A Monstrosity.

The Medical Reporter of N. Jersey, just issued, states that Dr. E. Buck, of Bridgeton, was present at a post mortem examination in that town, not long since, upon the body of a child, which was born alive and of full term, the abdominal muscles of which were wholly wanting, exposing to view, as if by the scalpel, | the Common wealth; for the repeal of the law the liver and bowels. The breast, arms and head were largely and well developed, but the spine in the lumbar region was somewhat deficient, one leg was an exact wing or fin of a turtle, and quite small, the end having two or three unseparated toes. The other leg was large and extended up to the face, and the foot, which was of the club order, rested upon the nose.

A farmer in Oregon offers to bet five hundred dollars that he can raise three hundred bushels of oats from one peck of seed. This is to be done by suffering the oats to seed the ground from year to year. As many as four crops of oats have been taken from a piece of ground, which was only sowed once. 63 The supply of Money, we learn from The Tribune of Saturday, is increasing, and there is a larger demand than had previously existed. The rates on call are 6 and 7 per cent., although an occasional loan is made on choice securities at 5 and 51 per cent .--Paper goes at 6 and 8 per cent for first class short time; and 7 and 10 for long. Pennsylvania Legislature. Harrisburg, Jan. 19. Senate-The Joint Committee appointed to make arrangements for the inauguration of William Bigler, as Governor of the Commonwealth, to-morrow, made a report of the rules proposed to be observed, which was adopted. Numerous petitions were presented for a recharter of the Easton Bank ; for the incorporation of a Bank to be located at Allentown; and for a new county out of parts of Schuylkill, to be called "Penn."

The following bills were read in place: Mr. Sanderson, a bill to exempt from levy and sale on execution, the homestead of a householder leaving a family.

The bill authorizing the State Treasurer to negotiate a temporary loan of $300,000, to meet the semi-annual interest on the public debt of the State, falling due on the 1st of February, came up in order on third reading and passed finally without a division.

Mr. McCaslin introduced a resolution proposing the withdrawal of the pending suit against the Wheeling Bridge Company. It was laid on the table and ordered to be printd. The hour of 12 having arrived, the Senate proceeded to the Hall of the House for the purpose of joining the House in the election of a State Treasurer, and soon after returning to the chamber, adjourned.

House-Numerous petitions were presented for an amendment to the Constitution, prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors in this Commonwealth; for a law requiring the several counties to pay witnesses in behalf of prohibiting the circulation in this State of the small notes of the banks of other States; for an appropriation for the payment of the laborers on the Delaware Division of the Pennsylvania Canal; for the incorporation of a bank at Mauch Chunk; for the incorporation of a bank at Phoenixville, Chester county; for the establishment of a new bank at Allentown; for a new county out of parts of Mercer and Crawford, to be called "Shenango."

The following bills were introduced: A bill to authorize the Commissioners of the several counties to pay witnesses on the part of the Commonwealth.

Horrible Death in the Ice.

The Berks County, Pa., Press of the 13th, gives the following particulars of a horrible death in the ice:

"We are pained to record a heart-rending occurrence on Sunday last, in Berne township, some seven miles above Reading, by which a young lady, named Miss Miller, aged about twenty years, met with an untimely death. Wishing to visit a neighbor on the opposite side of the Schuylkill, at Koenig's ferry, Miss Miller walked on the ice untill she had reached the middle of the river, when the ice broke, immersing her in water up to her arms, and seizing hold of the edge of the ice, kept from sinking altogether. Her cries brought the neighbors to the shore, and a boat was obtained for her relief, but alas, none had the courage to enter it for her rescue. Those on shore look ed on for more than an hour, when the poor girl, becoming exhausted and frozen, slipped off and disappeared under the ice. Even after she had given up her hold on the ice, she swam on the surface for some time, and yet no effort was made to save her life."

Encounter with two Bears. The Lancaster, N. H. Democrat gives an account of an encouner, in that town, between two bears and two boys. The boys, one 13 and the other nine years old, were the sons of one Charles Sweeney, who was absent from home. About 30 rods from the house, whilst engaged in getting wood, they were attracted by the barking of the dog, twenty rods from them .--Thinking there might be game, the eldest took a loaded gun and the youngest an axe and went to the tree where the dog was. The youngest discovered a small hole in the ground, and thrust therein his axe handle, when presently out came a bear. The elder boy fired and wounded the bear in the breast. The bear, not relishing his entertainment, rose in defence when the younger met him with the axe and laid him senseless on the ground. Immediately another bear made his appearance. The gun was unloaded, and whilst the elder boy was hastily reloading, the bear attacked the younger. As often as it sprang at him, the boy struck Inauguration of Gev. Bigler. This ceremony interesting to the personal friends of the new Governor, and of apparent interest to the political parasites, who always hover around incoming administration, took place in the Hall of the House of Representative on Tuesday. There was an immense crowd of people in attendance, and a large number of ladics graced the scene and occupied the chairs of the members, and front seats in the gallenes. But the excessive cold of the day, and the obstruction of the railroads by snow, prevented that jam which was anticipated. Still the immense Hall was filled.

At half past 11 o'clock Messrs, Evans and M'Cune were appointed a committee on the part of the House, to invite the Speaker and Members of the Senate, to visit the Representative Chamber, to witness the ceremonies of the Inauguration. At 12 o'clock the Speaker and Members of the Senate were announced, and they took seats in the circuhar, area and in front of the Speakers chair. In a few minutes the Governor of the Commonwealth and Heads of Department were announced. The Governor took his seat in the chair of the Speaker of the House, with the Speakers of the Senate and House on his right and left. At one o'clock the Committee of the Senate and House of Representatatives, appointed to wait upon the Governor Elect from his lodgings were announced.

The Governor elect was conducted to the Speakers platform and took his seat, immediately to the right of Gov. Johnston, after having shaken hands with Gov. Johnston and the Speakers of the two houses. The Hall was at this time filled to excess, by the military escort and the rush from the rotunda .--The company through whose file the Governor passed, were barely able to go through the motion of presenting arms for a single momentavish of emiliantic odry , ker of the House announced that " this being the day fixed by the Constitution for the inauguration of the Governor elect," the clerk of the Senate was directed to read the certificate of the election. When this had been read the official oath was administered by John H. Walker, the Speaker of the Senate, which was repeated word for word by Gov: Bigler.

Great Wheat and Corn States. A correspondent of the Pittsburg Gazette, writing from Washigton says:

From the abstracts of statistical returns already prepared at the Census Office, it appears that Pennsylvania in 1850, was the largest wheat producing State of the Union. I have had the curiesity to compare the six most prominent States in respect to this crop, and give them below with the crop of each, as shown by the return :
