THE unsettled accounts, notes &c., of the late firm of S. H. Sayre & Co. are now in the hands of Benj. Sayre for settlement. Necessity compels him to ask immediate attention to them, as well as those of his own. If not very soon settled they will be put into the hands of some one for legal prosecution.

Philosophy of saving the Teeth.

IT is simply this: We first carefully and thoroughly remove all the decayed matter from the cavity, then after shaping it properly and wiping it dry, we press into it gold or silver foil which are very soft and malleable, and continue to compress them until we have rendered them as hard as the solid metal. We thus completely exclude both air and moisture, the universal agents of decay, and the consequence is that the tooth decays no more in that part, and rarely does it ever commence in any other part, but should it, the cure must be repeated, and I have seldom seen an instance where it had to be repeated a third time, or even a second. If your teeth are decaying your only hope is in the Dentist. They may be affected, and you not know it. A tooth usually decays a long time before it aches and persons are very apt to suppose them "all right" so long as they keep quiet. The fact that they have not "troubled you" is the very reason why you should have them attended to before they do. One fact more: when a tooth has become painful, you are "behind time" in going to get it filled, "the cars are off," you must groan and lose it.

Thus, courteous reader, I have given you both fact and Philosophy, if not with the profoundness of a Newton, yet truthfully, you may depend, with the hope of inducing you to call on me at "Odd Fellows' Hall," and submit your teeth to examination and repair, if needed. By so doing you may promote both your own interest and mine.

Yours emphatically and Professionally,

C. D. VIRGIL, Dental Surgeon.
