FARMERS' LIBRARY.

Prospectus of the Farmer's Library, and Monthly Journal of Agriculture. JOHN S. SKINNER, Editor. None can well have studied the true sources of National welfare, without perceiving the natural and friendly connexion existing between Manufactures, Commerce and Agriculture. The policy which strikes at the prosperity of the Manufacturing consumer, must damage the Agricultural producer, and neither can be injuriously affected without detriment to the Merchant, at once consumer and carrier for both. As, however, the elements of manufacturing and commercial industry must be derived chiefly from the soil, is it not the obvious interest of all other classes that the one which gives to all their employment and subsistence, should be encouraged and benefitted with est of Wm. Schlaugh in the above establishevery advantage that science can confer and the ment, takes this method to inform the public most enlightened industry make available! Yet generally, and Millers and Farmers especialit has not been until comparatively a late period in Europe, and still later in America, that the pubhe mind has been made properly sensible of the necessity of science to Agriculture, and so to respect Farming as essentially an intellectual and dignified pursuit-one which should imply for its followers high mental cultivation and various attainments. Happily, however, educated young men are now betaking themselves to Farming, as a business, which, like the learned professions, business in the best manner and with despatch has its own principles and will have its literature; He will manufacture and truly it may be asked what subject has lately given rise to memoirs and works more profound and instructive, or been fruitful of more interest- for Flour and other Mills, together with Casting results of scientific investigation, than Agriculture! Who, among modern Literati, enjoy more enviable distinction than Liebig and Johnston, and Boussingault and Candolle? The taste for Agricultural Literature in our country, thanks to the able journals that encourage it, keeps pace manner. Particular care will be taken to emwith its progress in Europe. The more fully to ploy none but good workmen in the different meet the demand thus created, we have decided departments of the establishment, and no pains to publish on the first day of July, and monthly will be spared by the proprietor to give genthereafter, the Farmer's Library and Monthly Journal of Agriculture, to be edited by John S. SKINNER, late Assistant Postmaster General and founder of the first Agricultural periodical published in this country.

Far from being designed or in any way calculated to affect injuriously the circulation of existing journals of less price and wider circulation, they may supply the Farmer's table with lighter brary he may may find more solid as it will be more costly food.

Each number will consist of two distinct parts,

I. The Farmers' Library, in which will be published continuously the best Standard Works on Agriculture, embracing those which, by their cost or the language in which they are written, would otherwise seem beyond the reach of nearly all American Farmers. In this way we shall give ten times as much in the original editions, not Plough makers. easily obtained at any price, and virtually out of the reach of men who live by following the plough. In the Farmers' Library they will be accompanied by notes from the Editor, explaining what may be obscure to American readers, or calculated to mislead the beginning in Farming, owing to differences of Soil, Climate, &c. The works published in the Library will form a complete series, exploring and exhibiting the whole field of Natural Umbrellas, Parasols, & Sun Shades, Science, and developing the rich treasures which Chemistry, Geology, and Mechanics, have yielded and may yield to lighten the labors and swell the harvests of the intelligent husbandman. The work will be so arranged that the Farmer's Library may be bound up by itself, forming a mammoth volume of 600 pages at the end of each year; or each work contained therein may be bound se-

II. The Monthly Journal of Agriculture will likewise contain about 50 pages per month, and will comprise, 1. Foreign: Selections from the the Library, &c. dc. 2. American: Editorials, turns. communicated and selected accounts of experiments, improved processes, discoveries in Agriculture, new implements, &c. In this department yet published. It can hardly be necessary to add that no Political, Economic, or other controverted doctrine, will be inculcated through this magazine. Parasols. Its price will be Five Dollars a year in advance, for two rayal octavo volumes of 600 pages each Each number of the Library will be illustrated by numerous engravings, printed on type obtained expressly for this work, and on good paper-the whole got up as such a work should be. If it does not prove the best as well as the amplest and most in this country, the fault shall not rest with the publishers, and we are sure it will not fall short for want of industry or devotion in the Editor. The low and definite rate of postage chargeable on such a periodical after the 1st of July-say six to eight cents a number-will enable many to take it who would otherwise have been repelled by the heavy and capricious exactions of the Post Office. As Postmasters are permitted to frank money letters to publishers until that period, and as we wish to print only so many copies as may be wanted, we respectfully solicit orders from all who may incline to aid us, as early as will suit their 120,000 " Pine Shingles, convenience. Tribune Office. Corner of Spruce-street, opposite the City Hall. New York, July 31, 1845.

The first number will be published on the 1st day of July, and thence regularly on the first secular day of every month.
