Patent for Invention of Window Shade.—Patent for Invention of Window Shade, by E. Barker, P. Castree. This ingenious little contrivance will be welcomed to the home of every lady in the land.

tion, like a fire-bell in the night, awakened me and shined me with terror. I considered it at once as the knell of the Union. It is hushed, indeed, for the moment, but it is a reprieve only, not a final sentence.

A Great Discovery.—It has been discovered by thousands of house-keepers in different sections of the country that D. B. DeLani & Co's Chemical Saleratus is the only Saleratus that will produce a uniform result and give perfect satisfaction.

Every Pennsylvanian will read with delight the accounts of the gallantry displayed by the brave Fifty-First Regiment, in the late charge of General Burdette's division upon the strong fortifications that surrounded Newbern.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—The President on Thursday approved the additional article of war which goes into immediate operation, namely: prohibiting officers of the United States from employing any of the force under their respective commands, for the purpose of returning fugitives from service and labor.

Several Federal officers while on service lately in the vicinity of the Ripabianock, were captured by the rebels.

Gov. SPRAGUE ON SLAVERY.—The Mirror publishes extracts from what purports to be a speech of Gov. SPRAGUE, of Rhode Island, and commands them, especially, to the Democrats.

At Manassas the secret agents of this Government succeeded in securing at the late headquarters of Gens. Beauregard and Johnston, a large number of documents in reference to the numerical strength and condition of the rebel army.

ARRIVAL OF CONTRABANDS.—The Philadelphia papers of Saturday announce the arrival of ninety-seven escaped slaves on the day previous, in that city, and the expected arrival of more on Saturday.

THE UNION AND THE CONSTITUTION.—The Union and the Constitution, a new work, is published by the American Union and American principles, and is a liberal offer.
