FARMERS' LIBRARY

Prospectus of the Farmer's Library, and Monthly Journal of Agriculture. John S. Skinner, Editor. None can well have studied the true sources of National welfare, without perceiving the natural and friendly connexion existing between Manufactures, Commerce and Agriculture. The policy which strikes at the prosperity of the Manufacturing consumer, must damage the Agricultural producer, and neither can be injuriously affected without detriment to the Merchant, at once consumer and carrier for both. As, however, the elements of manufacturing and commercial industry must be derived chiefly from the soil, is it not the obvious interest of all other classes that the one which gives to all their employment and subsistence, should be encouraged and benefitted with every advantage that science can confer and the most enlightened industry make available? Yet it has not been until comparatively a late period in Europe, and still later in America, that the public mind has been made properly sensible of the necessity of science to Agriculture, and so to respect Farming as essentially an intellectual and dignified pursuit-one which should imply for its a business, which, like the learned professions, has its own principles and will have its literature; and truly it may be asked what subject has lately given rise to memoirs and works more profound and instructive, or been fruitful of more interesting results of scientific investigation, than Agriston, and Boussingault and Candolle? The taste for Agricultural Literature in our country, thanks to the able journals that encourage it, keeps pace with its progress in Europe. The more fully to Skinner, late Assistant Postmaster General and founder of the first Agricultural periodical published in this country.
