Another Treaty and more Land for Settlers.

From the following extract from the Minnesotian, it will be seen that Gov. Ramsey has concluded a treaty with the Chippeways, by which we have acquired enough territory for another large State.

News from the North-The Pembina Treaty Concluded .- Mr. A. Kline, and making a most favorable treaty with the settled. Chippeways at Pembina. The who'e valley of the Red River of the North, a tract of country about three hundred miles from North to South, and one hundred and fifty from East to West, has been acquired for an annuity of tenthousand dollars per year and which entirely ceases at the end of twenty years. The Indians receive thirty thosand dollars upon the ratification of the treaty, to pay their debts, and divide among their half-breed relatives.

The following calculation of the respective numbers engaged in the different principal occupations in life in the United States we take from the Quincy Patriot:

No. engaged in internal navigation, 33,076 No. engaged on the ocean, No. engaged in the learned professions, 65,250 No. engaged in commerce, 11,96 No. engaged in manufactures, 291,74 No. engaged in agriculture, 3,719,95

Marriage in High Life

The New Orleans Picayune contains a humorous account: in a letter from Nicaragua. of the marriage of the Princess Adelaide Clotilda Louisa Squashee, sister of the so-called Mosquito King, to a sable gentleman, familiarly called

"The royal palace was tastefully decorated with highly scented hides. Every preparation being made for the celebration, the princess entered the pa ace hall unattended except by her pet goat.

Her beautiful black hair, greased with possum fat, hang in profusion over her shoulders, and contrasted finely with her splendid dress, which was made of a cof-Mee sack. On the midd e finger of her right hand she wore a rich and costly tin ring, made from a sardine box. The guests were all assembled, but the happy lover had not yet arrived. The princess became impatient, and went to seek him. She found him playing at marbles: She accosted him thus-"Jim, weddin' all ready an you no cum!" Jim replied that he had cum to the conclusion not to marry, cos if he did Victory would'nt give her no more penshum.' The princess was terified; but a lucky thought struck her. "Jim," said she, "bimeby my bruther die, then you'll be king." The words had their effect. Jim threw his arm around the neck of the princess; their lips met, the sound that followed was like that heard pulling a bull out of the mire."

The Result.

Prior to the 2d Tuesday of October, we were aware that a combination existed amongst a certain clique of professed Whigs-men who had been warmed into existence, nurtured and cherished by the Whig party, to defeat Gov. Johnston. We say prior, because we had it from reliable sources, that the clique bad declared that he should not succeed, if they could prevent it. As early as July, we received a letter from a Whig member of the State Convention, a resident of Philadelphia, and a gentleman of undoubted veracity, steting that Josiah Randal, John M. Scott, Charles Gibbons. &c., and other Silver Greys, alias Buckram Whigs, were using every effort, hon-orable and dishonerable, to defeat Gov. Johnston. We were well aware that the treacherous, dastardly, sycophantic, lick spittle. Cooper was also using his influence to defeat Gov. Johnston, but we felt that the honest freemen of the State would not permit the best Executive Pennsylvanua ever had to be beaten, and the interests of the State again placed in jeopardy to gratify party spleen or the whims of dishonest politicians.
