

Why don't the advocates of Granny Shunk give us some evidence of his transcendental talents, or something he has ever done for the good of the public or the Commonwealth, in the forty years he has been a pap-sucking office-holder, instead of trying to underrate the abilities of General Irvin and weekly assailing him with slang and falsehood?

Why don't the advocates of Polk and Walker give us something of the merits of taxing Tea and Coffee when recommended by these worthies, instead of reiterating the stale charge they know to be false, of General Irvin's voting in favor of such an odious tax?

Why don't the brawlers about the beauties of the British Tariff explain how it caused the Potatoe Rot in Ireland and a famine in Europe, instead of boasting about the rise in produce which commenced under the old Tariff, and saying that every body is not ruined in less than six months by the new one?

Why don't the organs of the Polk and Santa Anna party tell us more about that Pass, to let Santa Anna into Mexico and lead her armies to the destruction of thousands of American citizens, instead of abusing the Whigs as friends to the Mexicans, for merely inquiring into the subjects of this war, and what are to be the benefits to this country or to the cause of humanity in the world at large, from this sacrifice of millions of money and thousands of human lives?

A Singular Affair.

A respectable gentleman of Baltimore, who was connected with a mercantile business on the wharf, was taken sick and died, as was supposed, a short time since. Being a native of an adjoining city, his wife and friends desired to inter his remains there, and his body was accordingly placed in a coffin and conveyed to that city. When the coffin arrived, it was opened in order to transfer the remains to a more suitable one, which had been prepared, for final interment. When the lid was removed, the body was found lying upon the face, which upon examination was bruised. A moisture was observed upon the skin, and on a close examination it was found that the vital spark had not as yet fled. All the restoratives that the best medical skill could devise, were used, and the man was actually revived and lived two days afterwards, before the "spirit departed into Him that gave it." No doubt was entertained of the decease, and the feelings of relatives and friends at such a discovery, cannot be for one moment imagined.

How to Decoy and Destroy Ants in Dwelling-Houses.

When practicable, place near the end or passage on a level, a basin or bowl filled with dry mould; then put a bone or bones of fresh meat in the bottom (such as are discarded from the dining room). You will soon find your tormentors congregate thousands strong; for I assure you they are first-rate bone polishers.—Forty years ago, when a boy, whenever I wanted a particular bone of a duck or goose polished, I always found the ant-hill the best manufactory. I have in readiness a strong solution of boiling salt and water, and when you perceive your enemies begin to retreat, cover them with it. Salt and water cold will destroy them poured into their haunts; but the better way is to decoy them out of their strongholds. It will be good policy to wash the basin or bowl, and fill it with fresh mould previous to a second decoy, as it will be perceived salt is not a favorite.—Gardeners' Chronicle.

On the 3d instant, the lightning performed on the Telegraph wires, and, after writing all kinds of signs, melted them, and burnt the tables in the office at Wilmington, Del.

"Potatoes," said Pomp Flatfoot, a learned dandy whilst conversing with another gemman of color, is a herbarious zoological vegetable what grows all under ground 'cept de top, and dat bears a carnivorous flower at de bottom.—Potatoes is berry good biled, and den dey am better roasted but if you can 'teal de hard, best way ob all, is to fry him, bekase den de 'tato in meat, drink and sleep. Such am de great merits ob potatoes.

Good.—A son of Erin, just arrived in this land of plenty, being in want, ventured to solicit a little aid from a person whose external appearance seemed to indicate that he could easily afford it. He was, however, rudely repulsed with a 'Go to h—ll.' Pat looked at him in such a way as to fix his attention, and meekly replied, 'God bless your honor for your civility, for you're the first jentleman that's invited me to his father's house since I come to the land.'

ADVERTISED MEDICINE.—Some simple people affect a great dislike of what they are pleased to call "advertised" medicine. In their estimation, for Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills to be made public, is to deprive them of all merit.—This is ridiculous. Medicine is an article in common with every other article, and, like them, is the subject of purchase and sale. Advertising is a facility which is peculiar to the times, and has become an indispensable element in all business transactions. It makes an article neither good nor bad, but simply announces, as a sign-board does, that at a certain place an article of a given description may be had. The world has surely attained a knowledge, during these five thousand years, of a remedy for "the ills which flesh is heir to," and if it have, that remedy should be made known—and by what effectual means, except through the press?

Beware of Counterfeits.—The public are cautioned against the many spurious medicines, which in order to deceive are called by names similar to Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills.

MANSION HOUSE.

Mrs. Margaret Eagles

Begs leave respectfully to inform her old friends and the public generally that she has taken the above establishment, which has been, and is now being, fitted up upon the most approved plan, for the accommodation of strangers and travellers.

The long experience which she has had in the business of keeping a hotel or public house, in connection with the favorable location and commodiousness of the Mansion House, she hopes will afford a sufficient guarantee to secure a liberal patronage. Persons visiting town on business or pleasure excursions, will find a comfortable, convenient and quiet home. Jurors and others attending Court are invited to call, and satisfy themselves. Strangers from the city, or elsewhere, who contemplate spending some time in the beautiful and retired village of Stroudsburg, will do well by making the above house their home during their stay here;—in short, all are invited to call.

Transient and steady boarders, by the day or week, accommodated upon the most reasonable terms.
