

The School Question in Maryland.

GRAND PROTESTANT DEMONSTRATIONS IN BALTIMORE.

The contest which has been going on recently in Ohio, between Protestants and Roman Catholics, relative to the management of the Public School money, has been transferred to Maryland.

At the Roman Catholic population in denser in Maryland than in any of the Northern States, the struggle as well as supposed to be rather more formidable than it has been in Ohio.

The diffusion of education was a matter that had become dear to the American mind. In the old world liberty had been smothered between the bayonet and the bosom of the priest.

Where, Mr. President, I ask, does the opposition to the Bible in our Public schools come from? Not from the Protestants. I have yet to hear the first intimation of dissatisfaction from the quarter.

Rev. Dr. Fuller, of the Baptist denomination, said: "The teaching was a conspiracy against the light."

On occasions like the present, when great interests are at stake, it is easy to speak. The fitting words are not few.

The discussion was continued by the Rev. B. H. Nadal, of the Methodist Church, who said in substance:

On last Friday night I read the bill which we have met to oppose, and it so stirred and heated my American and Protestant blood, that I hardly slept till morning.

Do they care so much about education? Do the mole and bat and owl care for the light? They love education for the same reason that some housewives love cats.

Do they care so much about education? Do the mole and bat and owl care for the light? They love education for the same reason that some housewives love cats.

Country, more or less, these ten years.

like a patriot—going to town meetings, hurraing my daylight out, and getting as blue as blazes—blocking the windows, getting licked fifty times, and having more black eyes and bloody noses than you could shake a stick at.

Country, more or less, these ten years. like a patriot—going to town meetings, hurraing my daylight out, and getting as blue as blazes.

Country, more or less, these ten years. like a patriot—going to town meetings, hurraing my daylight out, and getting as blue as blazes.

Country, more or less, these ten years. like a patriot—going to town meetings, hurraing my daylight out, and getting as blue as blazes.

Country, more or less, these ten years. like a patriot—going to town meetings, hurraing my daylight out, and getting as blue as blazes.

Country, more or less, these ten years. like a patriot—going to town meetings, hurraing my daylight out, and getting as blue as blazes.

Country, more or less, these ten years. like a patriot—going to town meetings, hurraing my daylight out, and getting as blue as blazes.

Country, more or less, these ten years. like a patriot—going to town meetings, hurraing my daylight out, and getting as blue as blazes.

Country, more or less, these ten years. like a patriot—going to town meetings, hurraing my daylight out, and getting as blue as blazes.

Country, more or less, these ten years. like a patriot—going to town meetings, hurraing my daylight out, and getting as blue as blazes.

Country, more or less, these ten years. like a patriot—going to town meetings, hurraing my daylight out, and getting as blue as blazes.

Country, more or less, these ten years. like a patriot—going to town meetings, hurraing my daylight out, and getting as blue as blazes.

Country, more or less, these ten years. like a patriot—going to town meetings, hurraing my daylight out, and getting as blue as blazes.

Country, more or less, these ten years. like a patriot—going to town meetings, hurraing my daylight out, and getting as blue as blazes.

The Susquehanna Register.

H. H. FRAZIER, EDITOR.

MONROE, PENNA.

Thursday Morning, April 28, 1853.

WHIG STATE TICKET.

FOR CANAL COMMISSIONER, Moses P. Powell, of Lancaster county.

FOR AUDITOR GENERAL, A. K. McClure, of Franklin county.

FOR SURVEYOR GENERAL, Christian Myers, of Clarion county.

Register Office Removed.

The Printing Office of the Susquehanna Register is removed to the REAR OF LYONS & CHANDLER'S STORE, fronting on Chestnut street.

Office Seeking, &c.

The scramble for the spoils is mostly over, and the "city of magnificent distances" is again in a great degree depopulated.

There is one class of these politicians who need our pity more than any others—those who, conceiving that they have a peculiar talent for serving the public, have been led to desert their workshops.

There is one class of these politicians who need our pity more than any others—those who, conceiving that they have a peculiar talent for serving the public, have been led to desert their workshops.

There is one class of these politicians who need our pity more than any others—those who, conceiving that they have a peculiar talent for serving the public, have been led to desert their workshops.

There is one class of these politicians who need our pity more than any others—those who, conceiving that they have a peculiar talent for serving the public, have been led to desert their workshops.

There is one class of these politicians who need our pity more than any others—those who, conceiving that they have a peculiar talent for serving the public, have been led to desert their workshops.

There is one class of these politicians who need our pity more than any others—those who, conceiving that they have a peculiar talent for serving the public, have been led to desert their workshops.

There is one class of these politicians who need our pity more than any others—those who, conceiving that they have a peculiar talent for serving the public, have been led to desert their workshops.

News and Notions.

—Emmanuel, the richest Jew in England, is dead.

—A vessel built of Zinc has been launched at Nantes.

—Lamarine is dying. His physicians have no hope of him.

—They have discovered pure gold in Mayo, at Castlebar, Ireland.

—Goldsmith, Jenny Lind's husband, has been giving successful concerts at Berlin.

—George Morrow has been arrested in Hickman county, Ky., on the charge of killing his own son.

—Tete, are you into them sweetmeats again? "No, marri, the sweetmeats is into me!"

—At Passaic, Meador, druggists are required to pay five hundred dollars license for every six months.

—A portrait of Shakespeare has been found, painted by a contemporary of the Bard of Avon.

—There are said to be one hundred thousand barrels of flour in the Detroit warehouses waiting a shipment to the East.

—A letter from Havana states that during a recent week, upwards of 13,000 slaves were landed on the coast.

—Hon. T. F. Marshall is announced a candidate to represent the county of Woodford, Ky., and is still alive and kicking.

—Dr. Benjamin Rush, speaking of the science of medicine, compares it to "an unroofed temple, cracked at the sides, and rotten at the foundation."

—Preparations for constructing the proposed floating battery for the United States Government, designed for harbor defence, are actively going forward at Hoboken.

—It is stated that John Q. Adams, in view of his congressional speeches, said that the four years which he occupied the Presidential chair were the most unhappy years of his life.

—An Arkansas soldier was recently shot at, but the ball struck a bundle of unpaid accounts in his pocket, and his life was saved.

—Victoria's oldest son manifests a military talent, and has been made Major-General, and a half million dollars added to his salary. He eats sweetmeats valiantly.

—The Intelligencer publishes a letter dated Santa Fe, February 23d, announcing the intention of Gov. Lane to take possession of his own authority of a portion of Mexican territory.

Loss of the Steamship Independence and 140 Lives Lost.

The steamship United States, Captain Berry, arrived at New Orleans to-day, in 54 days from Aspinwall. She brings but a few straggling passengers.

The steamship Independence was lost on the 13th of February, having run ashore on the shoals of Margarett Island, where she took fire and burned to the waters edge.

After striking, the Independence backed off, but finding eight feet of water in her hold, Capt. Sampson ordered the pilot to run her on the beach at a spot three hundred yards from land.

Those who succeeded in reaching the shore were unable to render any assistance to those struggling in the water, and were obliged to remain passive spectators of immense numbers of men, women and children perishing by fire and in the sea.

The ship finally swung round broadside to the beach, when her coal also took fire and she was totally destroyed.

Another Railroad Accident. The Camden and Amboy railroad, Saturday afternoon, came near being the scene of a most frightful calamity.

The Camden and Amboy railroad, Saturday afternoon, came near being the scene of a most frightful calamity.

The Camden and Amboy railroad, Saturday afternoon, came near being the scene of a most frightful calamity.

The Camden and Amboy railroad, Saturday afternoon, came near being the scene of a most frightful calamity.

The Camden and Amboy railroad, Saturday afternoon, came near being the scene of a most frightful calamity.

The Camden and Amboy railroad, Saturday afternoon, came near being the scene of a most frightful calamity.

The Camden and Amboy railroad, Saturday afternoon, came near being the scene of a most frightful calamity.

The Camden and Amboy railroad, Saturday afternoon, came near being the scene of a most frightful calamity.

The Camden and Amboy railroad, Saturday afternoon, came near being the scene of a most frightful calamity.

The Camden and Amboy railroad, Saturday afternoon, came near being the scene of a most frightful calamity.

The Camden and Amboy railroad, Saturday afternoon, came near being the scene of a most frightful calamity.

The Camden and Amboy railroad, Saturday afternoon, came near being the scene of a most frightful calamity.

The Camden and Amboy railroad, Saturday afternoon, came near being the scene of a most frightful calamity.

Wm. R. King.

Mr. King was a native of North Carolina, and represented that State in early life in the Congress of the United States, but resigned his seat in that body to accept the post of Secretary of Legation to Mr. Pinckney, at the time that distinguished Statesman was commissioned as ambassador to one of the European courts.

Mr. King spent several years abroad, and on his return home, settled in Alabama, where he was an active member of the convention which framed the constitution of that State, and soon thereafter was elected one of its Senators in Congress.

He continued a member of the U. S. Senate until 1844, when he was appointed Minister to France. On his return, in 1847, he was again elected to the Senate, and remained a member of that body until his election as Vice President.

It is said he dreaded to die in a foreign land, and that his heart's wish while in Cuba was that he might be permitted to return to die in his own country. It pleased a kind Providence to gratify his wish. He was enabled to return to his own home, and died within twenty-four hours after he reached it.

It is said he dreaded to die in a foreign land, and that his heart's wish while in Cuba was that he might be permitted to return to die in his own country.

It is said he dreaded to die in a foreign land, and that his heart's wish while in Cuba was that he might be permitted to return to die in his own country.

It is said he dreaded to die in a foreign land, and that his heart's wish while in Cuba was that he might be permitted to return to die in his own country.

It is said he dreaded to die in a foreign land, and that his heart's wish while in Cuba was that he might be permitted to return to die in his own country.

It is said he dreaded to die in a foreign land, and that his heart's wish while in Cuba was that he might be permitted to return to die in his own country.

It is said he dreaded to die in a foreign land, and that his heart's wish while in Cuba was that he might be permitted to return to die in his own country.

It is said he dreaded to die in a foreign land, and that his heart's wish while in Cuba was that he might be permitted to return to die in his own country.

It is said he dreaded to die in a foreign land, and that his heart's wish while in Cuba was that he might be permitted to return to die in his own country.

It is said he dreaded to die in a foreign land, and that his heart's wish while in Cuba was that he might be permitted to return to die in his own country.

It is said he dreaded to die in a foreign land, and that his heart's wish while in Cuba was that he might be permitted to return to die in his own country.

It is said he dreaded to die in a foreign land, and that his heart's wish while in Cuba was that he might be permitted to return to die in his own country.

It is said he dreaded to die in a foreign land, and that his heart's wish while in Cuba was that he might be permitted to return to die in his own country.

It is said he dreaded to die in a foreign land, and that his heart's wish while in Cuba was that he might be permitted to return to die in his own country.

It is said he dreaded to die in a foreign land, and that his heart's wish while in Cuba was that he might be permitted to return to die in his own country.

Female Compositors.

The New York Times, in an article on the subject, is glad that a new opening is found for the working girls in the printing office, and rejoices that the Day Book has made a practical beginning in the matter.

The New York Times, in an article on the subject, is glad that a new opening is found for the working girls in the printing office, and rejoices that the Day Book has made a practical beginning in the matter.

The New York Times, in an article on the subject, is glad that a new opening is found for the working girls in the printing office, and rejoices that the Day Book has made a practical beginning in the matter.

The New York Times, in an article on the subject, is glad that a new opening is found for the working girls in the printing office, and rejoices that the Day Book has made a practical beginning in the matter.

The New York Times, in an article on the subject, is glad that a new opening is found for the working girls in the printing office, and rejoices that the Day Book has made a practical beginning in the matter.

The New York Times, in an article on the subject, is glad that a new opening is found for the working girls in the printing office, and rejoices that the Day Book has made a practical beginning in the matter.

The New York Times, in an article on the subject, is glad that a new opening is found for the working girls in the printing office, and rejoices that the Day Book has made a practical beginning in the matter.

The New York Times, in an article on the subject, is glad that a new opening is found for the working girls in the printing office, and rejoices that the Day Book has made a practical beginning in the matter.

The New York Times, in an article on the subject, is glad that a new opening is found for the working girls in the printing office, and rejoices that the Day Book has made a practical beginning in the matter.

The New York Times, in an article on the subject, is glad that a new opening is found for the working girls in the printing office, and rejoices that the Day Book has made a practical beginning in the matter.

The New York Times, in an article on the subject, is glad that a new opening is found for the working girls in the printing office, and rejoices that the Day Book has made a practical beginning in the matter.

The New York Times, in an article on the subject, is glad that a new opening is found for the working girls in the printing office, and rejoices that the Day Book has made a practical beginning in the matter.

The New York Times, in an article on the subject, is glad that a new opening is found for the working girls in the printing office, and rejoices that the Day Book has made a practical beginning in the matter.

The New York Times, in an article on the subject, is glad that a new opening is found for the working girls in the printing office, and rejoices that the Day Book has made a practical beginning in the matter.

The New York Times, in an article on the subject, is glad that a new opening is found for the working girls in the printing office, and rejoices that the Day Book has made a practical beginning in the matter.

The New York Times, in an article on the subject, is glad that a new opening is found for the working girls in the printing office, and rejoices that the Day Book has made a practical beginning in the matter.

The New York Times, in an article on the subject, is glad that a new opening is found for the working girls in the printing office, and rejoices that the Day Book has made a practical beginning in the matter.

The New York Times, in an article on the subject, is glad that a new opening is found for the working girls in the printing office, and rejoices that the Day Book has made a practical beginning in the matter.