When the military left the church, the authorities of the district of Southwark took possession of it; and, at their request, the Judges of the Court of Quarter Sessions organized a Court in presence of the crowd. Judge Jones addressed those present, and exhorted them to neace, decorum, and an observance of the laws. The meeting were open in their manifestation el applause, and appeared to be fully satisfied with the proceedings.

His Excellency, Governor Porter, complying with the request of the authorities, arrived in the city at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and put up at the American House, Che-nut street, opposite Independence Hall.

About 5 P. M .- Two or three Irishmen in the vicinity of Queen and Third streets, who were heard to express violent language, were roughly treated by the mob. One of them, named James McCann, was very badly beaten.

A very large number of troops, from the country, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon, and reported themselves to the Major-General, at his head quarters. Among these was a large number of cavalry, horse, and foot tifle.

8 1-2 P. M .- At 6 1-2 P. M. there were not ra township, numbered one hundred and fiftymore than four hundred persons in the immedi- atne (159) in the Warrantee name of Abraham ate vicinity of the church in Queen street. The church was in the possession of a large body of the police of the District of Southwark, headed by the constituted authorities. They wore white badges, with the proper designation printed upon them.

The excitement had greatly subsided, but still groups of some ten or twenty persons were standing at different points, holding somewhat belligerent conversation.

The indications generally gave assurance that the worst was over, and that no farther Milford, June 20, 1844. outbreak was intended.

9 P. M .- The crowd somewhat increased, yet still there was no indications of a renewal of the dreadful scenes of Sunday night.

The military were quietly reposing at their different quarters in the city and county.

Governor Porter issued a general order last evening, regretting the present occurrences, and calling on the people to support the laws.

Half-past 10 o'cluck, all is quiet. The Natives have several pieces of cannon in the Wharton Market, and are mustered strong .----They openly say, they are only waiting for the military. They are well organized --- have ap- Bottle Green, pointed officers, and are in good drill. There
