Religious Persecution in Italy. Mr. and Mrs. Madia have been condemned, the former to four years and ten months, the latter to three years and ten menths, imprisonment in Florence, for the crime of reading the Holy Scriptures in their house, and teaching the Word of God within the limits allowed by the constitution. Many other persons were sentenced to banishment for different terms, for having listened to the teachings.

A Prospect of War.

The signs of the times seem for bode a war with England. From the position which that Government has assumed, it will require careful management to avert a hostile collision. She has ordered about 20 vessels of War to the Fishing grounds, to seize any American fishing vessel that may appear there; and they have already captured one in the Bay of Fundy, in addition to the one previously captured by the colonial Fishermen. In this state of affairs our government, we understand, has acted promptly. It is reportat once to the Mouth of the St. Lawrence, with the steam firigate Saranac and the sloop-of-war Albany, for the purpose of protecting our fishermen in their rights.

and affect our interests more largely than has been generally supposed. It appears that even before the Declaration of Independence, the value of fish taken from American seas, and conveyed to Europe, was $5,000,000 a year, which must have been swelled to an enormous amount by the increase of business since. In a memorial recently drawn up at Boston, it is stated that 2,100 vessels, and 30,000 men are now engaged in fishing, repsesenting at least $12,000,000 of property; and that the enforcement of the new construction ness of many of these men.

This Treaty of 1818 prohibited Americans from fishing within three maratime miles of the English coasts. Some years after the treaty, the people of Nova Scotia insisted that the limit was to be measured from the head lands, or extreme or pervous debility, is deservedly one of the points of land, and not from the inter- most popular medicines of the day. These ior of bays or indents of the coast. In short, that American vessels could not enter the bays nor approach nearer than three miles to a line drawn from one head out of the most productive fisheries.

The British authorities sustained the opinion of the Nova Scotians, and some American vessels were seized. This gave rise to complaint, ending in the British government relaxing their rule, and our fishermen continued to fish in their bays' and no further trouble has occurred till the new English ministry began to make their demonstrations by seizing a vessel in the Bay of Fundy, as above stated, and reviving the old construction of the treaty. Mr. Webster has clearly intimated that our government will not, as at present advised, accede to the British construction of the treaty. The interviews already commenced between Mr. W. and the British Minister will, we trust, lead to a satisfactory adjustment of the difficulty.

The right of fishing, in the Bay of Fundy at least, was expressly conceded to the Americans by Sir Robert Peel's Adminlie contends,) without its being regarded, on our part, as a direct infraction of our rights and interests, to which neither the government nor the people will submit .more than probable that the Parliament- refreshing. tary elections in progress, when the last steamer left England, have already sealed the political fate of the ministry; and that circumstance alone may, in a great measure, obviate the deffiulty.
