevens, had no cognate with the Whig caucus—the Campbell took no part in it. Mr. Meade said that the compromise resolution in the Democratic caucus was laid on the table because the subject would properly come before the Baltimore Convention...

Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, desired to say that the presentation of the name by him of Thaddeus Stevens, had no cognate with the Whig caucus—the Campbell took no part in it. Mr. Meade said that the compromise resolution in the Democratic caucus was laid on the table because the subject would properly come before the Baltimore Convention...