SUPERIOR MILLING! WALTER & BOOS, Proprietors of the Well-Known Splendid FLOURING MILL BUTLER, PA.

We wish to inform the public that we have remodeled our Mill with the latest improved Gradual Reduction System Machinery, which is well known by Millers to be the best in existence.

BETTER ARTICLE OF FLOUR, AND MORE OF IT, out of the same number of bushels of wheat than any other Mill in the county, and equal to any first-class Mill in the city, or Western Mills.

Excels in the United States or elsewhere. This may seem an exaggeration to some, but we wish the public to know that we are able to perform all that we publish, as we have given our machinery a thorough test in the presence of several good Millers and Millwrights, and it has proven even better than it was guaranteed to do.

We are also remodeling our Mill for Grinding Other Kinds of Grain, which will be entirely satisfactory to our customers.

WE HAVE ALWAYS ON HAND THE BEST GRADES OF WHEAT FLOUR, GRAHAM FLOUR, RYE FLOUR, Buckwheat Flour, Bolted and Unbolted Corn Meal, different kinds of Chop, Bran and Mill Feed, all of the best quality and at the LOWEST PRICES.

Parties in town purchasing from us will have their orders promptly attended to and articles delivered at their place of residence.

We Pay the Highest Market Price for all kinds of Grain.

LETTER FROM COLORADO.

NUMBER 2.

It is not the purpose of your writer to give a treatise on the subject of geology or mineralogy, but to relate facts as they exist.

Dr. J. M. Thompson. Silver Cliff, Feb. 18, 1880.

A FISH STORY.

A Boston correspondent of the Forest and Stream tells the following remarkable story.

The scene is laid in Long Island, where, on the shore of a pond, the correspondent was watching the play of swallows as they skimmed just over the surface of the water shortly before sunset.

During subsequent and successive large periods there has been, owing to some one of the above mentioned agencies, or all combined, a breaking through, cracking or splitting of the mountains to an exceeding great depth.

These fissures, the now mineral storerooms of nature, were filled by processes varying according to the character of the formation and mineral combinations which they contain.

SAYINGS, AND WHO FIRST SAID THEM.

Many of our common sayings, so trite and pithy, are used without the least idea from whose mouth or pen they first originated.

Washington Irving gives us "The Almighty Dollar," Thomas Norton quired long ago "What will Mrs. Grundy say?" while Goldsmith answers, "Ask me no questions and I'll tell you no fibs."

"From the same we call 'Make assurance doubly sure,'" "Christians come but once a year," "Count their chickens ere they are hatched," and "Look before you leap."

Thomas Tassier, a writer of the sixteenth century, gives us, "It's an ill wind turns no good," "Better late than never," "Look ere thou leap," and "The stone that is rolling can gather no moss."

"When Greeks join Greeks then was the tug of war," Nathaniel Lee, 1692.

"Of two evils I have chosen the least," "The end must justify the means," are from Matthew Prior. We are indebted to Colley for the agreeable intelligence that "Richard is himself again."

"Variety's the very spice of life," and "Not much the worse for wear," Cowper. "Man proposes, but God disposes," Thomas A. Kempis.

Christopher Marlowe gave forth the invitation so often repeated by his brothers in a less public way. "Love me little, love me long," Edward Cook was of the opinion that "A man's house is his castle."

Edward Young tells us "Death loves a shining man," "A fool at forty is a fool indeed," but, alas, for his knowledge of human nature when he tells us "Man wants but little, nor that little long."

From Bacon comes "Knowledge is power," and Thomas Southern reminds us that "Pity's skin to love." Dean Swift thought that "Bread is the staff of life."

"Coming events cast their shadows before," and "That distance lends enchantment to the view," are from Keats. Franklin said, "God helps them who help themselves," and Lawrence Sterne comforts us with the thought, "God tempers the wind to the shorn lamb."

Even some of the "slang" phrases of the day have a legitimate origin. "Putting your foot in it" is certainly not a very elegant mode of expression, but, according to the Asiatic searches, it is quite a point of law; when the title to land is disputed in Hindostan, two holes are dug in the ground and used to incase a limb of each lawyer (?), and the one who cried first lost his case.

"You can, some of our fiercest and told that it would please the congregation greatly if he would quote a little Latin, Greek and Hebrew in his sermons, as if taking for granted that his hearers understood it, when in reality none of them knew anything about those languages.

The preacher was puzzled. He knew anything of either Hebrew, Greek or Latin himself, but he was a native of Wales and thought they wouldn't know the difference if he gave them a little Welsh every time. So he made a Scripture quotation in his first sermon to them, and said: "This passage, brethren, has been slightly altered in the translation. It is only in the original Hebrew that you can grasp its full meaning. I will read it to you in Hebrew, so that you may comprehend it more exactly," and he gave them the passage in very good Welsh. They liked it first rate, and presently he gave them some Welsh as Greek, and then some more as Latin. Then he was going to give them the Chaldee version in Welsh, when he saw a Welshman sitting by the door, almost bursting with suppressed laughter. The preacher didn't let on, but instead of the Welsh quotation he was going to give, said in Welsh, "For goodness' sake, my friend, don't say a word about this till I have the original Hebrew that you can grasp its full meaning. I will read it to you in Hebrew, so that you may comprehend it more exactly," and he gave them the passage in very good Welsh. I will read it to you in Hebrew, so that you may comprehend it more exactly," and he gave them the passage in very good Welsh. They liked it first rate, and presently he gave them some Welsh as Greek, and then some more as Latin. Then he was going to give them the Chaldee version in Welsh, when he saw a Welshman sitting by the door, almost bursting with suppressed laughter. The preacher didn't let on, but instead of the Welsh quotation he was going to give, said in Welsh, "For goodness' sake, my friend, don't say a word about this till I have the original Hebrew that you can grasp its full meaning. I will read it to you in Hebrew, so that you may comprehend it more exactly," and he gave them the passage in very good Welsh.
