REPUBLICAN MEETING.

The world is still amazed at the manner in which this country is paying off the enormous debt accumulated during the rebellion, and so great has been the reduction in the past that now the interest account has been so greatly reduced and the surplus revenue so large, it is not too much to expect that if everything goes right at the end of the century or before it, perhaps, will see the debt entirely wiped out.

POLITICAL POINTS.

The prospects of Republican success in the election of the Regular ticket of the party in the State, brighten daily. POLITICAL POINTS.

It is true, as has been claimed, that in Pennsylvania the Democrats are as good as beaten. The Republicans, it is certainly very strange that ex-Speaker Randall, one of their most trusted leaders, was reported some time ago to have said as a Washington correspondent of some New York paper that he himself was a free-trader, and he admitted the necessity of incidental protection for revenue purposes.

Johnstown turns up with a story which has a flavor of romance to give zest to its curious facts. Twenty-six city girls, Mr. and Mrs. Weimer, of Allegheny City, died, leaving as wards to the community a son aged three months and a daughter aged six months. The boy was separated, the girl being adopted by a man named Steiner, and subsequently removed to Johnstown, and the girl by Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Meyer, of Somerset county, and each assumed the name of their adopted parents. Of tender age, the boy never knew the existence of a sister, and the girl never knew of her brother. Both grew and prospered, oblivious of the secret that hung over them, until a few weeks ago the young man, in the discharge of his duty, met a person who was acquainted with his antecedents and disclosed the knowledge that he had a sister. This informed young Steiner, as he was known, began an investigation for the girl, and his persistent inquiries were rewarded by her discovery as the honored wife of a respectable citizen of Berlin, Somerset county. The relatives had no difficulty in establishing their identity with each other's satisfaction.

SLIPPER OUT FOR BEAVER.

Monday Hon. Phil Slifer made a speech in Lewisburg in favor of the Regular Republican ticket. The following are the main features of Mr. Slifer's speech: BEHAVIOR EXTRAORDINARY. I am not here to present the Republican party as spotless. It has its faults, and it would be a marvel if it had not. It was born by an impulse of divinity on the public conscience, but was cradled amid the profligacy of a great war, and its first and mission-draw to it, numbers, so that were inspired to its work but a little for its rule, and when its first work had been so gradually achieved many of these turned to their professions and ordinary avocations, leaving the conduct of the party to men who had not the same high and extra-ordinary endowments. The result has been an unjustifiable expenditure.

SLIPPER OUT FOR BEAVER.

How is it proposed to remedy this evil, which has become inherent in rule more than in rulers? Some suggest a party change. Judging from what we have seen of the past, it would be a leap from the pan the fire. I know remarkable ability to check speculation is claimed for the Democratic candidate for Governor. I freely concede to him the purest integrity. Yet what are the facts? Every item of city expenditure is reviewed by him in his journal, and a just and honest man, he is not to be taken in by the high sounding and alleged allegations to an extent that the people have in self-defense, appointed a committee of one hundred to discover and punish wrongdoers, Mr. Pattison, in all the years of his office, with the entire payments of the State, has not been organized in a party, and he has not been able to ferret out the Major Phipps and other purloiners of the people's money, but has left such honor to newspapers and committees of Councils and of the people, it is legitimate to inquire what he could accomplish as Governor, when not a public account is presented to him, and the difference between the Auditor General and State Treasurer, where the law makes him umpire between them?

SLIPPER OUT FOR BEAVER.

It is somewhat remarkable that the onslaughts of the party from within the party are not for reform in its doings, but for change in rulers. This, however, will appear less remarkable when it is remembered that the battle is led largely by men who participated without protest for years in making appropriations of the most lavish character and in demanding personal compensation for the services rendered in the name of the people. It is not for the better, purer life, it is for the change of rulers. This, however, will appear less remarkable when it is remembered that the battle is led largely by men who participated without protest for years in making appropriations of the most lavish character and in demanding personal compensation for the services rendered in the name of the people.
