PROSPECTUS-1854-5. THE GLOBE:

The Official Paper of Congress, and Newspaper for the People. LORD BROUGHAN, in his "Historical Sketches Statesmen who flourished in the time of George the Third," gives some remarkable examples, showing the great loss sustained by England in the history of its statesmen, and of its national progress, stirough the imperfect state of parliamentary reporting in former times. He opens his life of Lord Charman thus:

little, as Lord Chatham; and yet he is the person to whom every one would at once point, if desired to name the most successful stateman and most brilliant orator that this country ever produced. Of Lord Somers, indeed, we can, scracely be said to know anything at all. That he was a person of unimbrough the capacity and P. M., the following property, late the estate of Ebrace Colo. of the township of Forest Lake, in the most trying times, and saving us from arbitrary linest in the forms, of an ordinary legal proceeding, have surrounded his name with a mild yet imperisha-ble glory, which, in the contrast of our dark ignorince respecting all the particulars and details of his er records of his times have left us. But it is singuar how much of Lord Chatham, who flourished within the memory of the present generation, still rests upon vague tradition. As a state sman, indeed, he is known to us by the events which history has recorded to be autiful and splendid patterns of Parlor and Cooking have happened under his administration. Yet even be seen the Revolving Front and Gothic Parlor, for benefit to be seen the Revolving Front and Gothic Parlor, for benefit to be seen the Revolving Front and Gothic Parlor, for benefit to be seen the Revolving Front and Gothic Parlor, for benefit to be seen the Revolving Front and Gothic Parlor, for benefit to be seen the Revolving Front and Gothic Parlor, for benefit to be seen the Revolving Front and Gothic Parlor, for benefit to be seen the Revolving Front and Gothic Parlor, for benefit to be seen the Revolving Front and Gothic Parlor, for benefit to be seen the Revolving Front and Gothic Parlor, for benefit to be seen the Revolving Front and Gothic Parlor, for benefit to be seen the Revolving Front and Gothic Parlor and Cooking to gothic Parlor and Cook

"The imperfect state of parliamentary reporting is the great cause of this blank." What Somers and Chatham have lost in fame by the oblivion of all the masterly efforts of their minds which, wielding the power of Parliament, conducted the march of the Government during their connection with It, the history of the nation has also lost for want of the vigor and verity, the elearness, the freshness and beauty with which its events and their causes might have been preserved in the luminous eloquence of its orators. The great men who conducted our Revolutionary struggle in the Continental Congress have left no history behind them of the views and events which had their birth in their debates, except in the meager for-mula of a journal. The fervid feeling of the hour, the impelling circumstances, the argument, the eager controversy which set the subject in every variety of light, passed away with the breath that gave them utterance; and men who were not surpassed, in the opinion of Lord Chatham; by "the master statesman of the world," have bequeathed to posterity nothing of the eloquence which guided our National Councils self to attend to that department; and therefore I but the shadow of a hame." Recent publications show how graphic history becomes when the actors in peds, that need new apparel, glorious oranglorious, it speak for themselves and events as they emerge fashionable or junfashionable, can have their wants, stamp themselves on its page. Congress has now taken care that this sort of genuine history shall fall from the press, full and perfect, day by day; and thus every public man will make his own history, and blend it imperishably with that of his country. The Congressional Globe and Appendix is so volu-minous that it can only be read by our busy countryfrom the commencement, having bought out the late men partially during its progress. In addition to these, every subscriber to the Congressional Globe and Apolis, dye-stuffs, druggists' glass ware, liquors, family t various notable European scenes and occurrences will pendix; and to those who may consider this summary sufficient without them, the subscription price for this weekly will be two dollars per annum. The brief synopsis of debates will fill but a part of the contents of this laarge weekly sheet. It will contain every important item of foreign and domestic news which can be gleaned from the daily prints during the week, together with that which may be brought by telegraph at the moment of going to press. It will contain besides, the interesting miscellany which is given in the Daily Globe, and the Washington gossin of the letter-writers, extracted from the different newspapers which employ them, interest the readers of the Globe, and hear such probability on their face as to warrant their insertion. As this weekly saper will be sent to all the subscribers of the Congressional Globe and Appendix, it will certainly have a more general circulation than any other newspaper in the United States; and will, therefore, invite advertisements from every section of the Union, especially the wholesale merchants in the great cities, which will give it additional interest with usiness men evervwliere.

The DAILY GLODE will be printed on a double roy al sheet, twice a day during the sessions of Congress—at 11 o'clock, A. M., and 5 o'clock, P. M.; and once a day, at 5 o'clock, P. M., during the recesses, at five dollars a year for either the morning or evening edition. The evening edition is the one most suitable for subscriber who live out of this city, as it will contain, besides the full proceedings of Congress of the day before published in the morning edition, a full synopsis of those of the day, together with the news by telegraph, and from other sources, up to the hour that it is put to press. It will contain, also, all laws and joint resolutions passed by Corgress. The Congressional Glore and Appendix will also be printed on a double royal sheet, in book form, roy-al quarto size, each number containing sixteen pages. The Congressional Globe will be made up of the proceedings of Congress, and the running debates as taken down by the reporters. The Appendix will contain the Messages of the President of the United States, the Reports of the Heads of the Executive Departments, such speeches as have been withheld be beat, and many other things, all of which we offer by Members of Congress for revision, and all the laws as low as can be bought, and joint resolutions passed during the session. The debates of Congress are now as fully and as futhfully reported in the Congressional Globe as those of any other legislative body are in this or any other country, and yet they are rold to subscribers for one eight of what any other debates are sold for in this country, and one elegrath of what the debates of the British Parliament are sold for in England, where paper, reporting type, and type-setting are, each and all, much cheaper than in this country. The liberal subscription by Congress enables me to sell the debates so low. And Congress, for the purpose of enabling the people to obtain them at so low a rate as they can be afforded, passed the following joint reso-lution, authorizing them to go free by mail: Joint Resolutions providing for the distribution of the Laws of Congress and the Debates thereon. AYER'S PILLS.

FAMILY PHYSIC.

THERE has long existed a public demand for an ef L fective purgative pill which could be relied on as sure and perfect in its operation. This has been prepared to meet that demand, and an extensive tr il of its virtues has conclusively shown with what sucman groans.

Hollow's beauty's round cheek, clouds the sweet maiden's smile.

Fills his empire with tortures no power can beguile.

From the bright brow of childhood steals the roseate bloom. we would respectfully submit to the public decision. It has been unfortunate for the patient hitherto that almost every purgative medicine is acrimonious and irritating to the bowels. This is not. Many of them produce so much griping pain and revulsion in the system as to more than counterbalance the good to be derived from them. These pills produce no irritation or pain, unless it arise from a previously existing ob-struction or derangement in the bowels. Being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in an quantity; but it is better that any medicine should be taken judiciously. Minute directions for their use in the several diseases to which they are applicable are given on the box. Among the complaints which have been speedily cured by them, we may mention Liver Complaint, in its various forms of Jaundice, In digestion, Languor and Loss of Appetite, Listlesness, Irritability, Bilious Headache, Bilious Fever, Fever and Ague, Pain in the Side and Loins: for, in truth; all these are but the consequence of diseased action in the liver. As an aperient, they afford prompt and sure relief in Cositiveness, Piles, Cholic, Dysenters, Humors, Scrofula and Scurvy, Colds with soreness of the body, Ulcers and impurity of the blood; in short, any and every case where a purgative is required. They have produced some singularly successful cures in Rheumatism, Gout, Dropsy, Gravel, Erysipelas, Palpitation of the Heart, Pains in the Back, Ston ach and Side. They should be freely taken in the spring of the year, to purify the blood and prepare ne system for the change of seasons. An occasional ose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy ection, and restores the appetite and vigor. They pu ify the blood, and, by their stimulant action, on the circulatory system, renovate the strength of the body, and restore the wasted or diseased energies of the whole organism. Hence an occasional dose is advaningrous even though no serious derangement exists; but unnecessary dusings should never be carried too far as every purgative medicine reduces the strength when taken to excess. The thousand cases in which a physic is required cannot be enumerated here, but they suggest themselves to the reason of every body, and it is confidently believed this pill will answer a better purpose than anything which has hitherto been available to mankind. When their virtues are once known, the public will no longer doubt what remedy to employ when in need of a cathartic medicine. Being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity,

'Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. For the rapid Cure of Coughs, Colds, Hourseness, Bronchitis, Whooping-Cough, Cronp, Asthma, and Consumption.
This remedy has won for itself such notoriety from s cures of every variety of pulmonary disease, that t is entirely unnecessary to recount the evidences of its virtues in any community where it has been employed. So wide is its field of usefulness, and so numerous the cases of its cures, that almost every section of the country abounds in persons publicly known who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use.
