

YOUNG MEN.

LISTEN TO THE WORDS OF GEN. GARFIELD.

The following delivered in Cleveland, on Saturday evening, October 11th, 1879, just before the election day, is so full of eloquence and good advice that we cannot forbear to reproduce it here, and commend it to the careful reading of every young man in the land to-day.

Now, fellow citizens, a word before I leave you on the very verge of the holy day of God—a fit moment to consecrate ourselves finally to the great work of this great nation, to the great work of this great nation, to the great work of this great nation.

Now, I tell you, young man, don't vote the Republican ticket just because your father votes it. Don't vote the Democratic ticket just because your father votes it. But let me give you a word of advice, as you are about to pitch your tent in one of the great political camps.

But look a little further. Here is another monument, a black tomb, and beside it as our distinguished friend said, there towers to the sky a monument of 400,000,000 pairs of human feet taken from the arms of slaves, and I read on its little headstone this "Sacred to the memory of human slavery."

But here is another. A little brimstone tomb [laughter] and I read across its yellow face in lurid, bloody lines these words: "Sacred to the memory of State sovereignty and national union."

But there are no dead issues here. There are no dead issues here. There are no dead issues here. There are no dead issues here.

Every great record we have made we have vindicated with our blood and with our truth. It sweeps the ground, and it touches the stars. Come there, young man, and put in your young life where all is living, and where nothing is dead but the heroes that defended it [Applause.]

Gentlemen, we are closing this memorable campaign. We have got our enemies on the run everywhere. [Laughter.] And all you need to do in this noble city, this capital of the West, is to follow them up and finish it by showing the rebellion under one more.
