THE NATIONAL PRESS: A JOURNAL FOR HOME; A Repository of Letters; a Record of

Art; a Mirror of Passing Events. To be Published every Saturday, at Two Dollars a Year, ir

Advance GEORGE P. MORRIS, Editor and Proprietor. A number of the most eminent literary persons of this country, have proposed to the undersigned to publish, under the above title, a refined and valuable newspaper, upon a plan combining the highest resources of National Talent with the best elements of extensive popularity, and at so trifling an annual cost, as will place it within the convenient reach of all classes of society.

The control and management of this publication LNALVA CHAONANI SATTYH will form the exclusive and undivided attention of the Editor-whose long experience, ample facilities and practised care, will be exerted to select, unite and harmonise the various skill which is willing to seek devopment under his direction -The scope, design, and character of this paper will differ from those of any journals heretofore established, while it will comprehend all that they contain of importance to the community. The contents will be fitted to engage the attention of the man of business, and be a source of elegant favorable terms. instruction and entertainment to the domestic fireside and family circle.

The leading characteristics of this paper will be as follows:

1. Early and Copious Intelligence of all interesting occurrences in Literature, Society, and Art, both at home and abroad.

2. A Foreign Correspondence of tried popularity and acknowledged merit has been engaged, and will be commenced with the first number.

3. Productions in fiction, romance and historical narrative; Sketches of the taste and manners of the time; Essays, after the manner of the Tattler and Spectator, on subjects connected with so- num, payable in advance. This work is printed cial interests; biographical notices and anecdotes, literary and professional; bon-mots, epigrams, and elegant trifles of every kind; the rumors of the day, and the comments that float upon the conversation of the hour-materials of this kind will form the ordinary staple of the work.

4. The department of Criticism will exhibit a discriminating and popular survey of the Literary Productions of the day. There will be a thorough and careful chronicle of every thing of value accomplished in Painting and Sculpture, and a candid and patriotic estimate of the National productions in comparison with other countries. Such exposition of the character and special excellencies of what is exhibited in Music will be constantly given as may lead to the more intelligent enjoyment of that most imaginative and delicate branch of the Fine Arts.

5. No original papers will appear, but those of obvious and decided merit; and the selections (which will commonly be from the foreign journals the least known in this country) will be made with the utmost attention and care.

The predominant design of the Editor is to add to the Republic of Letters a Weekly Journal, distinctly and decidedly national in tone and features, and at the same time, to avoid all connection with mere party politics. THE NATIONAL PRESS will, in brief, combine the striking and novel attractions of the newspaper, with the more abiding interest of the higher class of periodicals. It will be printed in the folio form, on large and superior paper, on a new and clear type, obtained expressly for the purpose, and will be, in its whole arrangement and details, a favorable specimen of the best typographical skill of the country. In addition to these, and as one of its most valuable peculiarities, it will be, in reference to the diversity of talent that will be employed upon it, the cheapest paper in the United States.

Terms-Two dollars a year, or three copies for five dollars, invariably in advance.

It will be sent by mail to all parts of the United despatch.

Postmasters are requested to act as agents, receive subscriptions, and make remittances.

The first number will be issued on Saturday, the fourteenth of February next.

As, however, the elements of manufacturing and commercial industry must be derived chiefly from the soil, is it not the obvious interest of all other classes that the one which gives to all their employment and subsistence, should be encouraged and benefitted with every advantage that science can confer and the most enlightened industry make available? Yet it has not been until comparatively a late period in Europe, and still later in America, that the pub lic mind has been made properly sensible of the necessity of science to Agriculture, and so to respect Farming as essentially an intellectual and dignified pursuit-one which should imply for its followers high mental cultivation and various attainments. Happily, however, educated young men are now betaking themselves to Farming, a a business, which, like the learned professions has its own principles and will have its literature and truly it may be asked what subject has latel given rise to memoirs and works more profession and instructive, or been fruitful of more interest ing results of scientific investigation, than Agrimore enviable distinction than Liebig and John ston, and Boussingault and Candolle!
