The following delivered in Cleveland, on Saturday evening, October 11th, 1879, just before State election day, is so full of eloquence and good advice that we cannot forbear to recover the work of the course they will."]

The following delivered in Cleveland, and it tottees the states. Come there, young man, and put in your young life where all is living, and where nothing is dead but the heroes that defended it! [Applause.] I think these young men will do that. ["Of contlemen we are cleaned the young man, and put in your young life where all is living, and where nothing is dead but the heroes the states.

father is a Republican and my brothers are Republicans and I am a Republi-can all over, but I want to be an indent man, and I don't want anydependent man, and I don't want any-body to say, 'That fellow votes the Republican ticket just because his dad does,' and I have half a mind to vote the Democratic ticket just to prove my independence." I did not like the thing the boy suggested, but I did ad-mire the spirit of the boy that wanted to have some independence of his own.

Now, I tell you, young man, don't vote the Republican ticket just because your father votes it. Don't vote the Democratic ticket, even if he does it. [Laughter.] But let me give you this one word of advice, as a short to ritch your tent, in you are about to pitch your tent in one of the great political camps. Your life is full and buoyant with hope now, and I beg you, when you pitch your tent, pitch it among the living and not among the dead. [Applause.] If you are at all inclined to pitch it among the Democratic neonle and among the Democratic people and and with that party, let me go with you for a moment while we survey the ground where I hope you will not the ground where I hope you will not shortly lie. [Laughter.] It is a sad place, young man, for you to put your young life into. It is to me far more like a graveyard than like a camp for the living. Look at it! It is billowed all over with the graves of dead issues, of buried opinions, of exploded theories, of disgraced doctrines. You cannot live in comfort in such a place. [Laughter.] Why, look here! Here is a little double mound. I look down on it and I read "Sacred to the memis a little double mound. I look down on it and I read, "Sacred to the memory of squatter sovereignty and the Dred Scott decision." A million and a half of Democrats voted for that, but it has been dead fifteen years—died by the hand of Abraham Lincoln, and here it lies. [Appleage 2] and here it lies. [Applause.] Young man, that is not the place for you.

But look a little further. Here is another monument, a black tomb, and beside it as our distinguished friend said, there towers to the sky a monumeut of 400,000,000 pairs of human fetters taken from the arms of slaves, and I read on its little headstone this: "Sacred to the memory of human slavery."
For forty years of its infamous life the Democratic party taught that it was divine—God's institution. They deform of pills, also in the form of Lozenges, on receipt formof pills, also in the form of Lozenges, on receipt formof pills, also in the form of Lozenges, on receipt of price, $10.0, per box, for either. Miss. PINTELM freely answers all letters of inquiry. Send for pamplet, Aldress as above Meation this paper.

But here it lies dead by the hand of Abraham Lincoln. [Applause.] Dead by the power of the Republican party. [Applause.] Dead by the justice of Almirbty God. [Great applause and Agents, Pittsburgh, Pa.

But here is another. A little brimstone tomb [laughter], and I read across its yellow face in lurid, bloody lines these words: "Second to the ines these words: "Sacred to the nemory of State sovereignty and seession." Twelve millions of Democrats mustered around it in arms to it alive; but here it lies, shot to J. L. PURVIS. keep it alive; but here it lies, shot to death by the million guns of the Republic. [Applause.] Here it lies, its shrine burned to ashes under the blazing rafters of the burning Confederacy.
[Applause.] It is dead! I would not

[Applause.] It is dead! I would not have you stay in there a minute, even in this balmy night air, to look at such a place. [Laughter.]

But just before I leave it I discover a new-made grave, a little mound—short. The grass has hardly sprouted over it, and all around it I see torn pieces of paper with the word "fiat" on them [laughter], and I look down in curiosity, wandering what the little grave is, and I read on it: "Sacred to the memory of the Rag Baby [laughrer]: nursed in the brain of all the fanaticism of the world [laughter]; rocked by Thomas Ewing, George H. Pendleton, Samuel Cary, and a few others throughout the land. But it died on the 1st of January, 1879, and the $140,000,000 of gold that God made, and not fiat power, lie upon its little carcass to keep it down forever."
[Prolonged applause.]

Oh, young man, come out of that!
[Laughter.] That is no place in which to put your young life. Come out, and come over into this camp of liberty, of order, of law, of justice, of freedom ["Amen"], of all that is glorious under these night stars.

Iduntill, uduption budling budli hese night stars.

Is there any death here in our camp?
Yes! Yes! Three hundred and fifty usand soldiers, the noblest band that ever trod the earth, died to make this camp a camp of glory and of liberty forever. [Tremendous applause.]

But there are no dead issues here. There are no dead ideas here. Hang There are no dead ideas here. Hang out our banners from under the blue sky this night until it shall sweep the green turf under your feet! It hangs over our camp. Read away up under the stars the inscription we have written on it, lo! these twenty-five years. Twenty-five years ago the Republican party was married to liberty, and this is our silver wedding, fellow citizens. [Great applause.] A worthily married pair love each other better on the day of their silver wedding than on the day of their first espousals; and we are truer to liberty to-day and dearer to God than we were when we spoke our first word of liberty Read away and restrict the structure of the structure our first word of fiberty. Read away up under the sky across our starry banner the first word we uttered twenty-five years ago! What was it? "Slavery shall never extend over another foot of the territory of the Great West." [Applause.] Is that dead or alive? Alive, thank God, forevermore! [Applause.] And truer to-night than it was the hour it was written! [Applause.]! And truer to-night than it was the hour it was written! [Applause.] plause.] And truer to-night than it was the hour it was written! advice that we cannot forbear to reproduce it here, and commend it to the careful reading of every young man in the land to-day:

Now, fellow citizens, a word before I leave you on the very verge of the holy day of God—a fit moment to conservate ourselves, finally to the great them, up and finish it by south to conservate ourselves, finally to the great them, up and finish it by south to the western them. secrate ourselves finally to the great them up and finish it by snowing the secrate ourselves finally to the great work of next Tuesday morning. I see in this great audience to night a great many young men, young men who are about to cast their first vote. I want to give you a word of suggestion and advice. I heard a very brilliant thing said by a boy the other day up in one of our northwestern counties. He said to me, "General, I have a great mind to vote the Democratic ticket." That was not the brilliant thing. [Laughter.] I said to him, "Why?"
