IST

Hease to Indian

he arti. eral use

icine at ak very

s being another

use of

ng you

K,

ork.

idiana.

knowl

DIAN

how to

haust.

of here

range.

ie In-

you

PRINTED AND PUBLISHED BY THEODORE SCHOCH.

MS.—Two dollars per annum in advance—Two dollars quarter, half yearly,—and if not paid before the end of ear, Two dollars and a half. Those who receive their s by a carrier or stage drivers employed by the proprie-vill be charged 7 1-2 cts, per year, extra.

papers discontinued until all arrearages are paid, except option of the Editor.

Advertisements not exceeding one square (sixteen lines) inserted three weeks for one dollar: twenty-five cents ery subsequent insertion: larger ones in proportion. A l discount will be made to yearly advertisers. All letters addressed to the Editor must be post paid.

NEW ESTABLISHMENT. Wholesale and Retail N AND SHEET IRON WARE MANUFACTORY, Stroudsburg, Monroe county, Pa.

he subscriber respectfully informs the citiof Stroudsburg and the public generally, he has opened a shop on Elizabeth street, rly opposite William Eastburn's store, where intends keeping constantly on hand, and will nufacture to order, all articles in his line of iness, such as TIN-WARE in all its variety, Stove Pipes and Drums of all sizes, Spouts for Dwelling Houses and other Buildings.

Also,-very superior Russian and American Sheet Iron, nich he will manufacture into every shape to purchasers, &c. &c.

As the subscriber is a mechanic himself, and ploys none but first-rate workmen, the pubmay rest assured that his work is done in best and most workmanlike manner; and he spectfully solictits a share of public patron-

Come and see for yourselves, before you pur

IF PEWTER and LEAD, taken in ex ange for work, and all kinds of REPAIRING the Copper, Tin, and sheet Iron Business one at the shortest notice. WANDEL BREIMER.

May 4, 1942 .-- if.

TAILORING. Mrs. Smith & Miss Stites,

Respectfully inform the citizens of Strondsorg and vicinity, that they have commenced he above business in Elizabeth street, at the hop formerly occupied by Charles Smith, dec'd, there they will be happy to receive orders for ll kinds of work in the Tailoring Line; and there they will devote their best efforts to he accommodation of their patrons. With an xperience in the business of no inconsiderable ength---a determination to adhere strictly to heir promises -- and a resolution never to make inreasonable charges, they flatter themselves hat they will receive a fair proportion of the Country produce of all kinds, taken in pay ment for work.

Stroudsburg, April 20, 1843.

custom of the neighborhood.

DR. LANING, SURGEON DENIST, Late of Philadelphia,

Offers his professional services to the Ladies and Gentlemen of Stroudsburg, and its vicinity. He inserts "Stocktons premium Porcelain teeth" upon the most scientific principles. Teeth filed, leansed of all tartar, mucus, and other vicous substances, and filled firmly with gold or other metals. The most excruciating "toothache," when the nerve is exposed, will be completely cured in a few minutes, and the tooth repaired and brought to its former usefulness, by which the patient is spared the unpleasant, and painful operation of extracting. It is a well established fact, that the retaining of teeth in the mouth, in a carious or decayed state, as well as the operation of extracting is very injurious to the constitution.

A Dentifrice of superior quality, and lotion, for cleansing teeth, and restoring acorbutical gums, medicinals for curing inflamations of the periosteums, or swollen face, &c. &c. (prepared,) and all the curative operations in Dental Surgery performed. Should any of his operations fail, they will be promptly repaired without any extra com-

His residence is one door west of Dr. Vail's, and directly opposite the Library. The following testimonials are most respectfully submitted. "We the undersigned having received demonstrations of the professional skill of Dr. J. W Laning, Surgeon Deutist, do most cheerfully recommend him to public attention as a careful and scientific operator. J. Hains, M. D. J. M. Cole, M. D.

A. Gurard, M. D. M. Neal, Surg. Dentist. Anthony Burton. E. Sutton.

Of Philadelphia and Burlington city's.

E. M. Richardson. C. Tharp.

> BLANK DEEDS For sale at this office.

ODES

Sung at the Stroudsburg Temperance Celebradence. July 4, 1842.

1st.

Tune-Missionary Hymn. How long shall virtue languish? How long shall folly reign? While many a heart with anguish Is weeping o'er the slain? How long shall dissipation Her deadly waters pour, Throughout this favored nation, Her millions to devour?

When shall the veil of blindness Fall from the sons of wealth, Restoring human kindness And industry, and health? When shall the charms so luring, Of bad example cease; The ends at once securing, Of industry and peace?

We hail with joy unceasing The band whose pledge is given; Whose numbers are increasing, Amid the smiles of heaven; Their virtues never failing, Shall lead to brighter days, When TEMPERANCE prevailing, Shall fill the earth with praise.

2nd. National Ode.

Tune-America. OUR country's banners play, On this her natal day With every breeze; Her happy millions throng, With joy, and feast and song, And gladness wakes along Her farthest seas:

But list, that wo-waked note! Its echoes onward float, Lake tempest's sound: Of death-despair it tells! It nearer, deeper swells, As 'twere some demon's yells, In darkness bound.

On to the battle field! Grasp virtue's sword and shield: Contend like men; Quail not when demons shriek: Let terror blanch no cheek! Bid freedom's watchword speak From mount and glen!

Here at her altar swear Your country's ark to tear From despot's hand: Contend like men---be brave--Your holy birthright save! Roll back that deadly wave Which sweeps the land!

3rd.

Tune-Bruce's Address. RIENDS of freedom! swell the song; Young and old, the strain prolong, Make the temp'rance army strong, And on to victory.

Lift your banners, let them wave, Onward march a world to save; Who would fill a drunkard's grave, And bear his infamy?

Shrink not when the foe appears; Spurn the coward's guilty fears; Hear the shrieks, behold the tears Of ruin'd families!

Raise the cry in every spot-"Touch not-Taste not-Handle not," Who would be a drunken sot, The worst of miseries?

Give the aching bosom rest; Carry joy to every breast; Make the wretched drunkard blest, By living soberly.

Raise the glorious watchword high ... " Touch not --- Taste not till ye die!" Let the echo reach the sky, And earth keep jubilee.

God of mercy hear us plead, For thy help we intercede! See how many bosoms bleed! And heal them speedily.

Hasten, Lord, the happy day, When beneath thy gentle ray, TEMP BANCE all the world shall sway. And reign triumphantly.

The Village Prize.

In one of the loveliest villages in old Virginia, there lived in the year 175- an old man whose daughter was declared by universal consent, to be the loveliest maiden in all the coun-

The veteran in his youth had been athletic and muscular above all his fellows, and his breast, where he always wore them, could show the adornment of three medals, received by him for his victories in gymnastic feats when a young as if they heartily wished him success.

ed by the old man, who became at last a by- ward. word for his obstinacy among the young men of the village and neighborhood.

tion of the Anniversary of our National Indepen- youth of the country to a haymaking frolic .-- joy. amoured swain with her own fair hands.

jewel they all coveted, as leaning on their pitch- attracted the eyes of the village maidens, and ous visitor. Every moment or two she would forks they assembled round the door in the cool his manly and sinewy frame, in which sym- steal a glance at his commanding features, and of the evening, "now, my lads, you have nearly metry and strength were happily united, called half doubtingly, half assured, shake her head all of you made proposals for my Annette .--- forth the admiration of the young men. Now, you see, I don't care anything about momy old woman by beating the smartest man on assented to by a general murmur. ter without jumping for her. You understand is there a prize for the winner?" me, boys. 'There's the green, and here's An- "Annette, the loveliest and wealthiest of our nette," he added, taking his daughter who stood village maidens, is to be the reward of the victimidly behind him, by the hand. "Now, the tor," cried one of the judges. one that jumps the furtherest on a dead level shall marry Annette this very night."

the children their noisy sports --- the slaves their girl, sir-look at her and make your trial." labor, and the old men their armchairs and long pipes, to witness and triumph in the success of den about to be offered on the altar of her fathhim and the fair Annette. Carroll had won the imploring glance.

The arena allotted for this hymenial contest kind, and a hard surface of sand, more befitting fate of the lovers. for the purpose to which it was to be used, sup-win,) with three other patriarchial villagers, leaper's true patent of nobility. were the judges appointed to decide upon the "cleared," to use the leaper's phraseology, her father's arm, pale and distressed. twenty-one feet and one inch.

men stepped into the arena.

a laugh, turned away and replaced his coat. "Harry Preston, nineteen feet and three in-acres and the homestead " fall in love with his good temper rather than so honorably won." his legs. Charley, however, made trial of the The youth sprang forward and grasped his tues and all common industry, and the mad de-apeared, as they called to mind the mutual love and spurred at a brisk trot through the village. of the last competitor and the sweet Annette,

Henry stepped to his post with a firm tread. His daughter was now eighteen, and had been His eye glanced with confidence around upon sought in marriage by many suitors. One the face of Annette, as if to catch aid from that this, and another that. But they were all refus- with a proud smile upon his lip he bounded for-his charming daughter, who was as amiable Carroll forever. Annette and Harry." Hands, when an advance courier rode up and announ-thousand fold dearer.

morning of that day her father invited all the of the delighted Annette which sparkled with suit, informing that he should crave his hospi-

Seventeen handsome and industrious young men When Henry Carroll moved to his station to were given in reference to the household preassembled. They came not only to make hay, strive for the prize, a tall, gentlemanly young parations, and Colonel Carroll ordered his but also love to the fair Annette. In three man in a military undress frock coat, who had hours they had filled the father's barns with the rode up to the min, and joined the spectators un- house the distinguished guest whom he had newly dried grass, and Annette, by her father's perceived while the contest was going on, step- never yet seen, although serving in the same command, had brought the malt liquor of her ped suddenly forward, and with a knowing eye own brewing, which she presented to each en- measured deliberately the space accomplished table, Annette, who had now become dignified. "Now, my boys," said the old keeper of the village. His handsome face and easy address not keep her eyes from the face of her illustriney or talents, book learning nor soldier learn- beat that," said one of the bystanders, remark- became evident to her husband, who inquired ing --- I can do as well by my gal as any man in ing the manner in which the eye of the strangthecountry. Now you know, or ought to know, or scanned the arena. "If you can leap beyond and sworn it that no man shall have my daugh- this pastime?" inquired the youthful stranger, "or ance.' 'And he smiled with a mysterious air,

"Are the lists open to all?"

This unique address was received by the te, with interest, his youthful ardor rising as he inquiry fixed full upon him, stood for a moment young men with applause. And many a youth surveyed the proportions of the strait-limbed with her lips parted as if she would speak. as he bounded gaily forward to the arena of young stranger. "She is the bride of him who trial, cast a glance of anticipated victory back out-leaps young Carroll. If you will try, you Colonel-I must put an end to this scene. I upon the levely object of village chivalry. The are free to do so. But let me tell you, Harry have become, by dint of camp fare and hard maidens left the looms and quilting frames Carroll has no equal in Virginia. Here is my usage, too unwieldy to leap again twenty-two the victor. All prophesied and many wished it er's unconquerable monomania, with an admirmight be young Carroll. He was the happiest ring eye. The poor girl looked at Harry, who and best humored youth in the village, and all stood near, with a troubled brow and angry eye, knew that a strong attachment existed between and then turned upon the new competitor an

the sine qua non of a man's cleverness, this er around his waist, and taking the appointed Henry and Annette.

"Twenty-two feet and an inch!" shouted the was a level place in front of the village inn, judge. The announcement was reported with and near the centre of the grass plat, reserved surprise by the spectators, who crowded around in the midst of the village denominated "the the victor filling the air with congratulations, green." The verdure was quite worn off at not unmingled, however, with loud murmurs ceeding richness of the gold mine recently disthis place by previous excreises of a similar from those who were nearly interested in the covered on the land of Hon. John C. Calhoun,

The father of this lovely, blushing, and with- felt prouder of him than if he were a prince .-

stranger's language.

latter's capabilities, and lost. Many refused to hand with gratitude, and the next moment An- sire it begets in the minds of all of becoming enter the list altogether. Others made trial, nette was weeping for joy upon his shoulders. instantly rich are fatal to all high attainments and only one of the leapers yet cleared twenty The welkin rang with the acclamations of the in worthy objects of national or personal ambidelighted villagers, and amid the temporary ex- tion. Long may our sister State of Georgia "Now," cried the villagers, "let's see Henry citement produced by this act, the stranger be delivered from this clinging curse. N. Y Carroll. He ought to beat this;" and every one withdrew from the crowd, mounted his horse Tribune.

That night Henry and Annette were married, and the health of the mysterious and noble to trade wives as it is to trade horses! stranger was drunk in overflowing bumpers of rustic beverage.

In the process of time there was born unto night. brought wealth- another a fine person--another spirit and assurance which she met his own, the married pair sons and daughters, and Henry Carroll had become Colonel Henry Carroll of the revolutionary army.

multitude, repeating the announcement of the a hard campaign, he was sitting with his family dies are not only infinitely more intoxicating At length the nineteenth birth day of Annette, Judges. "Twenty-one fect and a half---Henry on the gallery of his handsome country house, than wine, but he has moreover found them a and modest as she was beautiful, arrived. The caps, and handkerchiefs waved over the eyes ced the approach of General Washington and tality for the night. The necessary directions horse, rode forward to meet and escort to his widely extended army: That evening at the by the last leaper. He was a stranger in the matronly and still handsome Mrs. Carroll, could and look again, to be still more pozzled. Her "Mayhap, sir, stranger, you think you can absence of mind and embarrassment at length affectionately if she was ill.

"I suspect, Colonel," said the General, who when I was a youngster I could beat any man Henry Carroll you'll beat the best man in the had been some time, with a quite meaning in old Virginia in the way of leaping. I got colonies." The truth of this observation was smile, observing the lady's curious and puzzled survey of his features--"that Mrs. Carroll the Eastern shore, and I have took the oath "Is it for mere amusement you are pursuing thinks she recognizes in me an old acquaintas he gazed upon both alternatively.]

> The Colonel started, and a faint memory of the past seemed to be revived as he gazed, while the lady rose impulsively from her chair and bending eagerly forward over the tea urn, "All, young sir," replied the father of Annet- with clasped hands and an eye of intense eager

"Pardon me, my dear madam-pardon me, feet one inch, even for so fair a bride as one I

The recognition, with the surprise, delight and happiness that followed, are left to the imagination of the reader.

General Washington was indeed the handsome young leaper, whose mysterious appearreputation of being the "best leaper," and in a Placing his coat in the hands of one of the ance and disappearance in the native village of country where such athletic achievements were judges he drew a sash he wore beneath it tight- the lovers, is still traditionary-and whose claim to a substantial body of bona fide flesh was no ordinary honor. In a contest like the stand, made apparently without effort the bound and blood, was stoutly contested by the village present, he had, therefore, every advantage over that was to decide the happiness or misery of story tellers, until the happy denouncement which took place at the hospitable mansion of Col. Carroll.

Gold in Georgia.

We see in Southern papers notices of the exin Lumpkin, co., Georgia. Three weeks' The old man approached, and grasping his work, it is stated, by sixteen men, produced hand exultingly called him his son, and said he 7,816 pennyweights of pure gold--worth something more than $6,000. It has been visited al happy prize, (for she well knew who would Physical activity and strength were the old by a number of scientific gentlemen, who on one occasion descended about fifty feet into the Resuming his coat, the victor sought with his hill, and dug out a quantity of the vein ore .-claims of the several competitors. The last eye the fair prize he had, although nameless After pulverizing it, about five quarts yielded time Carroll tried his skill in this exercise, he and unknown, so fairly won. She leaned upon two hundred and sixty pennyweights of pure gold, worth about $200. On another occasion Her lover stood aloof, gloomy and mortified, the same quantity yielded three hundred and The signal was given, and by lot the young admiring the superiority of the stranger in an forty pennyweights; and the labors of the comexercise in which he prided himself as unrival- pany for a single day yielded 1,463 dwts .--"Edward Grayston, seventeen feet," cried led, while he hated him for his success. "An- worth more than a thousand dollars. The disone of the judges. The youth had done his ut- nette, my pretty prize," said the victor, taking covery creates great enthusiasm among the most. He was a pale, intellectual student .-- her passive hand --- "I have won you fairly." --- people of the State, and we share the fears of But what had intellect to do with such an are- Annette's cheek turned paler than marble; she some discreet Southern papers, that it will na? Without a look at the maiden, he left the trembled like an aspen leaf, and clung closer to prove a fruitful source of ills unnumbered. We her father, while her weeping eye sought the have the authority of all experience for saying "Dick Boulden, nineteen feet." Dick, with form of her lover. His brow grew dark at the that no country which depends, in any considerable degree, upon gold and silver mines found "I have won you. my pretty flower, to make within its borders for high prosperity, will ever ches." "Well done, Harry Preston," shouted you a bride! tremble not so violently; I mean attain it. Mexico, one of the richest countries the spectators, "you have tried hard for the not myself, however proud I might be," he ad- in the world in mines of the precious metals, is ded with gallantry, "to wear so fair a gem next at this day among the poorest in all that makes Harry also laughed and declared he only my heart. Perhaps," and he cast his eyes round a nation truly wealthy. Virginia has had some jumped for the fun of the thing. Harry was inquiringly, while the current of life leaped joy- experience in this matter. The natural tendena raule-brained fellow, but never thought fully to her brow, and a murmur of surprise ran cy of depending upon the products of these of matrimony. He loved to walk, and talk, through the crowd--- perhaps there is some fa- mines for wealth is evil and destructive. It and laugh and romp with Annette, but sober vored youth among the competitors, who has a engenders habits of indolence, begets false, unmarriage never came into his head. He only higher claim to this jewel. Young sir," he founded hopes, implants in the mind an averjumped for the fun of the thing. He would continued, turning to the surprised Henry, "me- sion to that more toilsome and tardy mode of not have said so, if he were sure of winning. thinks you were the victor in the lists before acquiring riches which must be the great de-"Charley Simms, fifteen feet and a half." --- me-I strove not for the maiden, though one pendence of the mass, diverts labor, capital and Huzzah for Charley! Charley'll win!" cried could not well strive for a fairer-but from love skill from their appropriate and useful channels the crowd good humoredly. Charley Simms of the manly sport in which I saw you engag. and then often burst, like other bubbles, and inwas one of the cleverest fellows in the world. ed. You are the victor, and as such, with the volves the thousands who have trusted it in His mother had advised him to stay at home, permission of this worthy assembly, receive hopeless ruin. Still more to be dreaded is it and told him if he ever won a wife, she would from my hand the prize you have so well and if successful. The habits of luxury it induces, the contempt into which it sink all manly vir-

John, how I wish it was as much the fashion

Why so, Peter? I'd cheat somebody most shockin' bad afore

The editor of a Southern paper objects to the substitution of ladies for wine at our public din-"Twenty-one feet and a half!" shouted the One evening, having just returned home after ners. He declares as his experience, that la-