Human Sacrifices in India.

The cruelty of heathenism is strikingly shown in the facts which Dr. Schudder relates of the Khoonds, a tribe in Orissa, a district of Hindostan. They are cultivators of the soil, and believe that in order to secure an abundance of provisions they must sacrifice a man, woman or child, and bury a part of the flesh and blood in their fields. The victims are stolen and kept in ignorance of the doom that awaits them, but if they attempt to escape they are confined in irons. When the day appointed for the sacrifice arrives, the victim, intoxicated with ardent spirits, is brought out, followed by all the men, women and children of the district, with wild music and wilder shouting. Some ceremonies are performed, when the victim is struck down with a knife. Then they all rush upon him and tear the body to pieces, all seeking to get a part of it to bury in their fields.

The number of persons murdered in this way must have been very large.—For a few years the government has tried to do away with the practice, and more than nineteen hundred individuals intended for sacrifice have been rescued. Yet there are immense districts where the custom prevails, that have not even been visited. The mission in Orissa have a large school made up of small children saved from this horrible fate. As they were stolen from their parents when very young, they are not able to tell where their homes are, and the mission gives them a home. How truly is written, 'The dark places of the earth are full of the habitations of cruelty!'

☞ The "Times" maintains that Cuba should be bought. Yes, but Spain won't sell Cuba. What then? The purchase of Louisiana is cited as one example of what ought to be done. Yes, again but France was willing to sell Louisiana, and Spain will not part with Cuba except upon compulsion.

PHILLIPS' FIRE ANNIHILATOR has loomed up again. The British Royal Mail Packet Company put two of them on board one of their steamers, ready for use. During their passage, it is stated, one of them took fire by spontaneous combustion, belched forth a hot flame, and came near burning up the ship.

TO DELINQUENTS.

I have waited now a year and a half since I closed my labors in the Register printing establishment, for many of those in arrears from 50 cents to five or ten dollars, to settle up, so that I can pay my debts. According to the terms I am entitled to 87 50 per year for all subscriptions so long due; and having given several very polite hints that I wanted my pay heretofore, without much effect, I must now respectfully inform those who do not pay me by or during the ensuing Court weeks, that for the benefit of those I owe, a more prompt collector, but not half so polite as I am, will have to call on them—greeting.

Friends and Patrons.

YOU who have so kindly cared for my interests during the past year, as well as in previous years—please accept the hearty greetings and good wishes of the Artist at the commencement of his, the

"GLAD NEW YEAR."

Happy, happy may you be
In Eighteen hundred fifty three.

May the sunlight of prosperity shine o'er your future, and the likeness of every virtue be daguerreotyped on the tablet of your hearts. May the lights and shades of your existence be blended in delightful harmony, and peace and plenty dwell throughout your borders. May your lives be polished with noble acts, and gilded with high attainments! Thus, will your position in society be elevated, and your case become an envied one. Thus, when your course is finished, will you leave behind you an impression for good, bold, and unfading.

This year, like those of the past, will be one of business and pleasure; and I trust that amid the tumults and anxieties of the one, and the attractive influences of the other, the claims of my beautiful Art will be remembered.

I am grateful for the many expressions and tokens of approbation, which I have received from those for whom it has been my pleasure to labor.

My Rooms are still at "Odd Fellows' Hall," where I hope during the coming year to see, not only my old friends, but a great many new ones, and

If I don't serve you with taste and skill,
It will not be for want of the will.

I profess to "beat" no one—but, ever striving to please my customers with good pictures, I have the confidence to believe that they others will not beat together or pain.

Truly yours, in the Daguerreotype Art,

Dec. 24, 1852.

Philosophy of saving the Teeth.

IT is simply this: We first carefully and thoroughly remove all the decayed matter from the cavity, then after shaping it properly and wiping it dry, we press into it gold or silver foil which are very soft and malleable, and continue to compress them until we have rendered them as hard as the solid metal. We thus completely exclude both air and moisture, the universal agents of decay, and the consequence is that the tooth decays no more in that part, and rarely does it ever commence in any other part, but should it, the cure must be repeated, and I have seldom seen an instance where it had to be repeated a third time, or even a second. If your teeth are decaying your only hope is in the Dentist. They may be affected and you not know it. A tooth usually decays a long time before it aches and persons are very apt to suppose them "all right" so long as they keep quiet. The fact that they have not "troubled you" is the very reason why you should have them attended to before they do. One fact more: when a tooth has become painful, you are "behind time" in going to get it filled, "the cars are off," you must groan and lose it.

Thus, courteous reader, I have given you both fact and Philosophy, if not with the profoundness of a Newton, yet truthfully, you may depend, with the hope of inducing you to call on me at "Odd Fellows' Hall," and submit your teeth to examination and repair, if needed. By so doing you may promote both your own interest and mine.

Yours emphatically and Professionally.
