MALARIA
Malaria is an almost indescribable malady which not even the most talented physicians are able to fathom. Its cause is most frequently ascribed to local surroundings, and there is very little question, but this opinion is substantiated by facts.

SELECT POETRY.
CHANGES.
When first we love, we know, we seldom wed.
Time runs as all. And life, indeed no end.
The things we planned it out on hope was dead.

MISCELLANEOUS.
THE PSALM OF LIFE.
Several young men, recently from college,
fall of new opinions, new beliefs and new ideas, were riding together over a far Western road.

AN ERA OF PARRICIDES.
The conviction of a boy twelve years old of murdering his father in Missouri recalls a rather forlorn and sad incident.

DEAD RELATIVES IN CHINA.
Great indeed are the expenses entailed on the living by the dead. In no land can a deceased man be more solemnly followed.

DANDELION.
A dandelion in a meadow grew,
Among the waving grass and corn;
Dining on sunshine, breakfasting on dew,

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

LIFE IN JAPAN.
In Tokio there is a large government park-making and money-printing establishment, where hundreds of laborers and operatives are engaged.

PAMPED JUDGES.
Says a Washington letter to the Philadelphia Press: For high-toned perquisites, privileges and luxuries, the jolly old owls on the Supreme Court bench would not give up the premium of the world for anything.

POISONOUS LEAVES.
Some of our most beautiful flowers, which
are almost lost with the advent of autumn, are associated with green leaves of a very poisonous character.

SOUTHERN BEAUTIES.
How They Differ from Their Good-Looking Northern Sisters.
Southern girls mature much more rapidly than do Northern girls, writes a correspondent from "White Sulphur Springs, Tenn."

EVERYTHING FROZEN SOLID.
The markets of Irtuk are an interesting sight in the winter time, for everything on ice is frozen solid.
