The population of the Danubian principalities is 4,000,000 or 4,500,000 inhabitants, and the soil could support three times that population.

It is reported that the authorities of New Orleans, unable to provide decent burial for the victims of pestilence, have resorted to the ancient custom of burning the dead.

A correspondent of the National Intelligencer furnishes that paper with an account of a table moving eighty years ago, with interesting variations, quite as startling as in modern examples.

A fellow that had been hooked by a wrenny-crow, limped in his gait. A woman remarked that he appeared to be intoxicated. "Yes," said her beau, "he has been taking a couple of horns."

The dreadful pestilence at New Orleans still continues to increase. On Saturday last there were no less than two hundred and ninety five interments. This is twenty five more than on any previous day.

Some negroes, belonging to a bachelor gentleman, not far from Paulding, Mississippi, amused themselves by blowing him up one night with a keg of gunpowder. He was projected through the roof, and fatally burnt.

Bayard Taylor has joined the expedition to Japan, having been assigned a place in the corps of artists, with the rank of master-at-arms on board the steamer Susquehanna.

From letters received at Washington, says the Star from St. Louis, it appears that Colonel Benton's friends in Missouri, are already preparing to bring him out for the Presidency in 1850 against all parties and all conventions.

The New York Freeman's Journal says there are ten thousand Catholic children now attending the Catholic Schools of that city, and by 1850 it is expected the number will be fifty thousand, subject to their own pastors.

Of nine hundred committed to the Jersey City Prison during the year ending on the first of July, six hundred and upwards were for drunkenness. The city, with a population of eighteen thousand, has four hundred places where liquor is sold.

The cabinet are not a unit upon the Pacific Railroad question, Davis and Guthrie are for it, and Marcy and Cushing con. The sentiments of the others are unknown. The measure is destined to produce angry feelings, and may produce a schism in the party.

Every family at Matagorda Texas, can have a salt water bath on their own premises. Under the city, at a depth of about eight feet, is a stratum vein of saline water, and clear as rock crystal. Almost every household has dug a well, inserted a chain pump and erected a small bath house in his garden.

The Chinese rebels have the Ten Commandments, which they promulgate in the law. The seventh however is changed to read thus, "Thou shalt not commit adultery, nor smoke opium." They are not Christians. The Chinese say they are Mussulmans. Their chief Tai-Fang (Universal Peace) professes to be divinely inspired, and is sort of Chinese Joe Smith.

An instance has recently occurred in Connecticut, in which a lady was a maid, and a widow, all in one day. Mrs. Connell, wife of a man who had married her husband on Front street, had married her husband on the morning of the same day on which the fatal affray occurred. At noon a maid, and at noon a widow!

The New York Herald says: "An organization has been on foot for several months in this country, with the avowed object of attempting a fresh invasion and conquest of Cuba. We have reason to believe that it is so far complete that four thousand men have actually been enrolled and are ready to set sail at any moment for the island." A leader has been chosen and no fancy the public will be inclined to compliment the filibusters on their choice, when we add that he is one of the most distinguished officers of the Mexican war.

A writer from our Southern States, "It may be no wonder to most of our readers, that there is danger of New Orleans yet becoming an island town. The Bayou Plaquemine, (a branch of the Mississippi) which sets out in nearly a straight line for the Gulf of Mexico, is rapidly enlarging itself, and unless something is done to check the current, it will in a few years become the main channel, and being to the straight course of its channel, it is no further from the Gulf of Mexico, than a gun of 25 miles for those who go to the Upper Mississippi by the Plaquemine."

This is the significant and appropriate title of the true Digestive and Appetizing Juice, prepared by Dr. S. Houghton of Philadelphia, from the fourth stomach of the Ox, for the cure of Indigestion and Dyspepsia. It is a long known remedy for an unhealthy stomach. No art of man can equal its curative powers. It renders Good Eating perfectly consistent with health. See the figure of the ox in another part of this paper.

Death.

On the 12th inst at his residence in Bridgewater, of inflammation on the lungs, James W. Hill, Esq., aged sixty three yrs. He settled upon the farm, where his remains now quietly rest, about forty years ago. All was then new and wild around him, and he shared the common trials and privations of early settlers. During all the time from his settlement to his death, he maintained an unblemished reputation, and discharged most faithfully the duties involved in the social and civil relations of life. He was deservedly honored with the entire confidence of the community. As a Christian and member of the Bridgewater Baptist Church, for more than twenty five years, he exemplified the true Christian Character, and to very few men could the text used on the occasion of his funeral be more justly applied, "Mark the perfect man and imbedially the upright for the end of the man is peace."

In his death, not only his family but the Church and community have sustained an irreparable loss. Com.
