Mr. Greely, who has been in Washington most of the current week, proposes to show why Congress does nothing from month to month, and in pursuance of this intention remarks, that "the country already knows that there is thorough understanding, a resolute determination among the Slavery Propogandist in Congress that none of the essential measures of the sesion shall pass until the Slavery and Territorial questions shall have been setiled to their satisfaction. And this Propaganda, controlling the organization of what calls uself the Democratic party, has grasped the Speakership of the House through the defection of five Southern Members elected as Whigs who refused to vote for the Whig Speaker unless the party would resolve not to support the Wilmot Proviso. The Speaker so chosen has placed at the head of the committee of Ways and Means, Thomas H. Bayly, of Va., who deseried the Whig party seven or eight years ago because it was not pro-slavery in its general policy, and who is now one of the most active and reckless Propagandist in either House. He with a compliant Committee has general Appropriation bills of the Session in House," which declares that it shall be the duty of said Committee within thirty days after the Borough of Stroudsburg. appointment, to report the Appropriate bills or assign reasons for not doing so. An attempt June 6, 1850. was made last week to instruct the Committee to perform this long-neglected duty, but it was impossible to suspend the rules so as to get in a resolution for this purpose because of the abdred members, two thirds of whom are from the North! So matters remain in statu quo. Sussex Register.

Melancholly Occurrence.

A young man named John Weiss, son of Mr George Wiess of this place, left home on the packet on Friday last, as we learn, to fish somewhere up the river. On the way John got into dispute with a boatman, a young man about eighteen years of age, and at the Stony creek Lock, got on his boat threatening to whip him. The boatman, we are informed declined fighting & tried to get out of John's way but John pressing closer upon him, he struck him on the head with a club about the size of an ordinary Pick handle. The blow knocked Wiess off the boat into the Lock and there beining two boats in the lock at the time, he sunk and got under one of them. It become necessary to push out the boats and empty the Lock before his body could be recovered and when found he was dead.

A Post Mortem examination was made in the evening after the body had been brought to the house of his father in this place, by several Physicians, in presence of a Jury of Inquest summoned to enquire into the cause of his death. The verdict of the Jury, we are informed, was that he came to his death by drowning.

The young man who gave the unfortunate blow has, we'are informed, given himself up to lands of Jacob Dotter, Henry Dotter and others the propper officers. If the opinion of those containing best acquainted with the facts is correct the young man was not much in fault, although the consequence of a blow given in anger to his fellow, was such as should prove a warning not only to him but to all others, to resort to blows only when no other means will protect person Mauch Chunk Courier

The novel and extraordinary match against time, to trot one hundreed miles within ten hours, on a wager of $1,000, took place over the Centreville track. N. Y., on the 7th inst. The Herald says, the attendance was large, and much interest was evidenced in the result The betting was pretty brisk, and considerable sums of money changed hands, the mare appearing to have plenty of backers. At twenty minutes past eight o'clock the start was made, the gentleman who made the match, (Mr. John Purdy) himself driving, and the feat was accomplished in nine hours and forty-nine and three-quarter miniutes-or ten and a quarter minutes within the stipulated time. This is the greatest performance, in the trotting line, that has ever taken place in this country. The nag, after emerging from this tremendous of Henry Miller, Joseph Drake and others. ordeal, exhibited no symptoms of excessive fatigue, and betook herself to her hay as happily as ever she did when hungry, and will be as lively as a lark to day, beyond doubt. The mare, throughout the race, was the favorite against time, and, on the seventieth mile, was strongly backed at a hundred to sixty. It is worthy of remark, that the driver of the mare is the son of Mr. Purdy, who rode Eclipse the second and third heats of his great race with roe county, Penn'a, to me directed, I will ex-Sir Henry, in 1823.

How to Exterminate Roaches .- Sprinkle corn meal in a plate, covering the entire surface, and over that sprinkle powdered sulphur-not so much as to cover entirely the meal, but lightily. Then place shallow vessels or saucers containing water near by. In a few days the roaches will disappear. This has Coolbaugh, containing been tried and found effectual.
