The Old Church Bell

On a ring, on a Sabbath bell, they toll me to my grave. I was a boy when first they toll'd in melody upon my ear.

Cultivation of Corn

Our knowledge of corn is confined chiefly to its value as a food. We know that our dependence is placed chiefly upon this grain for the support of our live stock, small and great, and that if by any mischance the crop should be a failure, we should suffer far more than if every field of wheat in the country were to be destroyed beyond remedy.

How Comets Affect the Earth

It is interesting to learn from Professor Lewis Boss's prize essay on comets, just published, that no serious results are ever likely to happen to our little planet from the visits to the solar system of those celestial vagrants.

The Toffing Empress Eugenie

The Buffalo Courier says: "To-day I saw the former beauty, the former Empress of France, entering her temporary London residence. The tall, erect, and stately figure, the head and drooping, the gleefully air is akin to that of the mediant; the fair locks are white as the driven snow and thin and scanty in appearance; the large, expressive, and animated eyes, half violet and half blue in recurrent tints, are gray, watery, and leaning languidly; the oval face is wrinkled and worn by cruel care, and the bloom of beauty is supplanted by a cruel and unkind old age. It has been my lot to see other queens in exile, other magnates destroyed, but no one so strongly arouses sympathetic sorrow as does this widowed, childless, parentless, isolated ex-Empress. But one consoling comfort is hers. It is in feeding the hungry, clothing the naked, and comforting the afflicted. Where the poor wear not their wants on their sleeves, there you will find the premature aged and tottering lady, resembling a social wreck and holding out a hopeful beacon."
