

GEN. SCOTT.—The following tribute to the character of Gen. Scott, is the more interesting as being a voluntary offering to merit by a great and good man, at a time and on an occasion originating in a higher motive than under the disturbing influences of party spirit.

Which, also, due to the beneficent influence of Gen. Scott, to his distinguished military and political career, and to his noble and generous spirit, during the spirit of a philanthropist. His exploits in the field, which placed him in the first rank of soldiers, have been obscured by the party and political influence of a pacifist and a friend of man. In the whole history of the intercourse of civilized communities, we doubt whether a brighter page can be found than that which records his agency in the removal of the Cherokee Indians.

The project of killing Louis Napoleon at the grand ball of the military school was not mere gossip and invention. It is now certain that the Minister of Police had received private reports that a woman from the southern parts of France, whose husband had been banished to Cayenne, had been chosen by the Socialist party to commit the murder.

Lady Franklin has addressed a long letter to the President of the United States, thanking him for the interest he has taken in the search for her husband, and stating her grounds of hope that the unfortunate Arctic navigators are not lost.

Our neighbor of the Democrat thinks that the piece of poetry we published the other day from a young lady named Præntice, was not just published. Our friend of the Journal is a hard one to lead. A young lady sent him a most complimentary piece of poetry the other day, calling him her father, and threatening to kiss his brow, and like Harney, of the Democrat, poor fellow, felt jealous, and showed it. Præntice extinguished him as follows:
