SANDWICH, 17th July, 1812.

It is possible something unpleasant has taken American. place. It will probably be a week before the cannon will be mounted. I am sensible of the advantage of holding the bridge. I would not, however, hazard too much for the purpose .---The enemy may pass the ford above, and come in the rear. I will, however. LEAVE TO YOUR DISCRETION and Col. Miller's, under all the circumstances of the case, TO DO tracted for. THAT WHICH YOU JUDGE MOST EX-PEDIENT. Twelve miles are a great distance ... and the enemy can either land in boats, above the mouth of the river, or pass at the ford to attack you. You know the ground better than I do, and as I before observed, I WILL LEAVE THE MEASURE AND THE FORGE TO and the best mode of security to the party. am, most respectfully, your most ob't serv't, W. HULL, B. Gen. Commander.

Hull left it discretionary with Cass, to mainheadquarters of Hull, liant victories achieved by Cass, over the Enelish and Indians at Aux Canards, in 1812. S.

Reasoning in the Right Way.

On Saturday last, (-aye the St. Louis Repubone of the office-holders of the government remarked, that he had heard a good deal of Democrais voting for General Taylor, but he did not believe a word of it. He would like to see one. At this, a farmer, who had a lot of wheat on the wharf near by, stepped up and said :-

"I am one Demoral that will vote for Gen. Taylor, any how."

"Surely not," said the office-holder, "Gen. Taylor's got no principles. You are not going to vote for a man that has no principles?"

"I tell you what," said the farmer, "he's got the very principles I like. He is an honest man, and that's what can't be said of many men who boast so much about their political princi-Government nor any one that has served under or over him has accused him of a single dishonest act. He says if he is elected President, he will be the President of the beople, not of a party. Now, if Cass is elected, he will be the President of a party, and not of the peo- Vegetable Pills have the written signature of WILple. I don't want to see a party President; I want to see every man who pays his taxes, and does his duty to his government, have an equal chance for office, and not be treated as an alien because he has independence enough to think for himself. We have had enough of that kind of corruption and tyranny already. Gen. Tayfor says he won't veto the acts of Congress unless they are unconstitutional, or have been passed without a due consideration. This suits me exactly -- these were the doctrines of the Democratic party when I was a boy, and ought to be now. The people send nearly three hundred men to Congress to make laws, and when prevent its being the law, if it is not unconstitutional. I go for the will of the majorny as expressed by the people's representatives, and Congress says a high tariff, I say let them have ly. n; if a low tariff, so let it be until the majority see fit to change it.

"Now, stranger," says the farmer, growing somewhat emphatic, "I never voted against the party nominations before, but I intend to vote for Old Zack this time : but if you will give his life to show that what he says he don't mean, then probably I may not vote for him, and there's a great many in our prarie just like me."

The office-holder looked at his watch, and discovered he had pressing buisiness just then
