A "Bolter" approached an influential Irishman in whom he had great confidence, for the purpose of ascertaining something definite in regard to the bargain said to have been made by Chase with the Irish Clergy, and commenced by saying that he had heard that Mr. Chase had promised one of their clergy that if he would procure the Irish vote for him, he would, if elected, procure for the Clergy the passage of a Bill granting— "Hush! hush!" says he, "they will never trust any business with him. Do you mind how he served the sonnies! Wouldn't it serve us that same way, sure? Ah, we put no business in his hands. Mind that now."

Cold Blooded Murder!

A horrible murder was committed at Wilkesbarre on Saturday last, the particulars of which are as follows: A Welshman named Reese Evans, purchased from Lewis Reese, a clothier residing in Wilkesbarre, a quantity of clothing. On Saturday Reese requested payment, when Evans told him if he would go with him across the river he would pay him. Reese accordingly accompanied him. Having crossed the bridge they turned into Butler's woods, when Evans drew a pistol and shot Reese in the back of the neck, which not killing him, he was beaten to death, as appeared from the manner in which the body of the deceased was found. Reese had about one hundred dollars about his person, which Evans robbed him of, and then made his escape to Carbonate. Evans was arrested during the afternoon by the Carbonate police, who will hand him over to the authorities of Wilkesbarre. When taken into custody, the watch of the murdered man was found in his pocket. Evans afterwards escaped from custody, but was retaken at Hornellville, on the Erie Railroad, on Monday evening. A reward of $500 had been offered for his arrest.

honesty, capacity and personal merit may be considered in making out his budget of necessities. And a gentleman who, we are assured, has been a long time in the great city of New York, and who has a heart ready for every fair and honest plea, is not likely to be less so in his own country. We have no doubt that the regular nominations for Governor and Auditor happened to be conferred upon those who were best qualified to be so, so they are the candidates for Commissioner and Auditor are likewise objectionable; though sound policy and fair dealing would dictate as a general thing that at least one person on these County Boards should be of the opposite party. An early acquaintance with Amos Williams, Esq. of Springville, (who is named for Commissioner, and some acquaintance with Norman Foot, of New Milford, (the nominee for Auditor,) however, constrains me to speak well of the personal merits of both.

Not a Consideration of Paramount Importance!

It is not a consideration of paramount importance at this time that men whose integrity and dignity of character will commend them to the most respectful influence at Harrisburg should be selected to represent us in the Legislature. I shall say nothing of the character and qualifications of the regular nominees of this county, and John W. Denison, but leave it for those of either our party who are free to express their dissent at the nominations to be their own responsibility. I will only say a word of the independent candidates.

NATHAN J. SHERWOOD is probably better known to a large portion of the people throughout this county than to me. Though formerly known as a polite, clever and obliging landlord at Mount Pleasant and elsewhere, he is now an extensive Farmer in Rush. Though personally unacquainted with him myself, I am assured by candid and impartial men of both parties that he is a gentleman of prompt judgment, good business acquisitions, and of such urbanity of manners as will be sure to command respect among the Representatives at Harrisburg.

FRANKLIN C. ROSS, Esq. of Tunkhannock is announced as a volunteer candidate for Wyoming, in place of Dr. Wells, who since his announcement as a candidate went before last, it seems as though he could not be regarded as a fair and equal candidate. He is a man of high standing in this county, as I have known him from early childhood, and an confident his claims to favor will meet a hearty response wherever he is known. He is a native of Susquehanna County, being a son of the late Ferris Ross, Esq., formerly of Dimock township, and for some years previous to his death, one of the Associate Judges of Wyoming. The peculiar circumstances and character of young Mr. Ross—the highly laudable ambition and enterprise with which he has contended against the disadvantages of physical infirmity and providential misfortune from his youth up, must and should I think entitle him to the favor of the public. Crippled by lameness, in his feet from his infancy so as to unfit him for most kinds of active labor, he has by studious perseverance acquired a good business education, studied the legal profession and become a creditable member of the Bar in Wyoming, while by his industry and faithful discharge of various public trusts, (for I believe he has been honored by the people of Wyoming with the posts of Commissioners' Clerk and County Treasurer,) he has been enabled since his father's death to become the stay and support of a widowed mother and orphan sisters. Citizens of Susquehanna County, if you are desirous of supporting a man of ability, and one who will not suitably reward such praiseworthy efforts as these—especially in a native born son of this county who has still numerous friends scattered among you, to appreciate the merits of a man so truly deserving of the patriotic spirit and magnanimous character of the young freemen of Susquehanna, they will respond to such an appeal at the polls on Tuesday next in such a manner as will gladden many a sympathetic heart, and cause a widow's bosom to swell with grateful pride and exultation!

Whigs to the Polls!

Whigs of old Susquehanna! In this our last issue previous to the State election, permit us to call upon you, one and all, to be at your posts. Let every true Whig dedicate Tuesday next to his country. The election of Canal Commissioner and Judge of the Supreme Court, for both of which offices sterling and unimpeachable Whigs are in the field, will on that day take place. Let a Whig victory then be an earnest of what Pennsylvania will do in November for Winfield Scott. It is important to the interests of the lamented Country, the only Whig elected, last fall to the Supreme Bench, filled by a pure and upright Judge such as Joseph Buffington. It is important to have an honest Whig, such as Jacob Hoffman, on the Board of Canal Commissioners, to put an end to the wholesale public robbery which has excited the just indignation of honest men and taxpayers of all parties. It is important that Pennsylvania should early give her voice in favor of that system of protection to American industry, on the success of which in a great measure depends her future wealth and prosperity. As you value a Whig triumph in November, and are willing by all honorable means to aid in its accomplishment! Rally, Whigs! to the polls!

COMMUNICATIONS.

As the inquiry has frequently been made by some of our Whig friends from remote parts of the county whether they were not to be some nominations made by County Meetings, and otherwise for the approaching election, and as the day of election is now close at hand, permit an old friend of the cause to say a word to them through the medium of this, the last week's issue of the Register previous to that event. I feel quite inclined to do so at this time, as I have during years past been accustomed to confer familiarly with them through this medium, in such a manner I trust as to entitle me to their confidence and good will, though I have always declined the least degree of dictating, or attempting the exercise of any undue influence over them. Let us therefore once more confer in a plain, friendly way.

The Candidates for Representatives.

Situated as we now are, can any Whig hesitate to support Sherwood and Ross, the Independent candidates for Representatives? If our Representatives must be selected from the ranks of our opponents, let us, where there is a chance to choose, endeavor to elect men who will not be a reproach and a disgrace to the District. Sherwood and Ross we believe to be, both as regards their integrity and their qualifications, eminently worthy of the confidence of the people. We are not of those who can see nothing but evil in a man because he belongs to another party. We would give every one his due. Therefore we say nothing against Mr. Williams or Mr. Foote, because of them we know too evil. Can as much be said for the "regular" nominees for Representatives? Of Mr. Chase it is unnecessary for us to say much. His own party have discovered what sort of a man he is. Even if his character had been before irreproachable, his course since his nomination has been such as to destroy all confidence in his political integrity. The man who endeavors to conciliate and secure the votes of two opposing factions, by professing to agree in opinion with both, will naturally lose the confidence of both whenever his duplicity is discovered. We believe Mr. Chase will lose hundreds of votes in Susquehanna county by his recent misadventures with regard to the Temperance question. Dr. Denison it is said, will stand out of chance wherever his habits are known, as they are by many here, and pretty generally in Wyoming. We are assured that Ross can beat him easily at home; for every respectable man of his own party is ashamed of the nomination. In short we believe that a union of the Whigs and those Democrats who will not be ruled by a clique, can elect Ross and Sherwood, and it ought to be done. Beware of spurious Tickets and false reports, and be sure to vote the Whig State Ticket, and for Sherwood and Ross. Desperate political gamblers, such as we have to contend with, will stick at nothing that can help their sinking cause.

LOOKER ON

Mr. Frazier, in conversing with Mr. S. A. Newton concerning the meanness and duplicity with which Chase has treated him and his family, the following was elicited. The language of Mr. Newton, who is pursuing his studies in New York, is as follows: "I know I am ambitious. I do not like the Bank question, but I cannot bear the thought of living and dying and not leaving a name behind me, and I don't know but that if Nero is as good as any. That his bank editorial was designed to win political favors in after time, he afterwards admitted to me to be true."

LOOKER ON

Mr. Frazier, in conversing with Mr. S. A. Newton concerning the meanness and duplicity with which Chase has treated him and his family, the following was elicited. The language of Mr. Newton, who is pursuing his studies in New York, is as follows: "I know I am ambitious. I do not like the Bank question, but I cannot bear the thought of living and dying and not leaving a name behind me, and I don't know but that if Nero is as good as any. That his bank editorial was designed to win political favors in after time, he afterwards admitted to me to be true."
