Not the income but the outcome causes the racket in married life, says the New Orleans Picayune.

People who have to pay plumbing bills would like to know if the plumber's assistant is a "legal tender."

The mule puzzle—Draw a circle fifteen feet in diameter, place a mule in the centre, and walk around him without getting out of the circle.

The New Haven Register is intimately acquainted with "a man who changes from winter to spring clothing by simply ripping off the tay sole of his boot."

A Leadville man who was seen coming out of a gin mill at 10 p. m., felt terribly ashamed of it. No Leadvillian thinks it proper to leave such a place before midnight.

Five hundred dollars reward is offered for the return of a dog to Miss Irene Lynch, of New York. Miss Lynch appears to be the most opulent Irish sufferer of the season.

A hen's brain isn't very large, but it is large enough to comprehend the fact that she never was the mother of an Easter egg, and that if she was it would not hatch painted chickens.

A famous fibber told an extraordinary story, which, strange enough, chanced to be true. "It is so extraordinary," said a listner, "that if I did not know it to be true I should believe it to be false." "Ah," said the narrator, "if it had been false I should have told it in a much more truthful manner than I did."—Paris Wit.

A woman in New York accidentally went to church with two bonnets on her head—one stuck inside the other—and the other women in the congregation almost died of envy. They thought it was a new kind of bonnet, and too sweet for anything.—New Orleans Picayune.

"You get up all kinds of brick here, don't you?" inquired a man at one of our leading brickyards. "Yes, about all. What do you want?" The man edged toward the front of the yard as he replied, "Cambricks would do," and then cambricks at his head in every direction as he took to flight.

Female printers pop the question to the male typos by simply handing them an interregation point (?). If the latter intend to embrace the opportunity and accept, they return a brace thus ~~, but if they wish to decline and dash the cup of happiness from the fair one's lips, they hand over a —.—New Orleans Picayune.

But if there's a note that's due you bet,
You'd better remember it while you may;
For it's important you shouldn't forget

"My son," said a doting father, who was about taking his son into business, "what shall be the style of the new firm?" "Well, governor," said the one-and-twenty youth, looking up into the heavens to find an answer. "I don't know—but suppose we have it John H. Samplin & Father." The old gentleman was struck with the originality of the idea, but didn't adopt it.

The following is the way the newspapers in the mining regions talk to their readers:

"A man at Dutch Flat picked up a rock, the other day, to throw at a cow. The weight of it attracted his attention, and on examination it was found to contain over a hundred dollars in gold."

"I will bet $10," the commercial traveler shouted, with rising temper, "that I did it this morning in twenty minutes." "I don't doubt that," the fat passenger replied, sadly, "but I will bet you $20 that nobody saw you do it." And did it ever occur to you, dear reader, that that is the way the puzzle usually has been solved?—Hawkeye.

A Southern scientist says: "If the earth were struck out of existence the moon would still go on around the sun as unconcernedly as though the question about its motion had not been raised." We hope no doubting person will strike the earth out of existence in order to ascertain the truth of the scientist's assertion. We are willing to take his word for it.—Norristown Herald.

The Declaration of Independence was written by one of the greatest men the world ever produced; it will be regarded with love and reverence as long as one American heart continues to beat; but offer a youthful American his choice between reading it and perusing an account of the adventures of "War Whoop Dave. The Howling Fear of the West," and nine time out of ten, he'll choose the latter.—Boston Post.

A Lancaster young lady playfully threw her arm around the waist of a lady friend, and a pair of scissors hanging therefrom severed an artery in her arm and she nearly bled to death. This accident should teach young ladies that throwing arms around the female waist is a dangerous piece of business that should be performed solely by the male sex. The latter are strong and brave, and don't mind having an artery severed now and then for the good of the cause.—Norristown Herald.

Gay was the heart of Clarence Eugene,
He had many wives, some fat and some lean;
And, after the way of a good Mormon brother,
He scarce had one when he'd Mary Ann other.
His looks were innocent and demure,
And he thought that he was quite secure;
But now, in the prison cell's gloom and shade,
He knows how bigamist-ake he made.

A poor good-looking girl on the West Side, having married an old man whose wealth was only exceeded by the redness of his nose, was the victim of a cruel pun the other evening. She had asked the old man for $500 with which to buy a spring hat, and, on his making some excuse for not producing the amount, began to weep large, salt tears. "Bawling won't do any good," he said, with a brutal smile. "This is not the first financial cry, sis, that I have passed through."—Chicago Tribune.

GLADSTONE ON THE GLADSTONES.

WHAT THE PREMIER THINKS OF HIS TWO RISING SONS.

From his recent Speech at Hawarden.

Taking the case of these three members of the family together, I find in a newspaper this morning another case of three members of a family (hear, hear), and I find it had been made the subject of a very clever epigram, which I will read to you. It refers to the family of Allsopp (laughter), well known as great producers of the valuable commodity termed beer. (Laughter.) They have not been altogether fortunate in the elections, and the last of them is an opponent of my eldest son in East Worcestershire, which gives me a particular interest in these verses (laughter):

There were three jolly Allsopps,
Who sailed forth to woo;
One came to grief at Droitwich—
Then there were two.

Two jolly Allsopps,
Still for Parliament did run;
But Stafford declined Charlie—
Then there was one.

But one jolly Allsopp
Would yet keep up the run;
When East Worcester's settled him—
Then there'll be none.

(Roars of laughter.) I cannot make verses on the spur of the moment, but I should be tempted to try it if I had a minute or two more. (Laughter.) Against these three jolly Allsopps I will set three Gladstones. They sallied forth to woo, and one of them has been returned for the county of Mid-Lothian (loud cheers); that makes one upon the score. The second, who is now fighting gallantly in Worcestershire, will, I think, before long have disposed of the third Allsopp. (Cheers.) That will make two, and I should not wonder if, before you are many months or weeks older, something or another should turn up which would make a place, and an honorable place, for the defeated candidate for Middlesex (loud cheers), and then the Muse will favor us again; poetry will come out in our favor; for then there will be three. (Loud cheers.)

VANDERBILTS NOTIONS.

If a man like Mr. Vanderbilt exchanges, from speculative or other motives, an 8 per cent. stock for a 4 per cent. bond, there are thousands upon thousands of people who cannot afford to live on 4 per cent. upon their capital, and who will take up his 8 per cent, stock, even at the risk of some new job or dodge being introduced into the management of the property.

He sold out his stock as a bobtail swell sells his old clothes before he goes to Paris to get a new equipment. Poor people gladly buy them and feel quite comfortable in them. The whole secret of the recent stock transactions of the 'great untaxed" lies partly in his fear of being taxed some day, and partly in the aping mania which took possession of him during his recent visit to Europe. Since he breakfasted with Rosa Bonheur he has become crazy on the subject of art; and since he heard that the Rothschilds, the Foulds, and that class of people speculate only with one-half of their capital and keep the other half exclusively invested in Government securities, he has thought it fashionable to adopt the same policy.

But, rich as he is, he represents but an infinitesimal portion of the wealth of this country; and as long as the development of the continent continues, every railroad honestly built and honestly conducted must inevitably pay handsome dividends. The thousands of emigrants weekly reaching these shores have to be transported, as also the product of their labor, and the forty odd million people working on the rich soil of this immense continent cannot help accumulating savings, which must, in their turn, seek good investments. Stock jobbing may create breaks and panics in Wall street, but nobody except people gambling on small margins need lose anything by these jobbing schemes, whether they be conceived by Gould, Vanderbilt, or anybody else.

THE PHILADELPHIA WOOL EXHIBITION.

The International Exhibition of sheep wool and wool products, under the auspices of the Pennsylvania State Agricultural Society, will be held in the Permanent Exhibition Building, Fairmount Park, in September next. It is said by the officers of the society that the money realized at the fair held last year will enable them to offer unusual premiums for all class of stock and machinery. Replies to circulars and letters addressed to prominent stock growers throughout the country already indicate that the exhibits will be so numerous that it will be difficult to accommodate them all, unless the exhibits already in the building are packed close together. The aggregate of prizes to be offered is $40,000, including $8,500 for cattle, $7,000 for horses (racing prohibited), $6,500 for sheep, $5,000 for swine, $1,500 for poultry, $2,600 for the dairy, $4,000 for tools, implements, and machinery, $3,000 for State, county, club, and individual exhibits of farm, orchard, and garden products, and $4,000 for wool and wool products and other manufactured goods. The sheep prizes are, for flocks $450 and $250, and for ram and five of his get, $250, $200, etc. No officers or members of the State Society will be appointed for service on the juries of a ward.

TORY AND LIBERAL.

A Tribune subscriber asks the favor of an explanation of the terms "Tory" and "Liberal" as applied to the political parties in England. The word "Tory" was derived from a term applied as Roger North says, to "the most despicable savages among the wild Irish;" and was first used in 1679 during the struggle for the exclusion of the Duke of York from the line of succession, the name being given to the followers of the Duke because he favored the Irishmen. Johnson's definition of a tory was this: "One who adheres to the ancient Constitution of the State and the apostolical hierarchy of the Church of England." The word "Whig" is a contraction of "Whiggamore," which in the South of Scotland used to denote a drover. In 1684, a party of Covenanters attacked Edinburg, and after this "Whiggamore's campaign" the word was taken up as a term of reproach and applied to the opponents of the Court. Since the passage of the Reform Measure of this century the political successors of the two parties have been known as "Conservatives" and "Liberals."

GOOD DAY FOR GUDGEONS.

"Hi, sonny," said a keen-looking Chicago business man; "what are you looking for? Let me see that letter."

"No, I can't let you have that letter; there's bonds in it."

"Why, I've been waiting for you this half hour to bring me those bonds—I bought 'em of what's his name."

Upon this the lad took out a big envelope marked "J. Smith Esq., present;" in the upper corner, "$2500 U. S. 5 20s," and in the lower corner, "commission due, $5. Please remit by bearer."

"That's all right, sonny," said the keen-looking business man, as he hauled out a scantily furnished purse, and gave the boy a five dollar bill and a quarter, and said:

"There, sonny, that quarter is to reward you for your cleverness and fidelity;" and putting the envelope in his breast pocket he walked leisurely round the corner. Not till he had reached Union Park did he draw the precious envelope from his pocket and tear it open. He then found that the envelope contained a copy of the Chicago Times, which he could have purchased at the office for five cents.

"The fish are bitting very numerously to-day," said "sonny," taking another big envelope from his pocket.

NEW PUZZLE WITH WORDS.

Students at the Institute of Technology have designed a rival to the Gem puzzle, which is beginning to excite considerable interest about town. Given two words of an equal number of letters, the problem is to change one letter at a time of the first so as to make a legitimate English word, containing the alterations until the desired result is attained. The conditions are that only one letter shall be altered to form each new word, and that none but words that can be found in English dictionaries shall be used. Here are some examples of the changes:

East to West—East, vast, vest, West.

Boot to Shoe—Boot, soot, shot, Shoe.

Dog to Cat—Dog, dig, fig, fit, fat, Cat.

Milk to Hash—Milk, mile, male, mate. hate, hath, Hash.

Road to Rail—Road, rood, root, coot, coat, coal, coil, toil, tail, Rail.

Soup to Fish—Soup, soul, foil, toil, foil, fowl, fool, foot, coot, cost, cast, fast, fist, Fish.

The game is becoming quite popular in railroad officers, as well as in family circles and at firesides, and seems to furnish instruction with amusement.

A TOWN LIGHTED BY ELECTRICITY.—Wabash, Ind., boasts of being the first town to adopt the electric light for general illumination. A beginning was made March 31, with four Brush lamps of 3,000 candle power each suspended on the flagstaff of the court house. A seven horse-power generator supplies the electricity. The contract called for a light equal to a gas burner at a distance of 2,640 feet from the lamps. The tests were said to be satisfactory. Many visitors from adjoining towns were present to witness the first trial of the new method.

What will please you most will be the pleasure of enjoying your meals, while passing over the beautiful prairies of Illinois and Iowa, in one of our magnificent Dining Cars that accompany all Through Express Trains. You get an entire meal, as good as is served in any first-class hotel, for seventy-five cents.

Appreciating the fact that a majority of the people prefer separate apartments for different purposes (and the inner passenger business of this line warranting it), we are pleased to announce that this Company runs Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars for sleeping purposes, and Palace Dining Cars for eating purposes only. One other great feature of our Palace Cars is a SMOKING SALOON where you can enjoy your "Havana" at all hours of the day.

Magnificent Iron Bridges span the Mississippi and Missouri rivers at all points crossed by this line, and transfers are avoided at Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Leavenworth, and Atchison, connections being made in Union Depots.
