12 Copies to Clubs for $20. THE COLUMBIAN MAGAZINE, FOR 1845.

EDITED BY JOHN INMAN AND ROBERT A. WEST, Prospectus for the Second Year.

At the close of his second volume, the magazine having been commenced on the first of January, 1844, the publisher finds himself intesistably called on to express the satisfaction and gratitude with which he has been filled by the brilliant and unexampled success that has attended his ondeavors to win the public favor. Netwithstanding the difficulties, disappointments and vertices that almost invariably follow the establishment of a new periodical, in the production of which there must be the harmonious co-operation of nearly heads and many hands- notwithstanding occasional short-comings, especially in the pictorial department, which no care or diligence could avert and no expenditure prevent, the Columbian Magazine has gone on steadily increasing in support and popularity from the opening number, and if the unbought unsolicited testimony of the presmay be received as unswayed by partiality and unbiassed by friendship, the efforts of contributors and editors have been satisfactory to the public and accepted as fulfilling the promises made for them at the commencement of the enterprise.

The publisher undertook the work with a firm conviction that the great city of New York way the best and the true home for a magazine of geaeral literature; that notwithstanding the failure of many previous attempts to establish such a work. there could be no impossibility of success with sufficient capital, perseverance and the right system of management both by publisher and editor : stimulated by this conviction he embarked in the enterprize and the result of the first year has proved. that his judgment was correct.

It has long ceased to be necessary, or reasonable, that we should speak of the Columbian as an experiment. At all events, it is now an experiment substantially tried. We feel ourselves upo a as firm a basis as any similar journal in the world Our principal cares now regard not so much the securing what ground we have gained (for we consider this sufficiently secure) as the extension of our sphere of action and utility--not so much, even, the mere enlargement of our subscription-list, as the most suitable modes of catering for the amusement (and shall we say occasionally for the profit !) of our subscribers in the present and in the future-the many whom we have, and the many more we shall undoubtedly have as time rolls ou.

do We have made atrangements which will enable us to present our friends with embellishments of very superior taste, style and finish. In this respect it is our firm purpose, if possible, to outvie all competition. Our music and engravings, we confidently believe, will not be equalled-very certainly they shall not be surpassed in real merit. by those of any other magazine. We propose to give, each month, two or more superb engravings, independently of two pages of music by the most eminent composers, and plate of anthentic fashious. UMBRELIEAS CHEAP Regarding the literary and editorial conduct of the Columbian, the publisher does not feel called upon to say more than a very few words. The general management of this department is confided to the gentleman who has hitherto given abundant. Umbrellas, Parasols, & Sun Shades, evidence, not only of the highest ability to put forth a meritorious magazine and one exactly adapted to the tastes of all readers, with whom is Invite the attention of Merchants, Manufactuassociated another gentleman of ability and experers, &c. &c., to their very Extensive, rience. The publisher, therefore, has every confidence that what has already been done for the literary value of this journal, will be done again.
