A GREAT deal of discussion is going in at present as to the best way of taking the ives of persons convicted of capital crimes. It. Park Benjamin, a well-known scientific expert in applied mechanics, advocates electricity as the best substitute for the process of hanging criminals. He dissents from Professor Draper's opinion, that it would be found very inficult to put electricity into practical operation for the purpose. On the contrary, Mr. Benjamin believes, a simple apparatus could be devised so compact that it would occupy no more space than an ordinary travelling trunk, capable of discharging an electric spark potent enough "to kill simultaneously more men than have ever been hanged in company in this country," with entire safety to the operating Sheriff. At the Stevens Institute, in Hoboken, N. Y., there is an electric coil which yields sparks twenty-one inches long that penetrate glass blocks three inches thick, and the Royal Polytechnic Institution, in London, possesses one of even greater potency. The awe-inspiring influence of such a mysterious mode of capital punishment he considers one of its important recommendations, whereas hanging produces on the public no emotions superior to disgust.

A few days ago a plot was discovered among the other Chinese in that city to abduct Wong Ching Foo that he might be sent back to China to be beheaded.

THERE will be to vote for on the State ticket, next year, one person for Auditor General in place of Schell, who was elected in 1877, and whose term will expire, and one for Supreme Judge, in place of Judge Woodward, deceased, which seat is occupied by Hon. Besides the two State officers there will be a full list of members of the House of Representatives, 201 in all, and half the Senate, numbering twenty-five members. All this, in addition to the President, a full delegation in Congress, and large county tickets, will make a lively contest in 1880.

THERE is trouble in the German Lutheran Church at Honesdale, Pa., owing to charges against the moral character of Rev. F. A. Hertzberger, who came from Ohio to be pastor of the church two years ago. The accusation is that he is in the habit of getting drunk. In fifteen years the church has had had luck with five pastors. The first was dismissed for being so drunk in the pulpit that he had to be carried into the street. The second gave dissatisfaction because he drank in fashionable resorts and not in humbler saloons. The third offended because he preached against drinking at all. The fourth—well, there was a married woman in that case. And now it is liquor again.

Jay Gould, is at the head of the buying crowd, and by getting control of the roads west of Chicago, and the network of small roads or feeders in Indiana and Illinois, known as the Wabash lines, they seem to have forced Vanderbilt to sell to them, as they could have thrown the trade of all those roads to the Pennsylvania Central or Baltimore & Ohio. This sale gives the Gould crowd control of a complete trans—continental line.

WHEN a railroad company issues a new time table it is a good thing to let all the employes, especially those who run the trains, know it, because it is liable to create confusion if some trains steer by one time table and some by another. An illustration of the truth of this remark occurred on a Connecticut road lately. About a week before, it seems that the officers of the road issued in a quite kind of way an entirely new schedule for the running of trains. Some of the conductors apparantly got wind of this rather important fact and some did not, and the consequence was that some rains were running on the old time and some on the new, and thus it happened about 7 o'clock last Monday that an old-timer freight and a new-timer express tried to pass on the same track while going at a high rate of speed. Singularly enough nobody was killed, though many were badly injured and a large amount of railroad property destroyed. It is probable, however, that the accident will cause the news of the change of time to spread among the rest of the employes, and this will greatly tend to promote the comfort of passengers.

PETER GOELET died lately. Peter was worth all the way from $12,000,000 to $20,000,000—we would be satisfied ourselves with the lower estimate. He thought a great deal of his money; so much that he never spent a cent when he could save it. We couldn't begin to tell how much real estate in New York belonged to him; it was a principle of his life never to sell an inch of land once in the possession of the Goelet family. He lived alone in a house on Broadway, New York, just above Madison Square. The dwelling stood apart in a large yard in the midst of stores and business houses, and the Broadway passers used to stop to peep through the iron railing at Peter Goelet's companions. These were pheasants from India, storks from Egypt, Guinea fowls and rare birds from all over the world. A magnificent milch cow contentedly chewed her cud and reigned over the enclosure. In winter the cow was housed in a barn back of the house, and the birds were safely sheltcred in the upper chambers of the house and fed from the hand of Peter Goelet, late millionaire poultry fancier, now gathered to his fathers, his money is gathered to others.

A Wonderfull Record.

Myriads of so-called "specifies" and "cures" for Rheumatism have already been brought before the public, and many of them have been endorsed by the ceitificates of respectable and promite citizens, who have derived benefit from such preparations. There is no doubt that a great many of these "Liniments," "Oils," etc., so widely advertised and freely recommended for Rheumatism and painful complaints of a similar nature, have genuine merit and will relieve certain types of the complaints named; but when Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and kindred diseases have become chronic and threaten serious results, you may rest assured that they will help but very little. Although not recommended as "infallible," the peculiar qualities of ST. JACOBS OIL especially adapt it to those cases which may be termed "chronic" and which have previously withstood all known "specifies" as well as the prescriptions of the best physicians.

We would mention, as an example, the case of Mr. A. Heilman, Editor of the Pittsburgh Republican, who suffered with Rheumatism for two years. After vainly using all the recommended remedies and exhausting the skill of the most experienced physicians without even tempory relief, it required only two bottles of ST. JACOBS OIL to effect a permanent cure. Mr. C. Hanni, a well-known citizen of Youngstown, Ohio, secured for his wife, who for twelve years had been a constant sufferer from Neuralgia in the head, the services of the ablest physicians in the land, but they were unable to do anything for her; half a bottle of ST. JACOBS OIL cured her. Mr. Wm. Reinhart, Elmore, Wis., reports the case of a neighbor who for twenty-four years had suffered so terribly with Rheumatism for the could hardly move around; a few bottles of ST. JACOBS OIL cured him. "To cap the climax," however, Mr. A. Neiger, of Taylorville, Pa., writes that his mother, who had been a continual sufferer with Rheumatism for the past thirty years, used one bottle of ST. JACOBS OIL and was immediately relieved of all pain. These a

The political course of the New York Times will be guided during the Presidential year by the same principles which have won for it the position of the formost Republican newspaper in the United States. The successful issue of the recent contest in New York, and the unbroken series of Republican victories in other Northern States which preceded and accompanied it, have combined to demonstrate the soundness of the position of The Times in regard to the question with which the Republican party is called to deal.

The Times will continue to place fidelity to the interests of the Republican Party above the pusuit of personal aims or private ambition, and will steadfastly insist that the usefulness of any party must be measured by the extent of its devotion to the honor and welfare of the country. In the future, as in the past, the attitude of The Times will be that of independence within the Republican party. The maintenance of the national credit; the purification of the public service: the advocacy of all seasonable projects of fiscal roform; rigid economy in public expenditures; opposition to subsidles and corporate jobbery in all its forms; and the preservation of equal rights to all citizens, North and South, will be the salient points of the policy of The Times.

The Times will continue to be distinguished as an enterprising, accurate and carefully-edited newspaper. The acknowledged excellence and fullness of its correspondence by mail and telegraph, from all parts of the world, will be adequately maintained, and its facilities for collecting domestic and foreign news will be expanded to meet the increasing demands of our time.
