NEWS AND NOTIONS.

—The paper on which the Philadelphia Ledger is at present printed, is made of straw.

—Both branches of our State Legislature have finally agreed to adjourn on the 9th instant.

—It is rumored in London that Mr. Thackeray has embraced the Roman Catholic religion.

—"There's nothing half so sweet in life as young love's dream," sucking new cider through a clean straw alone excepted.

—The Boston Times says, "The editor of the Lowell Advertiser, or a person who looks just as ugly, was in town yesterday."

—Gov. Bigler has signed the bill providing for the sale of the main line of the public works, for $10,000,000.

—The western part of Texas is being settled with Germans almost exclusively, many of whom are of the higher classes, and men of much learning and worth.

—The rein-deer, though chiefly found in the extreme Arctic regions, sometimes descends as low, on the western coast of America, as the region of the Columbia river.

—The Ohio Legislature passed a stringent liquor law, April 29th, and it only requires the signature of the Governor to become a law.

—In Pennsylvania, according to the census of 1850, there was one Clergyman to every 826 inhabitants, one Lawyer to every 624, and one Physician to every 568.

—The Directors of the World's Exhibition of Art and Industry have decided to reduce the price of admission to the Crystal Palace to one uniform rate of 25 cents.

—In Utah, on the death of a man, his property vests in the Mormon Church, his wives and children not being recognized as heirs. The Church is the sole heir of all property.

—The Administration has opened its batteries against "Old Bullion." It is rumored that he will soon be charged with getting the Mexican Board of 1850 to pass an unsound $80,000 claim.

—Mr. Victor M. Rice has been fully installed into his office as superintendent of Public Instruction in the State of New York, that office having been recently separated from that of Secretary of State.

—The word which is variously written Bedowin, Bedoween, Bedouin, or Bedwin, is a corruptipn of an Arabic word, which signifies "a nation of the desert." It is now commonly written Bedouin.

—The unimproved lands of Oregon are so barren that a surveyor writes: "I think the United States ought to make Great Britain take it all back, or fight. Thank God, we didn't get up to 64 degs. 40 min.; 49 degs. is bad enough."

—A striking fact in the ship-building of Great Britain is the increase of iron ships.—Of the 153 steamers built last year, 117 were of iron. Of the sailing vessels, ten were of iron. Comparatively little iron is used among us.

—Judge Robert T. Conrad, who had previously received the nomination of the Whig and the Native American parties, was, on Monday last, nominated by a Prohibitory Liquor Law Convention, for Mayor of Philadelphia.

—In the Superior Court, April 29th, the case of Newell against the Norwalk Railroad, for injuries received by the Norwalk catastrophe, was ended, by the jury rendering a verdict for the plaintiff of $5,000. It is said that the company had offered $7,000 to settle the case.

—In the case of George P. Southwick vs. the city of Boston, April 29th, the jury gave a verdict for the plaintiff, fixing the damages at $12000. Southwick fell into an exposed cellar way, on Congress Square, breaking his back, and sued the city of Boston.

—A Western Editor, in an article addressed to liquor dealers who contend that the Bible sanctions the use of alcoholic drinks, recommends that they read aloud, to such of their customers as may call each day, two or three chapters of the Bible, by way of advertising and defending their business.

—New Steamboats, to the number of forty-three, are now in process of construction in the yards of Pittsburg and vicinity, being a larger number than at any former period.—Of the whole forty, only three are side wheeled. Of the stern-wheel boats, many are of large size, from 800 to 1000 tons burden.

—There are now three hundred and twenty-two pupils in the New York State Institution for the instruction of the deaf and dumb, one hundred and ninety-two being beneficiaries of the State. The Institution is meeting great success in instructing these unfortunates.

—It is said that while the revenue of Cuba from various sources of taxation, amounts to at least twenty-five millions of dollars, only about three millions find their way to the Spanish treasury, each official reserving to himself a large portion of the amount wrung from the inhabitants.

—The population of the world is now estimated at about 841,000,000, and is distributed as follows: Africa about 101,000,000; North America 34,000,000; South America 16,000,000; West Indies, 3,700,000; Asia, including islands, 430,000,000; Australia and Australian group of islands, 14,000,000; Europe, 253,000,000; Polynesia, 1,500,000.

—The Quebec Gazette says that the Court of Quarter Sessions, concluded in that city several days since, rendered a verdict for larceny against a prisoner who had previously been convicted of stealing. The jurors for Our Lady the Queen, recommended the prisoner to mercy, because he had been confined in the penitentiary for a prior offence!

—Rev. John Humphrey, of Binghamton, has been elected to the recently-endowed professorship of Moral Philosophy, &c., in Hamilton College. Mr. Humphrey is son of the excellent and venerable President Humphrey, of Amherst College; and Hamilton College may be congratulated on securing one who is so well fitted by his talents, acquirements, and amiable character for the responsible position which he is to fill.

—Matthew J. Ward, who was lately on trial at Louisville, Ky., for the murder of Prof. Butler, has been acquitted. The Tribune says, "Kentucky has taken a step in advance of her illustrious mother. The Old Dominion has not yet got beyond the imprisonment of school-teachers, while in Kentucky they are shot dead in their school-rooms, and a jury returns a verdict of rightly served."

—An impression has existed with the public generally, that the defeat of Neal Dow in his own city, a short time since, was a victory over the Temperance cause in the city of Portland. Such is not the fact. The attempt to elect him was the work of the enemy, who gave him a few hypocritical votes as an insult, and now the cry goes over the land by the rum-hooters, that the great head of the Maine Law enterprise could not get the office of Marshall in his own city.

—The newspapers have given currency to a rumor that Henry Ward Beecher was about to take charge of a Congregational church in Washington. In noticing this rumor, the Star, a newspaper published in that city, threatens him with a coat of tar and feathers, if his sermons should be similar to those he has preached elsewhere. That would be a rather singular proceeding for the capital of a free country in the last half of the 19th century.—Wheeling (Va.) Times.

—Mr. John C. Rives, the publisher of the Congressional Globe, says that he has sunk upwards of $40,000 on the publication, in consequence of his effort to perfect the work in accordance to the wishes of Congress, under the expectation that the Senate would increase the number of copies taken by it to that taken by the House. The latter does not more than indemnify him for the work done on it, while the small subscription of the Senate throws a loss on him of from ten to twelve thousand dollars a Congress.

—Mr. Douglas is humiliated. He and his friends do not court public observation. They walk in shady places. Their careering and cavorting have declined into a cat-like gait, which seems practising itself for getting through the smallest holes, so that if the little end of the horn, which they now find full in view, be of unexpected diminutive proportions, they may still slip through. How different all this from the insolent ribaldry which they so naturally assumed a few weeks since. Virtue is its own reward, and so baffled crime begets its own punishment in the contempt which it excites.

—The Paris correspondent of the London Times says that a great change has taken place in the state of opinion and feeling in St. Petersburg, especially among the higher classes, thay having sufficient intelligence and knowledge of foreign countries to enable them to appreciate the immensity of the resistance the Czar has to encounter; but the lower classes still have faith in the invincibility and infallibility of the Czar, believing, as they do, every invention of the clergy, and every boastful bulletin of the Russian Generals from the seat of war. The Emperor Nicholas himself, notwithstanding his efforts to appear calm, looks anxious and careworn.

An Amazon among the Turks.

A letter from Constantinople (dated March 23,) in the Boston Farmer says:—

To-day, we have a real live Amazon in Constantinople, who is attracting crowds as she passes through the bazars. She is going to the wars, at the head of four hundred men, all valorous and true, and depend upon it, she will make a decided impression upon the Russian ranks. Just as the crown of Great Britain, through failure of the male line, fell to Victoria, so this worthy personage of the feminine gender inherited the chieftainship of her tribe. They are wandering nomades of the Mohammedan faith, wild and independent, fierce and vindictive. They make up in energy what they want in discipline. It would seem that the Sultan called this particular tribe here now, because it was headed by a woman; and her coming has been looked for with eagerness for some time past, by all classes of the people; and now that she is actually here, every body is talking about her. Her head is wound round with an immense turban, and in her girdle she has the old fashioned yatagan and pistols. She is dressed throughout in male attire, and has the color and features of a man, and might easily be mistaken for one, except for the one decisive mark, that she wants entirely beard and moustache. She has a courageous and athletic appearance, and riding at the head of her troop, all of whom are mounted, she certainly is to be considered as no mean foe. An individual remarked to-day that some of the Mussulmans of the city seemed to feel a degree of shame at sending women to fight their battles for them. Another very properly replied, "It is no shame to the Turks, but rather to the Russians, who are to have women for their antagonists."

☞ The notion that the Post Office must sustain itself is nonsensical. It is a department of the public service which must be supported; whether by the taxes levied on correspondence, or by the taxes on broadcloths and jack knives, is of not the slighest importance. It would be as sensible to say that the Army, the Navy and the Courts must sustain themselves; or to say that each particular mail route must sustain itself, though it is notorious that hundreds of those created by Congress do not support themselves, and are not expected to do it. Unless we speak of the Post Office as a self-sustaining machine, we should certainly credit it rigorously with all the work it does for nothing on the requisition of the government. Every thing sent on account of the government or under the frank of members of Congress should be credited to the Post Office Department at the same rate as if carried for private individuals. The government now annually pays to the department $700,000 for the services rendered it, but this does not include any thing for the thousands of tons transmitted under the congressional frank. Dr. Old's bill has been postponed one month. I think it impossible that it will be passed; but it is unquestionable that a much more favorable disposition exists in the House towards a uniform five cent rate than at any time since the reduction in 1845.

DEATHS.

In this Borough, on Monday the 17th April ult. Mr. Edward Fuller, aged 83 years.

On the 22d instant after a short illness, at his residence in Phœnixville, Chester county, in this state, SAMUEL MILLIGAN Esq., formerly of this county, and for many years one of its most prominent and valuable citizens.

Warm, generous and constant in his friendship, pure and disinterested in his public services, sincere and fervent in his religion, and liberal in his charities, the deceased was distinguished among us for his public and private virtues; and was long known in the neighborhood where he lived in this county as "the friend of the poor." Possessing a competent fortune and high mental accomplishments, of dignified and polished manners, no one could meet him without feeling that he was in the presence of an elevated man, and their interest always increased upon a nearer acquaintance.

In Overton, Bradford Co., March 2d, 1854, at the residence of her daughter Mrs. IRENE DURNOER, in the 76th year of her age.

She was one of the first settlers of Silver Lake, in Susq. Co., which was then an unbroken wilderness. Shortly after their removal there her husband enlisted in the war of 1812, which left her with a large family to support by her exertions. She bore with a christian fortitude, all the hardships and privations she was necessarily subjected too. She was a member of the Baptist Church, but as there was none in that township, she joined the Bridgewater church by a letter. She has since been a member of several churches of the same faith and order.

Her name has been numbered among the children of God about fifty years, she was always found faithful, and distinguished for clearness of perception strength of mind, and fervent piety. "Blessed are the dead that die in the Lord," &c.

"Asleep in Jesus! O how sweet
To be for such a slumber meet;
With holy confidence to sing,
That death hath lost his venomed sting."

Hurrah for Freedom and Free Territory!

Nebraska and Kansas,
No fetters nor slave laws.
Young America forever and free.

TO the Hon. Judges of the Court of Susquehanna county—foreign Ambassadors, Attorneys, Grand Jurymen, Crier, and other officials—Clergymen and Churchmen, Merchants, Mechanics and Workies—young gents and Old Fogies, "citizens and strangers," "the rest of mankind," and the ladies besides—all hail! Just shut off the lightning a half a minute, if you please; I want to speak to you. You doubtless recollect what old Bullion told the House, in Committee of the Whole, that he would do, in a single hour, with the Nebraska bill and its author, the Little Giant. Well, I suppose he has done it. All right.—And let the loud cannonade of indignant Freedom thunder out against the blood-cemented breastworks of oppression and outrage the world over; shaking in its pieces the red altars where holy Freedom bleeds, and the red hand that holds the fetter and the scourge, and hurling Despots, toppling from their thrones, down, bellowing after Douglas to—where Bullion said.—Excuse me, fellow citizens, I did not intend to go off in this rhapsody on Liberty and human rights, when I began, but simply to lay before you a little matter of business, and as I am by profession neither orator nor statesman, but only that sort of "necessary evil," a Dentist, I will drop my patriotism for the present, which most anomalously for these days got the better, for a moment, of my interest, and conclude by saying that I have resumed my residence in Montrose, and may be found at Montavue, two doors south of Seth Mitchell's, Esq., opposite the Baptist Church. I will wait on you at your residence, (in town,) if desired. Those living at a distance, desiring plate teeth, can board with me free of charge, while the work is being done. My charges are so low that I make them strictly confidential.

Yours professionally,
C. D. VIRGIN
Montavue, April, 1854.] Resident Dentist.
