Wood! Wood!! Wood!!!

In order to accommodate such of our subscribers who are indebted to us, and eannot make it convenient to pay, we are willing to receive, a lot of good sound dry wood. We trust that a number of patrons will avail themselves of this opportunity and square up their accounts.

The President's Message.

According to promise we lay before our readers to-day the Annual Message of President Fillmore, and in doing so commend it to their careful perusal. It is written with ability-abounds in interesting facts and valuable suggestions .-Every citizen should make himself familiar with its contents.

The New York Teacher

Is published at Albany by the State Teachers Association, for one dollar per year. The Empire State is determined not to be behind her sisters in the noble cause, and her teachers have spoken out -loud, and well.

We have received the December numbers of the Pennsylvania School Journal, Massachusetts Teacher, and Ohio Journal of Education. They are excellent. The next number commences a new volume. Teachers will you not subscribe to one, if not all? It will be a dollar well laid out.

Godey's Lady's Book for Jan. 1853.

Godey is out first--not only in the season, but also in rank. If you wish to have useful as well as entertaining reading take Godey. If you do not believe it read the "Life in a Barrack" in his January number. Then glance at his plates-why they alone are worth the price of the number.

Stabbing at Easton.

We learn from the Easton Whig of yesterday, that on Wednesday evening, the 8th inst. William Cawley and William Shade, carpenters and both citizens of Easton, quarrelled about a settlement existing between them, and during the excitement Cawley drew a knife and Stabbed Shade, inflicting a severe wound in the left side. Cawley was arrested and imprisoned, but subsequently liberated on

Body of Mr. Connor Found.

MR. JAMES CONNOR, of Penn Haven left the Washington Hotel, in our Borough, on Sunday night, the 27th of November, to go to his boat, which was lying in the Lehigh, at Rodenbough's Wharf. Nothing had been seen or heard of him since, till Tuesday last, when his body was found in the Lehigh below the bridge. It is supposed that he had fallen from the plank lying from the wharf to his boat, and not being able to procure assistance, had drowned. He had several hundred dollars in his pocket book, upon his person, when found. Two persons were sleeping upon the boat, but did not hear anything of him. He was a man of middle age .- Eastonian, Dec. 9th

CHEAP TRAVELING .- THROUGH TO CINCINNATI BY EXPRESS TRAIN .- The railroad connection between Philadelphia and Cincinnati is now completed, and the first express train started on Sunday night to Cincinnati. The time to Pittsburg will be 18 hours, to Cincinnati 39 hours. The staging is now entirely done away, and the whole distance is accomplished by railroad. The fare through to Cicinnati is $17. We see also that the Camden and Amboy railroad line has established an accommodation line between Philadelphia and New York, reducing the price of passage to two dollars in California was offered $8 spiece for

A case was tried in the Chester county Court, last week, in which a tenant claimed damages of a landlord who had distrained and sold his personal property for rent. The plaintiff, Noble Heath, lived for several years as tenant on a small property belonging to Wm. Crossley, but having secured a situation in Philadelphia, he made arrangements to remove thither In January, 1852, he made a vendue, and sold off all his personal property except such as he designed taking with him to Philadelphia. At this time he was in arrears for rent to Crossley over $200 .-The landlord attended the sales and bought articles, which were deducted from his claim, reducing it to $125, or thereabouts. The remainder of the goods were packed in two wagons, and dispatched to the city. Mr. Crossley, being aware of this procured a landlord's warrant, followed and levied upon the goods in the wagons, and after the lapse of five days they were appraised, advertised, and sold at Constable's sale, and the proceeds applied by Crossley in discharge of his rent. The plaintiff alleged that the defendant had no right to make the distress, as it was not made upon the premises, and that they had acted oppressively and contrary to law. The Court so charged, and the jury found a verdict of $333 06 in favor of the plaintiff.

We believe the first experiment in this place was made by John Wyeth, and our citizens generally were disposed to regard it as a "hoax." Since then numerous experiments have been made with astonishing success The experiment has been for some time a common amusement "out West," and its introduction in the east is quite recent .-The New York Tribune notices its introduction into that city, coupled with the new "dodge" that after the table begins to move it is not essential that the hands should touch it, though they must be held near and move with the table.
