

is as glorious as our country, if we hold together, and do not suffer sectional prejudices to divide us. We speak one language—our identity is the same—we are one consolidated people—and our success has hitherto been glorious and unprecedented. Shall we, then, divide in feeling? No! no! No matter where our man is from, if he is an American. Gen. Taylor, in his feelings, knows no South, no North, no East, no West. He is an American! Where has he lived? In his tent for forty years—His home, for forty years, has been under the American flag!—the flag of his whole country. He is a national man—he has lived everywhere, wherever the flag waves! He is not a Southern man—he is an American! He proclaims to one, either of the North or South; and will you proscribe him for the accident of birth and home? He condemns no man for the institutions of his State. Will you condemn him? He is a kind, generous, noble old man—a true American in heart.

GEN. TAYLOR'S HABITS.—He is a temperate man—he never drank a bottle of spirits in his life. His habits are exemplary.

GEN. TAYLOR'S INFLEXIBILITY OF CHARACTER.—Finally, said the speaker, he is a man you cannot buy—a man you cannot sell—a man you cannot scare—and a man who never surrenders!

Proof of the "Democracy" of Gen. Cass.

WASHINGTON, June 1.

A sketch of the life of Gen. Cass, which was prepared and widely circulated before the meeting of the Baltimore Convention, has been adopted by the Union and the affiliated press, and is now spread broadcast through the country. Though it is related with particularunction, that he was favored with the patronage of Mr. Jefferson, Mr. Madison, Mr. Monroe, Gen. Jackson, and Mr. Van Buren, the biographer neglected to mention, that under the administration of Mr. Adams, he held, if I mistake not, the office of Governor of Michigan and Superintendent of the Indians of the Northwest, which yielded him an annual income of $10,000 a year, and perhaps a great deal more. On this point the country will soon be enlightened, as the accounts will be called for under a resolution of Congress, when the people will have an opportunity of seeing that nice "tit bits," in the shape of allowances by the Secretary of War, were provided for party favorites in those days.—Now, why was the term of Mr. Adams excluded from the review of official service rendered by Gen. Cass? Why was his allegiance and profitable connection with that Administration concealed from public view in a sketch of his life prepared by a personal partizan, and under his immediate inspection? The reason is too palpable to need argument or explanation, and it is contemptible to be treated with anything else than scorn and indignation.

This attempt to belie public history, cannot but react upon all honest and intelligent minds. It presents him in his true colors, and proves that, though willing to live upon the bounty of Mr. Adams' administration, and to be recognized as one of its most sycophantic supporters while in power, he is now prepared to forswear his identity with the party then in the ascendancy, because it conflicts with his interests at the present day. He abandons it now, for the reason he adopted it in 1824.

The fact that Gen. Cass held office under so many Presidents, furnishes the most conclusive evidence, that he was ready at all times to support any administration or any party that offered him the necessary reward. His principle appears to have been—"Whoever is King, I'll be Vicar of Bray." Hence, he reconciled himself to the conflicting principles of all who would employ him, reserving the privilege of deserting his party whenever a better bargain was presented.

His biographer has also neglected to inform the public that Gen. Cass was elected to the legislature of Ohio as a Federalist, and that he threw a summer-set as soon as he saw what appeared to be a more favorable opening in the top ranks of the party which he was elected to oppose.

Stick a Pin There.

The Trenton State Gazette of Friday furnishes the following reminiscence, which we commend to all friends of Gen. Taylor:

CASS VS. TAYLOR.—Every body remembers the infamous vote of censure by the House of Representatives appended by Picklin and Henly to Mr. Cocke's resolution of thanks to Gen. Taylor, his officers and soldiers, for their good conduct in the battles of Mexico.

Let it not be forgotten that when this resolution was sent to the Senate, and such noble spirits as Calhoun and Butler were prompt to vote the erasure of this foul stigma from the escutcheon of the gallant old hero of Monterey, Lewis Cass was among the fifteen ungrateful Senators who voted against striking out, and were therefore in favor of retaining the censure.

Gen. Taylor's Humanity.

To show that courage and humanity are kindred virtues, the Albany Evening Journal, on the authority of a venerable Chaplain who was attached to the army in Mexico, states that after the battle of Buena Vista, Gen. Taylor made his disposition for the renewal of the conflict on the following morning. But at the dawn of the next day, Santa Anna was in full retreat. The American Cavalry were despatched to pursue. Soon messengers returned informing the General that the Mexicans, broken and scattered, were in rapid flight, but that the roads and the waysides were strewn with exhausted, famished and wounded soldiers, all of whom, in the precipitation of Santa Anna's flight, were left to die without either food, water, or medical attendants. Upon receiving this information, Gen. Taylor immediately ordered 20 wagons to be furnished with all that was required for the relief of those whom the Mexican General had left to suffer and die. These wagons were promptly despatched accompanied by surgeons who were directed to find and administer to all the sufferers. And to the Quarter Master who executed this order, General Taylor said: "Keep an exact account of every article sent, so that if any doubt should arise of the propriety of thus relieving the enemy's wounded, I can pay for them myself."

FOURTH OF JULY.—On this day of festivity and joy, when all are prone to indulge in the good things of life, not unfrequently to excess, let us not forget that overloading the stomach with food or drink, especially at this season of the year, is often attended with serious consequences. If any, however, should inadvertently overstep the bounds of prudence, they should bear in mind that Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills prevent all evil results from impropriety of diet. They thoroughly cleanse the stomach and bowels from those bilious and morbid humors which are the cause of colic, pains, dysentery, cholera morbus, and other disorders of the bowels.

Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills also aid and improve digestion, and therefore give health and vigor to the whole frame.

Beware of Sugar Coated Counterfeits.—Remember, that the original and only genuine Indian Vegetable Pills have the written signature of WILLIAM WRIGHT on the top label of each box.

LET THE PUBLIC BEAR IN MIND, that Scarlet Fever, and other complaints incident to sudden changes of the weather, are peculiarly prevalent at this season of the year. Thousands of children, and many persons of mature age, are dying weekly, because they overlook the only medicine which is infallible in diseases of that kind. That medicine is Cleave's Sugar Coated Vegetable Purgative Pills, which have been successful in cases of the greatest obstinacy, and were, all other remedies had proved unavailing. Physicians of the highest eminence, have prescribed them in their practice, and they have been highly recommended by a committee of the American Institute, appointed to investigate their merits. Let those who have never used them consent to make a single trial, and they will never have cause to regret their determination. In case of failure, if such a thing is possible, the money will in all cases be returned.
