A Remarkable Bee Hive.

The St. Louis, Mo., American says :- A lady rented a house in this city, a few weeks since, and shortly after she moved into it, she saw honey-bees crawling about the floor. A length she found that they came down the chimney. After having made a fire, a humming noise was heard in a flue which ran parallel with one from her room, the fire-place of which is below. Her sons examined the top of the chimney, and to their utter astonishment, found the flue filled with honey, to within a few inches of the top of the chimney. From the sound of the bees below, the honey must extend to the depth of twenty feet. Whenever the family wish to enjoy a delicious repast, they have only to send up the chimney-blow a little tobacco smoke in the flue, which drives the bees below, and with a knife cut off as much honeycomb as they wish, and that of the nicest kind. The flue of the chimney in which the honey is, extends to the basement, and has never been used.

A LIVE ANECDOTE. - A man was handed a dollar note of the new State Bank of Ohio, in market, the other day, and he exclaimed. "That's it-that is the real Polk money-good as old gold." "Why," said a bystander, "what has Polk to do with that money ?- the law under which that money was issued was passed by the Whig Legislature of Ohio." "You needn't think to fool this child that way," said that very bill? No, no, you don't fool me with your Whig lies." [Wheeling Times.

Point of Order.

A Debating Society in a town "down east," one evening undertook to discuss the question, whether intemperance or slavery is productive worthy deacon, contending against the former, proposed to show its effect on its victims "in eternity." "Stop, stop," cried the chairman, "that's out of the United States."

Congressional Intelligencer.

The Proprietors of the National Intelligencer n order to meet the wishes of those whose circumstances or inclination do not allow them to subscribe even to a weekly Washington papper during the whole year, have determined to issue during each session of Congress, a weekly sheet styled "The Congressional Intelligencer," to be devoted exclusively to the publication, as far as its limits will permit, of the Proceedings of both Houses of Congress, and Official Reports, and Documents connected therewith, including a complete official copy of all the Acts passed by Congress during the session.

To bring the price within the means of every man who can read, the charge for this paper will be for the first session of each Congress

The price of the " Congressional Intelligencer," to be issued on each Wednesday during the approaching Session of Congress, will therefore be one Dollar, paid in advance. To enlarge upon the value, to those who take no newspaper from Washington, of this publication, containing an impartial but necessarily abbreviated account of the Proceedings in Congress, including an authentic official copy of all the laws passed during the session, would be needless. The man who takes no such paper, ought to take one, if he does not prefer remaining ignorant of what most nearly concerns his own destiny, and that of his family and of his po terity forever.

When six copies are ordered and paid for by any one person, a deduction of one-sixth will be made from the price: that is to say, a remittance of Five Dollars will command six copies of the Congressional Intelligencer for the Girard the first speaker; "don't I know that Polk is next Session. A remittance of Ten Dollars President? and don't I know that he signed will secure thirteen copies; and for Fifteen Bank of Montgomery co.
