A letter dated Deposit, Pa., August 6, 1847, contains an item of unusual atrocity. "A horritile deed was perpetrated in Scott township, Wayne county, Pa. only eight miles from this place, on Sunday last, which has no parallel in the catalogue of crimes. Mrs. Williams, wife of the Rev. Gursham Williams, aged about 56, left her residence in the morning to attend a Susquehanna & Delaware Canal and Sabbath School in the neighborhood, only one mile and a half from her house. While passing through the woods, she was attacked by a fiend in humon shape, thrown out of the road and throttled until she died; there is no doubt the fiend effected his purpose from the bruises Luzerne county, Pa. found about her body.

He was disturbed by the noise of Mr. Williams' carriage, which soon came up and passed on to the school house with a portion of the family and two sisters of the unfortunate Mrs. W., who a day or two before had arrived from their residence in New York, on a visit to their friends and sisters. The family, on arriving at the school house, finding Mrs. W. absent learning upon enquiry that she had not been there, day in September. become greatly alarmed, consequently returned with several others.

The body was found a quarter of a mile from the road, behind a log, and her cloths were much torn and other evidence that she came to her death from strangulation. The perpetrator, Use of the Instrument per session, on hearing the approach of the carriage, left his victim, went towards Deposit, about half a mile, with a view to escape, finally turned about to return when he was taken by his pursuers.

He immediately confessed the attack and his object, and was going back to see if the woman was dead, if not, to consumate the act he first completed. The Murderer stood before his wichim, a prisoner, in one hour after the body was found and less than two hours after the deed was committed. He says his name is John Bell, and is an Englishman, recently from the Philadelphia penitentiary. He is now in the Honesdale jail awaiting his trial.

They were arrested, cheap, by and the wounded girl taken to the haspital.

Inflammatory.

During the recent bread riots in France, some very inflammatory hand-bills were circulated The aguators charged the scarcity upon the Government, and endeavored to turn the matter to political account. A correspondent of the boston Transcript suggests the substitution of an octave or so of musical pipes in place of the steam whistle. The engineer, he says might then entertain the passengers and the surrounding country with favorite airs.
