

Terrible Mistake.

An individual in Louisville, a short time since, made, was thought, an imprudent display, in one of the coffee houses, of his money, which was observed by two sharpers, who, when the stranger left in a hack, followed, overtook him and demanded his money. He paused for a time, and finally exhibited his stock on hand, which proved to be counterfeit. He had also a large quantity of false keys and other implements belonging to the trade. His assailants were not a little surprised when they found him to be a "brother chip."

ACQUITTED.—At the late term of the Oyer and Terminer, in Bloomfield, Pa., Anson Barton, who stood indicted for manslaughter, was tried and acquitted.

GOOD WORK.—One hundred and twenty-two barrels of an extra brand of superior flour, were made in eight successive hours, by a mill at Rochester, N. Y., with three run of stones, in a few days since. This is equal to 122 bbls. by each run for a day of 24 hours.

The Country Church Yard: A History of Facts.

In a grave yard situated in a wild rural place, about a mile from a little village in this vicinity, stands a very neat granite monument. It is the only monument in the yard, and stands by itself, over a solitary grave, apart from all other graves. The history of that monument, which is known, probably, to many of our readers, is interesting and melancholy, in the extreme. It marks the spot where lies buried the young wife of one of the young men of the village. He was married a few years since, to one who seemed in every way calculated to make him happy. At that time the prospects of the young couple bid fair for a long life of happiness and usefulness. In a year or two after their marriage the small pox broke out and raged in the neighborhood. The young wife was attacked with this dreadful disease and became its victim. The fears of the community prevented her friends from attending her during her sickness. Her husband, her physician, and one or two attendants were the only persons who were present to soothe down her dying pillow. The same fears took away the accustomed forms of a Christian burial. A spot for her grave was pointed out, in the grave yard remote from other graves, by the proper authorities and at the dark hour of night, with none present but the husband, the physician and one or two fearless friends the burial took place. There was no long train of kindred to witness the ceremony; the afflicted husband was the only relative, who, at the burial, ventured to shed the last tear over the grave of the loved and the departed.

The young man found in the death of his young wife, and the circumstances attending it, a blow which weighed him down in sorrow. A little child though constantly exposed during the sickness of his mother, escaped and remained to lessen his grief. Time came slowly on, offering its services to heal the wounds of the husband; time could somewhat assuage his grief, but could not heal his wounded heart. Nothing but cold oblivion could have caused him to forget the object of his earliest affection, or to cease to shed frequent tears over her memory.

Months rolled on, and black melancholy still brooded over the young man, but soon loosened its hold, somewhat. Sorrow still remained, but it was soon mingled with resignation. He resumed his accustomed occupation, and seemed to forget the past. The past was not forgotten, however, nor the object which the past had endeared to him. The grave of his wife was solitary and alone. Over that grave he resolved to erect a monument to her memory. That monument, although a blacksmith by trade, he chose to plan and work with his own hands. He procured the rough blocks of granite and commenced his pleasing task. Every leisure hour he could obtain was spent on his favorite work. No other head planned and no other hand, than his own, executed. Month after month, alone and unaided, with no knowledge of the art except what nature had taught him, sometimes at noon-day and sometimes at night when others had left their tasks, he toiled on, until his work was completed. That monument, which, as a specimen of art, is exceedingly fine, and would be an ornament even in Mount Auburn, now marks out the grave of his wife. While it serves to call to mind the memory of the dead, it speaks also of the constancy and purity of affection which death and time could not destroy.

A WRETCHED SCENE.—The Rev. Mr. Phelps preached a sermon in one of the churches of Boston on Sunday forenoon last, in behalf of the Boston City Missionary Society, from the text, "There yet remaineth much land to be possessed." Among other cases which had come under the notice of the agents of the Society, he related the following incident as having occurred within a few days, and been witnessed by one of the City Missionaries. In a miserable hovel of a house which he entered he found a man lying dead, with some of the deadly drunk about him. In the same room with the corpse a couple were being married—the bride-groom wearing the very clothes which the dead man just cast off, and every thing was going on very merrily, as though it was a jovial time.—Saltem Gazette.

Review of the Markets.

Philadelphia, April 23, 1842.

Flour and Meal.—There has been but a moderate demand for Superfine Flour. In the beginning of the week, about 1500 bbls. were sold at $5.50, and a sale of about 800 was made at $5.62 1/2 for Perina brands, which price factors now mostly ask. The transactions in Penna. Corn Meal this week have been considerable. Sales of 300 puncheons, and upwards of 2000 bbls. have been made, the prices not made public, but at a decline. Penn. in bbls. has been sold at $2.62 1/2, and it is presumed that a great proportion of the sales have been at this price. We quote Penn. in bbls. at $2.62 1/2 a 2.75; and hds. $13 a 13.25. The receipts of Flour continue small.

Grain.—There continues to be a moderate demand in the market. 3000 bushels Penn. Wheat afloat brought $1.25, and 1000 bushels Illinois in store sold at the same price. Sales of 5000 or 6000 bushels Penn. at $1.23 a 1.25 afloat, and a prime lot of Southern in store at $1.25. The operations in Corn are to a fair extent, and prices looking up. Sales of Penn. and yellow at 61 a 62; yellow Southern we quote at 56 a 58 cts., white do. at 54c., with sales; Oats are heavy at 41 a 43 cts. The receipts of grain are still limited. Rye was sold in New York this week for Philadelphia and the Eastward, to the amount of several thousand bushels, at 58 a 60 cents.

Flour and Meal.—The market here for Genesee Flour since our last has continued extremely dull, and we cannot learn that any sales of the least importance have been made. Troy is 6 1-4 cts lower, sales to a fair extent having been effected at $6.18 3-4. 200 bbls. Ohio via New-Orleans brought $5.73 3-4, from the vessel. Southern is dull, with occasional sales for shipment and the Eastern ports; the stocks generally, however, are light, and holders for the most part firm. 500 bbls. Brandywine, in store, sold at $5.81 1-4; 500 bbls. Baltimore City Mills, from the wharf, at $5.75; and 150 bbls. Richmond Country, $5.75. Richmond City Mills is scarce and wanted. 200 bbls. Jersey Rye Flour sold yesterday at $3.25. Jersey Corn Meal, in bbls. sold at $3, and cannot be had for less; 50 hds Brandywine sold at $14.50 cash.

Wheat continues scarce and wanted at $1.26 a $1.27. A parcel of 1000 bushels Jersey was offered yesterday at $1.28, but remained unsold. Northern Rye has advanced a shade, with sales of 2,500 bushels at 60 a 61 cents, which we now quote as the current market rate; 1000 bushels Jersey sold at 59 cents. Nothing done in Barley. Oats have been in better request, and as the stock has become moderate, an improvement in prices has been realized.—We quote inferior to prime Northern 43 a 45 cents; Jersey 38 a 42; and Southern 40 a 43 cents. Corn comes in slowly, and prices, with a good demand for the Eastern ports, gradually tend upward. We notice sales of 470 sacks New-Orleans, previous to arrival, at 57 cents, weight; 1000 bushels of the same, on the spot, 58; 3000 bushels Southern 61 a 62 1-2; 600 Yellow Jersey 64; 3,500 White do, 62 1-2, all measure, and 750 Northern Yellow, the latter for distilling, 62 1-2, weight.

Beef Cattle.—100 head of beef cattle were left over from last week, 1000 brought in since—of which 750 were from the South; the greater part of the others from this State, and a few from the East. A large proportion of the cattle were of ordinary quality, selling at $4 a $6 per 100 lbs., and there were none extra fine. The best brought $7 a $7.50. The average of all the sales was about $5. It was called on the whole a dull market.

Milk Cows.—There were 40 cows with calves in market from Pennsylvania and New Jersey, and all but 10 were sold at $20 a $35.

Sheep.—There were 475 in market, and 400 were sold. Some very fine brought $5 50 per head, and some, sheared, sold at $1 50; others ranged from $2 to $4 50, according to quality.
