QUESTIONINGS.

The sky is drear, the shadows fly,
And in the wind the branches cry,
My spirit shrinks with care's deep sigh,
Why is this day so drear? Oh, why?
Who knows?

We look in vain for purer light;
We grope in vain for clearer sight;
One cries for day and one for night;
Ah! what can make those mysteries bright?
Who knows?

God knows. The golden West
Breaks from the darkness. God knows best.
He makes the desolate wayside blest;
And whispers through the darkness, rest.
He knows.

Oh! crying branches, in your cry
The great crescendo of my sigh
Seems like an anthem from on high,
Rising in such a sweet reply,
"He knows."

INSTINCTS OF THE DEER.

Where the deer is much hunted his ears become exceedingly acute. Mr. Van Dyke has seen one spring from his bed and run away at racehorse speed before he was within two hundred yards of the animal, although he had touched not a single bush or twig in approaching the game, and although he was positive that a man could not at twenty yards distance have heard the soft tread of moccasins on the light snow. Deer, too, are able to measure with intuitive correctness the distance and character of sounds. They will often lie all day within hearing of the normal noises of a settler's cabin, the sound of the woodman's axe and the shouts of the steamster. As a rule, too, the crash of a squirrel's jump, the roar of thunder, the snapping of trees with frost, their creaking or falling in the wind, does not alarm them in the least. Yet the faintest pressing of the leaves beneath the hunter's moccasin may instantly send them flying. A deer can also see a long way. On one occasion Mr. Van Dyke saw one watching a brother sportsman nearly a mile away, whose motions he could hardly himself make out. It is true that for recognizing an object at rest, the eyes of a deer are about as dull as those of a dog. If unalarmed, he will not distinguish a man from a stump on open ground, if the man is seated and perfectly motionless. On the other hand, to catch a motion, a deer's eyes are marvellously quick, and the fact that he is generally at rest while the hunter is moving gives him an immense advantage. Even the slow lifting of your head over a ridge, or the slow dragging of your limbs over the trunks of trees, or the slow advance of your creeping body along the ground, is almost instantly detected, unless the motion happens to be made while the deer have their heads down, feeding or walking.

PILES.

Piles are frequently preceded by a sense of weight in the back, loins and lower part of the abdomen, causing the patient to suppose he has some affection of the kidneys or neighboring organs. At times, symptoms of indigestion are present, as flatuency, uneasiness of the stomach, etc. A moisture, like perspiration, producing a very disagreeable itching, particularly at night after getting warm in bed, is a very common attendant. Internal, External and Itching Piles yield at once to the application of Dr. Bosanko's Pile Remedy, which acts directly upon the parts affected, absorbing the Tumors, allaying the intense itching, and effecting a permanent cure where all other remedies have failed. Do not delay until the drain on the system produces permanent disability, but try it and be cured. Price, 50 cents. Ask your druggist for it, and when you can not obtain it of him, we will send it, prepaid, on receipt of price. Address The Dr. Bosanko Medicine Co., Piqua, Ohio. Sold by C. B. Porter, Ward House Drug Store. july271y.

A COAL MINE SHAFT.

A mile or two from Pottsville, says a newspaper correspondent, is the chief coal shaft of this region, owned by the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company, and named the Pottsville Shaft. Though opened only a few years ago, it is famous throughout this whole country for the completeness of its machinery, its extraordinary depth, and the light shed by it on the shape and direction of the strata below. The perpendicular depth of the shaft is 1,576 feet—as I am told, the deepest coal mine on this continent. From its vast depths, almost a third of a mile down, two hundred cars holding about four tons each are lifted each day. The cars are run upon a platform and then the whole weight of say six tons hoisted at a speed that makes the head swim.

The time occupied in lifting a full car and at the same time letting down an empty one, through a distance of about one-third of a mile, is a little more than a minute and a quarter. A few figures will show that the cars pass up and down at the rate of about a mile in four minutes, fifteen miles an hour, or, say, the ordinary velocity of a freight train on a surface track. Standing on one of the levels, 1,000 feet down, the cars "snap" past, upward and down, with a speed so great that the human eye scarcely sees them as they pass.

The Belgian engine which does this lifting is a beautiful piece of mechanism, with its drum twenty feet in diameter, and its wire rope which has a thickness of two inches, coiled around a centre of hemp that allows a nicer adjustment of the wires when stretched by use. The dramatic figure of the engine-room is the engineer, a man picked for his skill, his steadiness and sobriety. Day after day throughout the year the fate of every miner hangs on his nerve and steadfast attention to duty.

Monotony must not make him careless, the strain of responsibility must not weary him; his eye must be quick for the signals far down in the mine, his hand must be true to its cunning in "slowing up" and "starting," on each of which depends his costly machinery, or, it may be, precious lives. Not often are the idea and ideal of duty more visibly incarnated than in this silent thoughtful fellow, his hand on the lever, his restless eye on the signals or his machinery, and his whole life of seemingly dull routine filled with care and accountability.

FREE OF COST.

By calling at C. B. Porter's Ward House drug store, you can get a sample bottle of Dr. Bosanko's Cough and Lung Syrup which will relieve the most obstinate Cough or Cold, and show you what the regular 50 cent size will do. When troubled with Asthma, Bronchitis, Dry, Hacking Cough, Pains in the Chest, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, try a sample bottle of this medicine. july271y.

A Small Story of Two Sons.—"Lemme tell yer," exclaimed old Nathan, arising at an educational meeting and addressing the assemblage, "dar aint half as much in eddycation as a man in a moment ob 'thusiasm mout promulgate. I raised two sons. Jim went ter school an' got a good eddycation, but Tom stayed at home an' neber looked inter a book, but yit he made a quicker showin' dan Jim." "How?" asked a chorus of voices. "Why he beat him inter de Penitentiary by two days," exclaimed the old man as he sat down with the air of one who feels that the weight of evidence is in his favor.—Opie Read.

CONSUMPTION.

It is said that 50,000 people die annually in the United States alone from this disease. In some sections of the country one death in every three is from Consumption. This can be, and should be avoided; our people are too careless about an ordinary cough or cold, and other symptoms of throat and lung affections that lead to this disease. You should arrest it while it is in the germ. Two or three doses of Dr. Bosanko's Cough and Lung Syrup will relieve an ordinary cough or cold. It does not dry up a cough like many preparations on the market and leave the disease behind it, but acts directly on the throat and bronchial tubes, removing all the phlegm and morbid matter that accumulates in the throat and lungs. It allays all irritation, and renders the voice clear and distinct. Sold by C. B. Porter's Ward House Drug Store. july271y.

My Dear Sir:—Promptly upon the receipt of your Elixir ten days since, I entered upon its use according to your directions, stopping my Iodid Potass., Phos. Ammon, and Wine of Colchium. At that time I was completely disabled with gout in both feet and rheumatism in both knees, and helpless. Now I comfortably hobble about the house, and expect to be out in a week. It may be a coincidence, my amendment and the use of your medicine. I hope for no occasion to try it again, but if need be I shall try it again in a fresh attack, with great confidence. DECAYED GENTRY.

Speaking of the poor, one of the most pitiable shapes in which poverty appears is found among the decayed gentry, writes a correspondent. Almost all the old families which held distinction a half century ago in this City are now reduced to destitution. This is one of the laws of society, and cannot be avoided. Many of this class are people of tone and refinement, who, like Milton, have "fallen on evil days." I know instances where some of this class are pensioned by kind relatives who are in better condition, in order to keep the family up. Often, on the other hand, we find the decayed gentry filling petty offices in libraries and public buildings, and earning a pittance sufficient to keep them from the street. The revolutions to which wealth and learning are subject are so rapid that it does not take long to bring the top to the bottom. The sad record is not limited to America. Walter Scott was glad to have his youngest son provided for by a Government clerkship in London, which he held till he died, and which alone saved him from pauperism.—New York Letter.

Delicate Females.

The exactions of society, added to the cares of maternity and the household, have tested beyond endurance the frail constitutions which have been granted the majority of women. To combat this tendency to premature decline, no remedy in the world possesses the nourishing and strengthening properties of Malt Bitters. They enrich the blood, perfect digestion, stimulate the liver and kidneys, arrest ulcerative weakness, and purify and vitalize every function of the female system.

A Cure for Diphtheria.—Put a teaspoonful of flour of brimstone in a wine glass full of water and stir with the finger instead of a spoon, as the sulphur does not amalgamate with water. When the sulphur is well mixed give it as a gargle, and in two minutes the patient is out of danger. Brimstone kills every species of fungus in man, beast or plant in a few minutes. Instead of spitting out the gargle, swallowing is better. In extreme cases when the fungus is too nearly closed to allow gargling, blow the sulphur through a quill into the throat, and after the fungus has shrunk follow with the gargling. If the patient cannot gargle take a live coal, put it on a shovel, and sprinkle a spoonful of brimstone upon it and let the sufferer inhale it by holding his head over it.

SKINEY MEN.

"Wells' Health Renewer" restores health and vigor, cures Dyspepsia, Impotence Sexual Debility.

How to Warm Cold Feet.—People who write or sew all day, or rather those who take but little exercise, may warm their cold feet without going to the fire. All that is necessary is to stand erect and very gradually to lift one's self up upon the tips of the toes, so as to put all the tendons of the foot at full strain. This is not to hop or to jump up and down, but simply to rise—the slower the better—upon tiptoe, and to remain standing on the point of the toes as long as possible, then gradually coming to the natural position. Repeat this several times, and, by the amount of work the tips of the toes are made to do, in sustaining the body's weight, a sufficient and lively circulation is set up. Even the half-frozen car driver can carry this plan out. It is one rule of the "Swedish movement" system, and, as motion warmth is much better than fire warming, persons who suffer with cold feet at night can try this plan just before retiring to rest.

He partook of it very liberally, but when he complained, a few days afterward, of a feeling of emptiness, little Johnny, who is one of the smartest boys in Austin, spoke up and said: "I know what makes you feel empty, pa. It is them big holes in the cheese you ate the other day."—Texas Siftings.

HAPPY DARKIES.

These black people who live in and around Beaufort, S. C., are eminently happy. They sing, they dance, they pick on the banjo. As I write by an open window that overlooks the river, I hear the faint swirling of the ebbing tide against the docks. It is dark on the river. There are a few points of light there where the boat lanterns are burning. Yonder, down the stream, the camp fires of the hands employed at the saw mill and the phosphate works burn brightly. A raft of hewn logs, that slowly drifted down with the ebb tide of yesterday, was snubbed up to a live oak tree a mile down the river, and the great fires, built on the earth hearths on the lumber raft glow red. The silence of death is over the river. Away off, probably at the saw mill, some two miles distant, I hear the faint notes of a banjo, cunningly struck. Softly it floats over the calm water. Now a strong, sweet voice begins singing. Another banjo twangs; more clear, powerful voices break into song; more banjos join in; still more voices. A wave of music rolls over the dark water and into town. There is life and joy and gayety on all the boats, at all the works, and the black people of the Sea Islands are happy.

—"Ada, what makes you such a bad girl?" "Well, mamma, God sent you just the best children he could find, and if they don't suit you I can't help it?"

—Young lover asks: "When is the best time to travel?" When you see the old man and his bulldog coming round the corner, sir, travel for all you are worth.

—An elephant on exhibition at Barnesville, Ga., was so enraged because a negro gave him a piece of tobacco that he struck the offender a fatal blow with his trunk.

—A young man bought an accordeon and took lessons. A month later his wife presented him with an heir. Not being able to hold its own the accordeon is offered for sale.

—"I told her I'd never smoke another cigar," he said softly, "and I won't! A pipe's plenty good enough for me," and he gracefully drew a match over the leg of his trowsers.

—"I like your new hat very much," he said. "It's 'chic' there's a sort of 'abandon.'—" "There isn't any sort of a band on it," she said, pouting. It's a real ostrich feather."

—Some boys played highwaymen at Green, Ill. The first man whom they had fun with carried a heavy cane and he struck a blow in dead earnest, fracturing the skull that it hit.

—When the girl who has encouraged a young man for two years suddenly turns round and tells him she can never be more than a sister to him, he for the first time can see the freckles on her nose.

—The eldest son of Mr. Rosenthal, banker of Bucharest, blew out his brains because he thought he had lost $1,000 of his father's Four days later his mother found the money in the lining of her son's coat.

—Judge Phelps, the new criminal magistrate of Baltimore, has already acquired the nickname of "Judge Terror." He holds court day and night and imposes the heaviest sentences which the law allows.

—The county of Pickens, in Alabama, is so overwhelmed with debt that it is almost impossible to even give away property there. A few days ago 365 acres of fine timber land and mill in good condition sold for $210, owing to the financial straits of the county.

—Pete, the grandfather of Mashesh, the Basuto chief, of South Africa, had the misfortune to be eaten by one of his friends, or enemies, the story does not say which. The cannibal was captured and brought before Mashesh, who was urged to kill him. "No," said Mashesh, "why should I disturb my grandfather's grave?"

THE MOST SUCCESSFUL REMEDY ever discovered, as it is certain in its effects and does not blister. Also excellent for human flesh. READ PROOF BELOW.
FROM COL. L. T. FOSTER.
Youngstown, Ohio, May 10th, 1880.
Dr. B. J. Kendall & Co.:—I had a very valuable Hambletonian colt which I prized very highly, he had a large bone spavin on one joint and a small one on the other which made him very lame; I had him under the charge of two veterinary surgeons which failed to cure him. I was one day reading the advertisement of Kendall's Spavin Cure in the Chicago Express, I determined at once to try it, and got our druggists here to send for it, they ordered three bottles; I took them all and thought I would give it a thorough trial, I used it according to directions and the fourth day the colt ceased to be lame, and the lumps have disappeared. I used but one bottle and the colts limbs are as free from lumps and as smooth as any horse in the state. He is entirely cured. The cure was so remarkable that I let two of my neighbors have the remaining two bottles, who are now using it.
Very Respectfully,
L. T. FOSTER.
Kendall's Spavin Cure
ON HUMAN FLESH.
Patten's Mills, Wash'ton co., N. Y., Feb. 21, 1878.
Dr. B. J. Kendall, Dear Sir:—The particular case on which I used your Kendall's Spavin Cure was a malignant ankle sprain of sixteen months standing. I had tried many things, but in vain. Your Spavin Cure put the foot to the ground again, and for the first time since hurt in a natural position. For a family liniment it excels anything we ever used.
Yours truly,
REV. M. P. BELL,
Pastor of M. E. Church, Pattens Mills, N.Y.
