

Death of Wm. Seagriff.

We publish in another column the announcement of the death of Wm. Seagriff, Esq., the Democratic candidate for Canal Commissioner.

Mr. Seagriff was a man of high standing in the community, and his death is a great loss to the Democratic party.

It would almost seem as if it was a favor of Providence, was the language used on Saturday by a leading member of the party to which the Pennsylvania State...

Mr. Seagriff's death is a great loss to the Democratic party, and his death is a great loss to the Democratic party.

The Fishery Question.—The New York Courier tells the following anecdote: "What is that?" asked Henry Clay of John Quincy Adams at the table of the latter.

The following illustration of the coolest of the true Yankee under all circumstances is given in the Knickerbocker Magazine for August:—

As one division of General Scott's column was passing leisurely along in some portion of Mexico, during the late war, there came down, just at twilight, from a convent that crowned a neighboring height, a profusion of candles, the leader upholding in his hands a contribution-box, on which stood a lighted lamp.

"WHAT ARE THE WHIGS FIGHTING FOR?" "The Whigs are fighting for the man who has been fighting for his country for more than forty years; for river improvements; for harbor improvements; for railroad improvements; for American industry; for the development of the resources of the country; for the elevation of the people, socially, intellectually, and religiously; for the perpetuation of the Union and liberties of our happy land; for all the vast and varied interests of this country, which we desire shall be placed on a stable and prosperous foundation; for true men and true patriots; in fine, for SCOTT, GRAHAM, OUR COUNTRY and VICTORY! That's what we are fighting for. Are not the prizes valuable beyond comparison, and worth any struggle to secure them!"
