PETER W. PARKE .- It is generally known that Peter W. Parke, for some time previous to his execution, was engaged in writing a statement of the circumstances connected with his trial and conviction. A day or two before he died, he statement of its contents, which will no doubt, be read with interest, although it throws no additional light upon the transaction:

For the Warren Journal.

An interest having been very generally telt and expressed to know the contents of certain writings left by Peter W. Parke who was recently executed in Belvidere, N. J .- and the undersigned having, in compliance with the wish of the widow of said Parke, examined said writings-it is thought not improper to gratify the public wish, and with the consent of Mrs. Parke. to acquaint the community with the purport of these writings :

The principal and almost the only writing left by Peter W. Parke for his widow. is a manuscript of about fifty foolscap pa ges not very closely written. In this, and in the other writings examined by the subscribers, they found nothing like a confession of guilt, in any manner or degree, of the crime for which he suffered death.

ow has under consideration, the expedien cy of publishing the above mentioned prin cipal manuscript; inasmuch as her husband requested that at some suitable time after his death, and perhaps after the conclusion of the investigations of the Chagewater murders, his writing concerning them should be made public.

In connection with the matters detailed in the manuscript, the subscribers found the following, viz:

manner in which the news of the murder punctuality. first came to Perer W. Parke, and of what he then did, and how he got to the place of Hamilton tsp., Aug. 7, 1845 -- t. e. the murder: -also a description of what appeared in and around the sink-hole on the morning after the murder.

way the murder had, from appearances, fice of been perpetrated; and account of how certain conversation which there took place: - and when and how he returned

3. A brief narrative how suspicions fell upon some individuals, and what kind of efforts were made by himself and others to discover who were the murderers :-- a de tail of some reasons for suspecting a Mr. Atkinson who since died from injuries rereived as is supposed in a certain fracas: in the case of Joseph Carter.

4. Some outline of the manner and in strumentalities in an through which suspiand how it disturbed his mind.

5. Declarations of his innocence of the dreabled crime for which he was tried and hones which, especially in the earlier stages of his trials, he entertained that he would be acquitted.

6. A brief examination of the character and testimony of some of the principle impressions produced upon his mind both by the evidence and the charge at his trial in Warran County.

7. His grateful sense of the services of the counsel who argued the case in his behalf.
