

The Susquehanna Register.

H. H. FRAZIER, EDITOR. MONTROSE, PENN'A.

Thursday Morning, Aug. 25, 1855.

TERMS. One Dollar and fifty cents per annum cash actually in advance.

WHIG STATE TICKET. FOR CANAL COMMISSIONER, Moses Pownall, of Lancaster county.

The Montrose Democrat.

We have little time or space to devote to the Montrose Democrat, and the pair of Montrose blackguards who occupy so much space in its columns in warring against us.

To show that falsehood and duplicity are the leading characteristics of E. B. Chase, we propose to give a brief examination of some of the statements in his last week's editorial.

Now, a reference to the Democrat of October 28th, and November 11th, 1852, and thereafter at various times down to the present, will show the glaring falsity of this statement.

"We do not look into the Register half a dozen times a year," says this veracious editor; and yet he had said just before, "The files of his paper show at one time, week after week, from four to seven columns of the vilest scurrility and the most loathsome defamation of one or both of the editors of this paper, to all of which we did not so demean ourselves as to reply."

The next that is worthy of notice in this beautiful string of pearls, is the statement that "the proprietors of the Register are all respectable and wealthy gentlemen residing in this village."

"A Paris letter says: 'A few days ago a gentleman said aloud on the Boulevard to a friend, 'He's a brigand, a thief, an assassin!'"

The lowest and meanest portions of the great Legislature's article, borrowed principally from the anonymous "gentleman" who supplies the "Democrat" with its down town, we shall not attempt to answer, but pass them over in silence, as he does the facts we recently stated concerning the present condition of their model newspaper; which statements are no doubt the real cause of this ebullition of Chase, and which he could meet in no other way than by a terrible attack on us.

Proceedings of the Temperance Convention.

Pursuant to public notice the advocates of a Prohibitory Liquor Law convened in Mass at the Court House in Montrose, on the 23d day of August, to appoint delegates to the National Temperance Convention to be held in the City of New York, on the 6th and 7th days of September.

Court Proceedings.

Commonwealth vs. Bariah Wright. Indicted at last April sessions for Assault and Battery. Defendant plead guilty; sentenced to pay a fine of one dollar and costs, and stand committed till sentence is complied with.

Commonwealth vs. Henry Masterson. Assault and Battery. Verdict not guilty, and the county to pay the costs.

Commonwealth vs. Benjamin Fletcher. Assault and Battery. Indictment ignored by Grand Jury, and prosecutor, Philander Strickland, to pay the costs.

Commonwealth vs. Philip Strickland. Assault and Battery. Indictment ignored by the Grand Jury, and the prosecutor, Benjamin Fletcher, to pay the costs.

Commonwealth vs. Holloway Lowry. Indictment for Nuisance in Highway. Verdict, guilty. Sentenced to pay a fine of one dollar and costs of prosecution, and to abate the nuisance within ten days.

Commonwealth vs. Cornelius Blackman. Assault and Battery. Grand Jury return Bill ignoramus, and that prosecutor, S. H. Cuddeback, pay the costs. Sentence accordingly.

Commonwealth vs. Joshua Wilson. Assault and Battery. Verdict, not guilty, on the ground of insanity.

Commonwealth vs. Stephen Burke and T. G. Coffin. Indictment for malicious mischief, in burning saw-mill. Verdict, guilty.

Commonwealth vs. Patrick Dognan. Assault and Battery. Indictment ignored, and prosecutor, Gordon Barber, to pay the costs.

Commonwealth vs. Patrick Dognan. Assault and Battery. Indictment ignored, and prosecutor, Nathan Wells, to pay the costs.

Commonwealth vs. Frederick Robinson. Indictment for Grand Larceny. True Bill. Defendant pleads guilty. Sentenced to restore the property stolen, or pay the value thereof to the owner, and pay a fine of the same sum to the Commonwealth for the use of the county, and undergo an imprisonment in the jail of the county for the space of ninety days, and stand committed till this sentence be complied with.

Commonwealth vs. J. Dumfer, Catharine Dumfer, and Patrick Fohhan. Indictment Conspiracy &c. Grand Jury return Bill ignoramus, and that the prosecutor, C. S. Bennett, pay the costs.

Commonwealth vs. Benjamin Fletcher. Indictment, Perjury. Ignored, and prosecutor, Jos. W. Fisk, to pay the costs.

In the matter of erecting the village of Susquehanna Depot into a Borough. August 19th, 1852, the Court decree that the village of Susquehanna Depot be incorporated and erected into a Borough, agreeable to the prayer of the petitioners, and as per plan, or map, of it same, & direct that the same be recorded in the Recorder's office at the expense of the applicants.

Commonwealth vs. Francis Rouke. Surety of the Peace. Recognized from A. J. Skinner, Esq. Defendant to pay costs of prosecution, and to give surety in the sum of $100 for his good behavior for the space of six months, towards the citizens of this Commonwealth, and especially towards Stephen Quick, the complainant.

George Walker vs. Susquehanna county. In case. Verdict for plaintiff for $92.50.

Commonwealth vs. Asa Davidson. Surety of the peace. Recognized from Chas. Avery, Esq., on complaint of Julia Davidson. Defendant sentenced to pay the costs of prosecution, and give surety in fifty dollars for his good behavior for six months, &c.

Joshua West vs. Rosalie West. Libel for Divorce. Divorce decreed by the Court.

SECOND WEEK.

Conrad and Roberts vs. Treadway Kellogg. In case. Verdict for plaintiff for $129.52.

Ransom Smith vs. Hiram Curtis. Action of Debt. Verdict for plaintiff for penalty the sum of $20,000; amount of legal debt, $2,920, &c.

Obediah Green vs. Joseph Wartous & al. Ejectment. Verdict for defendant.

Benjamin Mariott vs. Henry L. McCatt. Ejectment. Verdict for defendant.

Miles C. Spencer vs. Luke Reed and others, now (Thursday) on trial.

A Paris letter says: "A few days ago a gentleman said aloud on the Boulevard to a friend, 'He's a brigand, a thief, an assassin!'"

Proceedings of the Temperance Convention.

Pursuant to public notice the advocates of a Prohibitory Liquor Law convened in Mass at the Court House in Montrose, on the 23d day of August, to appoint delegates to the National Temperance Convention to be held in the City of New York, on the 6th and 7th days of September.

Court Proceedings.

Commonwealth vs. Bariah Wright. Indicted at last April sessions for Assault and Battery. Defendant plead guilty; sentenced to pay a fine of one dollar and costs, and stand committed till sentence is complied with.

Commonwealth vs. Henry Masterson. Assault and Battery. Verdict not guilty, and the county to pay the costs.

Commonwealth vs. Benjamin Fletcher. Assault and Battery. Indictment ignored by Grand Jury, and prosecutor, Philander Strickland, to pay the costs.

Commonwealth vs. Philip Strickland. Assault and Battery. Indictment ignored by the Grand Jury, and the prosecutor, Benjamin Fletcher, to pay the costs.

Commonwealth vs. Holloway Lowry. Indictment for Nuisance in Highway. Verdict, guilty. Sentenced to pay a fine of one dollar and costs of prosecution, and to abate the nuisance within ten days.

Commonwealth vs. Cornelius Blackman. Assault and Battery. Grand Jury return Bill ignoramus, and that prosecutor, S. H. Cuddeback, pay the costs. Sentence accordingly.

Commonwealth vs. Joshua Wilson. Assault and Battery. Verdict, not guilty, on the ground of insanity.

Commonwealth vs. Stephen Burke and T. G. Coffin. Indictment for malicious mischief, in burning saw-mill. Verdict, guilty.

Commonwealth vs. Patrick Dognan. Assault and Battery. Indictment ignored, and prosecutor, Gordon Barber, to pay the costs.

Commonwealth vs. Patrick Dognan. Assault and Battery. Indictment ignored, and prosecutor, Nathan Wells, to pay the costs.

Commonwealth vs. Frederick Robinson. Indictment for Grand Larceny. True Bill. Defendant pleads guilty. Sentenced to restore the property stolen, or pay the value thereof to the owner, and pay a fine of the same sum to the Commonwealth for the use of the county, and undergo an imprisonment in the jail of the county for the space of ninety days, and stand committed till this sentence be complied with.

Commonwealth vs. J. Dumfer, Catharine Dumfer, and Patrick Fohhan. Indictment Conspiracy &c. Grand Jury return Bill ignoramus, and that the prosecutor, C. S. Bennett, pay the costs.

Commonwealth vs. Benjamin Fletcher. Indictment, Perjury. Ignored, and prosecutor, Jos. W. Fisk, to pay the costs.

In the matter of erecting the village of Susquehanna Depot into a Borough. August 19th, 1852, the Court decree that the village of Susquehanna Depot be incorporated and erected into a Borough, agreeable to the prayer of the petitioners, and as per plan, or map, of it same, & direct that the same be recorded in the Recorder's office at the expense of the applicants.

Commonwealth vs. Francis Rouke. Surety of the Peace. Recognized from A. J. Skinner, Esq. Defendant to pay costs of prosecution, and to give surety in the sum of $100 for his good behavior for the space of six months, towards the citizens of this Commonwealth, and especially towards Stephen Quick, the complainant.

George Walker vs. Susquehanna county. In case. Verdict for plaintiff for $92.50.

Commonwealth vs. Asa Davidson. Surety of the peace. Recognized from Chas. Avery, Esq., on complaint of Julia Davidson. Defendant sentenced to pay the costs of prosecution, and give surety in fifty dollars for his good behavior for six months, &c.

Joshua West vs. Rosalie West. Libel for Divorce. Divorce decreed by the Court.

SECOND WEEK.

Conrad and Roberts vs. Treadway Kellogg. In case. Verdict for plaintiff for $129.52.

Ransom Smith vs. Hiram Curtis. Action of Debt. Verdict for plaintiff for penalty the sum of $20,000; amount of legal debt, $2,920, &c.

Obediah Green vs. Joseph Wartous & al. Ejectment. Verdict for defendant.

Benjamin Mariott vs. Henry L. McCatt. Ejectment. Verdict for defendant.

Miles C. Spencer vs. Luke Reed and others, now (Thursday) on trial.

A Paris letter says: "A few days ago a gentleman said aloud on the Boulevard to a friend, 'He's a brigand, a thief, an assassin!'"

Susquehanna Agricultural Society.

The Society met at the Court House and was called to order by C. Carmalt, Pres. The minutes of the last meeting were read and accepted. The Resolution of William J. Turrell, offered at the last meeting, changing the time of holding the Annual Fair and Cattle Show to the second Wednesday of October was then taken up and discussed.

The Public School Question in Baltimore.

We find in the Baltimore papers the report presented from the joint Committee on Education in the City Council, in reference to the petitions of Archbishop Keppick and others, asking for a reform in the public school law, so that the Catholics may have a separate portion of the school fund, per capita.

The following Resolution offered by Geo. Walker was discussed and laid over for further consideration at the January meeting. Resolved, "That the Society appoint a Committee to award a premium of $10 for the best cultivated farm in the county, of not less than twenty-five acres, $5 for the second best and $3 for the third best. The duty of the Committee shall be to visit the best cultivated farms in different parts of the county and ascertain and publish the amount of different crops raised with the mode of culture."

Mr. Euron: Pursuant to a call issued some weeks since, large numbers of the citizens of Luzerne and the neighboring counties assembled in Wilkesbarre on Wednesday last, to discuss the necessity and propriety of taking immediate action with regard to the Maine Law in this section of Pennsylvania.

At 10 o'clock A. M., Sam'l Hodgdon Esq., was called to the Chair, supported by a large number of Vice Presidents. After the opening prayer by the Rev. G. D. Miles, addresses were made by Mr. Jackson, Cor. Secy. of the State Central Committee, Rev. T. P. Hunt, F. Pennington of Honesdale, Mr. Strong of Pittston, & others.

Mr. Jackson gave a most lucid and forcible account of the object and mode of operation of the State Central Society, giving a history of the manner of conducting the temperance campaign in Maine, Massachusetts and other States, and satisfying every one present, that the time has come in Pennsylvania, for immediate action.

Mr. Pennington of Wayne, stated that he had no doubt that the Democracy of Wayne Co., holding as they do the political power, would fear to nominate men for the Legislature, unless pledged to support the Maine Law.

"Father Hunt," as he is everywhere known, made a characteristic speech, taking to say the least, an unmistakable position in favor of the Maine Law. Old as he is, he is stronger than ever before, in his hostility to the use and sale of intoxicating liquors.

At two o'clock P. M. the delegates chosen by the townships of Luzerne Co., met to consider the propriety of nominating an independent ticket for the Legislature. The proposition met with great opposition at first, but after mature deliberation, was adopted.

The Convention was composed of all parties, the men nominated for the Lower House, represent both parties. Mr. McCauley of Slackscherry is a leading Democrat, and Lord Butler, of Wilkesbarre, a Whig.

The nominations met with great favor, and the friends of the Maine Law are sanguine of success.

The impression seemed generally to prevail, that the points at issue between the two political parties this fall, amount to nothing compared with the importance of obtaining a Maine Law. This was acknowledged in the Convention both by Democrats and Whigs, and there is little doubt that the Democrats will place McCauley on their ticket, and the Whigs nominate Butler on theirs.

In the evening, an immense meeting was held in the Big Tent on the Public Square. The greatest enthusiasm prevailed, and Mr. Jackson held the attention of the people for an hour, calling upon the people to make a vigorous effort for the redemption of our State from the blighting curse of rum.

The Convention adjourned amid deafening cheers for the Maine Law.

I give you this meagre outline of the proceedings of the Convention, hoping that the citizens of Susquehanna County will not suffer themselves to fall behind Luzerne in this glorious work of reform.

Seizures at the Fishing Grounds by the British.

The schooner Rosannah arrived at Gloucester on Saturday, reports that the new schooner Starlight, of Gloucester, Capt. McDonald, was brought to by a shot from the British steamer Devastation, on the 5th August.

The schooner Rosannah arrived at Gloucester on Saturday, reports that the new schooner Starlight, of Gloucester, Capt. McDonald, was brought to by a shot from the British steamer Devastation, on the 5th August.

The schooner Rosannah arrived at Gloucester on Saturday, reports that the new schooner Starlight, of Gloucester, Capt. McDonald, was brought to by a shot from the British steamer Devastation, on the 5th August.

The schooner Rosannah arrived at Gloucester on Saturday, reports that the new schooner Starlight, of Gloucester, Capt. McDonald, was brought to by a shot from the British steamer Devastation, on the 5th August.

The schooner Rosannah arrived at Gloucester on Saturday, reports that the new schooner Starlight, of Gloucester, Capt. McDonald, was brought to by a shot from the British steamer Devastation, on the 5th August.

The schooner Rosannah arrived at Gloucester on Saturday, reports that the new schooner Starlight, of Gloucester, Capt. McDonald, was brought to by a shot from the British steamer Devastation, on the 5th August.

The schooner Rosannah arrived at Gloucester on Saturday, reports that the new schooner Starlight, of Gloucester, Capt. McDonald, was brought to by a shot from the British steamer Devastation, on the 5th August.

The schooner Rosannah arrived at Gloucester on Saturday, reports that the new schooner Starlight, of Gloucester, Capt. McDonald, was brought to by a shot from the British steamer Devastation, on the 5th August.

The schooner Rosannah arrived at Gloucester on Saturday, reports that the new schooner Starlight, of Gloucester, Capt. McDonald, was brought to by a shot from the British steamer Devastation, on the 5th August.

The schooner Rosannah arrived at Gloucester on Saturday, reports that the new schooner Starlight, of Gloucester, Capt. McDonald, was brought to by a shot from the British steamer Devastation, on the 5th August.

The schooner Rosannah arrived at Gloucester on Saturday, reports that the new schooner Starlight, of Gloucester, Capt. McDonald, was brought to by a shot from the British steamer Devastation, on the 5th August.

The schooner Rosannah arrived at Gloucester on Saturday, reports that the new schooner Starlight, of Gloucester, Capt. McDonald, was brought to by a shot from the British steamer Devastation, on the 5th August.

The schooner Rosannah arrived at Gloucester on Saturday, reports that the new schooner Starlight, of Gloucester, Capt. McDonald, was brought to by a shot from the British steamer Devastation, on the 5th August.

The schooner Rosannah arrived at Gloucester on Saturday, reports that the new schooner Starlight, of Gloucester, Capt. McDonald, was brought to by a shot from the British steamer Devastation, on the 5th August.

The schooner Rosannah arrived at Gloucester on Saturday, reports that the new schooner Starlight, of Gloucester, Capt. McDonald, was brought to by a shot from the British steamer Devastation, on the 5th August.

The schooner Rosannah arrived at Gloucester on Saturday, reports that the new schooner Starlight, of Gloucester, Capt. McDonald, was brought to by a shot from the British steamer Devastation, on the 5th August.

The schooner Rosannah arrived at Gloucester on Saturday, reports that the new schooner Starlight, of Gloucester, Capt. McDonald, was brought to by a shot from the British steamer Devastation, on the 5th August.

The schooner Rosannah arrived at Gloucester on Saturday, reports that the new schooner Starlight, of Gloucester, Capt. McDonald, was brought to by a shot from the British steamer Devastation, on the 5th August.

The schooner Rosannah arrived at Gloucester on Saturday, reports that the new schooner Starlight, of Gloucester, Capt. McDonald, was brought to by a shot from the British steamer Devastation, on the 5th August.

The schooner Rosannah arrived at Gloucester on Saturday, reports that the new schooner Starlight, of Gloucester, Capt. McDonald, was brought to by a shot from the British steamer Devastation, on the 5th August.

The schooner Rosannah arrived at Gloucester on Saturday, reports that the new schooner Starlight, of Gloucester, Capt. McDonald, was brought to by a shot from the British steamer Devastation, on the 5th August.

The schooner Rosannah arrived at Gloucester on Saturday, reports that the new schooner Starlight, of Gloucester, Capt. McDonald, was brought to by a shot from the British steamer Devastation, on the 5th August.

The School Conflict in Maryland.

The attempt of the Romanists to secularize the common schools, has signally failed even in Maryland; a State originally settled by Roman Catholics, and where the Catholic element is larger in proportion to the whole population than in any other State of the Union, except perhaps Louisiana.

The attempt of the Romanists to secularize the common schools, has signally failed even in Maryland; a State originally settled by Roman Catholics, and where the Catholic element is larger in proportion to the whole population than in any other State of the Union, except perhaps Louisiana.

The attempt of the Romanists to secularize the common schools, has signally failed even in Maryland; a State originally settled by Roman Catholics, and where the Catholic element is larger in proportion to the whole population than in any other State of the Union, except perhaps Louisiana.

The attempt of the Romanists to secularize the common schools, has signally failed even in Maryland; a State originally settled by Roman Catholics, and where the Catholic element is larger in proportion to the whole population than in any other State of the Union, except perhaps Louisiana.

The attempt of the Romanists to secularize the common schools, has signally failed even in Maryland; a State originally settled by Roman Catholics, and where the Catholic element is larger in proportion to the whole population than in any other State of the Union, except perhaps Louisiana.

The attempt of the Romanists to secularize the common schools, has signally failed even in Maryland; a State originally settled by Roman Catholics, and where the Catholic element is larger in proportion to the whole population than in any other State of the Union, except perhaps Louisiana.

The attempt of the Romanists to secularize the common schools, has signally failed even in Maryland; a State originally settled by Roman Catholics, and where the Catholic element is larger in proportion to the whole population than in any other State of the Union, except perhaps Louisiana.

The attempt of the Romanists to secularize the common schools, has signally failed even in Maryland; a State originally settled by Roman Catholics, and where the Catholic element is larger in proportion to the whole population than in any other State of the Union, except perhaps Louisiana.

The attempt of the Romanists to secularize the common schools, has signally failed even in Maryland; a State originally settled by Roman Catholics, and where the Catholic element is larger in proportion to the whole population than in any other State of the Union, except perhaps Louisiana.

The attempt of the Romanists to secularize the common schools, has signally failed even in Maryland; a State originally settled by Roman Catholics, and where the Catholic element is larger in proportion to the whole population than in any other State of the Union, except perhaps Louisiana.

The attempt of the Romanists to secularize the common schools, has signally failed even in Maryland; a State originally settled by Roman Catholics, and where the Catholic element is larger in proportion to the whole population than in any other State of the Union, except perhaps Louisiana.

The attempt of the Romanists to secularize the common schools, has signally failed even in Maryland; a State originally settled by Roman Catholics, and where the Catholic element is larger in proportion to the whole population than in any other State of the Union, except perhaps Louisiana.

The attempt of the Romanists to secularize the common schools, has signally failed even in Maryland; a State originally settled by Roman Catholics, and where the Catholic element is larger in proportion to the whole population than in any other State of the Union, except perhaps Louisiana.

The attempt of the Romanists to secularize the common schools, has signally failed even in Maryland; a State originally settled by Roman Catholics, and where the Catholic element is larger in proportion to the whole population than in any other State of the Union, except perhaps Louisiana.

The attempt of the Romanists to secularize the common schools, has signally failed even in Maryland; a State originally settled by Roman Catholics, and where the Catholic element is larger in proportion to the whole population than in any other State of the Union, except perhaps Louisiana.

The attempt of the Romanists to secularize the common schools, has signally failed even in Maryland; a State originally settled by Roman Catholics, and where the Catholic element is larger in proportion to the whole population than in any other State of the Union, except perhaps Louisiana.

The attempt of the Romanists to secularize the common schools, has signally failed even in Maryland; a State originally settled by Roman Catholics, and where the Catholic element is larger in proportion to the whole population than in any other State of the Union, except perhaps Louisiana.

The attempt of the Romanists to secularize the common schools, has signally failed even in Maryland; a State originally settled by Roman Catholics, and where the Catholic element is larger in proportion to the whole population than in any other State of the Union, except perhaps Louisiana.

The attempt of the Romanists to secularize the common schools, has signally failed even in Maryland; a State originally settled by Roman Catholics, and where the Catholic element is larger in proportion to the whole population than in any other State of the Union, except perhaps Louisiana.

The attempt of the Romanists to secularize the common schools, has signally failed even in Maryland; a State originally settled by Roman Catholics, and where the Catholic element is larger in proportion to the whole population than in any other State of the Union, except perhaps Louisiana.

The attempt of the Romanists to secularize the common schools, has signally failed even in Maryland; a State originally settled by Roman Catholics, and where the Catholic element is larger in proportion to the whole population than in any other State of the Union, except perhaps Louisiana.

The attempt of the Romanists to secularize the common schools, has signally failed even in Maryland; a State originally settled by Roman Catholics, and where the Catholic element is larger in proportion to the whole population than in any other State of the Union, except perhaps Louisiana.

John F. Mentors, Victim of the Romanists.

John F. Mentors, a young man of noble and independent mind, who has principles of his own, and a comprehension of them, and the independence to speak out, thinks it is due to the Democratic party to make known its position on the banking question more explicitly than it has yet done.

John F. Mentors, a young man of noble and independent mind, who has principles of his own, and a comprehension of them, and the independence to speak out, thinks it is due to the Democratic party to make known its position on the banking question more explicitly than it has yet done.

John F. Mentors, a young man of noble and independent mind, who has principles of his own, and a comprehension of them, and the independence to speak out, thinks it is due to the Democratic party to make known its position on the banking question more explicitly than it has yet done.

John F. Mentors, a young man of noble and independent mind, who has principles of his own, and a comprehension of them, and the independence to speak out, thinks it is due to the Democratic party to make known its position on the banking question more explicitly than it has yet done.

John F. Mentors, a young man of noble and independent mind, who has principles of his own, and a comprehension of them, and the independence to speak out, thinks it is due to the Democratic party to make known its position on the banking question more explicitly than it has yet done.

John F. Mentors, a young man of noble and independent mind, who has principles of his own, and a comprehension of them, and the independence to speak out, thinks it is due to the Democratic party to make known its position on the banking question more explicitly than it has yet done.

John F. Mentors, a young man of noble and independent mind, who has principles of his own, and a comprehension of them, and the independence to speak out, thinks it is due to the Democratic party to make known its position on the banking question more explicitly than it has yet done.

John F. Mentors, a young man of noble and independent mind, who has principles of his own, and a comprehension of them, and the independence to speak out, thinks it is due to the Democratic party to make known its position on the banking question more explicitly than it has yet done.

John F. Mentors, a young man of noble and independent mind, who has principles of his own, and a comprehension of them, and the independence to speak out, thinks it is due to the Democratic party to make known its position on the banking question more explicitly than it has yet done.

John F. Mentors, a young man of noble and independent mind, who has principles of his own, and a comprehension of them, and the independence to speak out, thinks it is due to the Democratic party to make known its position on the banking question more explicitly than it has yet done.

John F. Mentors, a young man of noble and independent mind, who has principles of his own, and a comprehension of them, and the independence to speak out, thinks it is due to the Democratic party to make known its position on the banking question more explicitly than it has yet done.

John F. Mentors, a young man of noble and independent mind, who has principles of his own, and a comprehension of them, and the independence to speak out, thinks it is due to the Democratic party to make known its position on the banking question more explicitly than it has yet done.

John F. Mentors, a young man of noble and independent mind, who has principles of his own, and a comprehension of them, and the independence to speak out, thinks it is due to the Democratic party to make known its position on the banking question more explicitly than it has yet done.

John F. Mentors, a young man of noble and independent mind, who has principles of his own, and a comprehension of them, and the independence to speak out, thinks it is due to the Democratic party to make known its position on the banking question more explicitly than it has yet done.

John F. Mentors, a young man of noble and independent mind, who has principles of his own, and a comprehension of them, and the independence to speak out, thinks it is due to the Democratic party to make known its position on the banking question more explicitly than it has yet done.

John F. Mentors, a young man of noble and independent mind, who has principles of his own, and a comprehension of them, and the independence to speak out, thinks it is due to the Democratic party to make known its position on the banking question more explicitly than it has yet done.

John F. Mentors, a young man of noble and independent mind, who has principles of his own, and a comprehension of them, and the independence to speak out, thinks it is due to the Democratic party to make known its position on the banking question more explicitly than it has yet done.

John F. Mentors, a young man of noble and independent mind, who has principles of his own, and a comprehension of them, and the independence to speak out, thinks it is due to the Democratic party to make known its position on the banking question more explicitly than it has yet done.

John F. Mentors, a young man of noble and independent mind, who has principles of his own, and a comprehension of them, and the independence to speak out, thinks it is due to the Democratic party to make known its position on the banking question more explicitly than it has yet done.

John F. Mentors, a young man of noble and independent mind, who has principles of his own, and a comprehension of them, and the independence to speak out, thinks it is due to the Democratic party to make known its position on the banking question more explicitly than it has yet done.

John F. Mentors, a young man of noble and independent mind, who has principles of his own, and a comprehension of them, and the independence to speak out, thinks it is due to the Democratic party to make known its position on the banking question more explicitly than it has yet done.

John F. Mentors, a young man of noble and independent mind, who has principles of his own, and a comprehension of them, and the independence to speak out, thinks it is due to the Democratic party to make known its position on the banking question more explicitly than it has yet done.