Public Lands.

The quantity of land owned by the U. The average sale of the public lands is something less than two millions of acres annually. The amount of sales the past year, has been a little over two millions of dollars.

War a Blessing.

The Union gravely undertakes to prove that war is a blessing to the Mexican people. We know not on what code of philosophy this opinion is founded, but presume it is upon the theory of some misanthrope, who thinks this Something Curious.

A Correspondent of the Cincinnati G zette. writing from Danton, Stark county, Ohio, mentions having seen in an establishment for the manufacture of earthen ware in that town, a se ries of figures in potter's clay, burned as earthorn ware usually is, representing Christ and his Disciples at the "Last Supper," nearly as they appear in the great painting of Leonardo de Vinci. These curious figures are the work of a deaf mute, a native of Germany, and considering the material of which they are composed, are justly regarded as wonderful productions of art. The expression of counte nance is said to be beautiful and life-like, and meniorious.
