

AGRICULTURAL

Within a few years past the problem of increasing the yield of corn by improved methods of cultivation, has been warmly discussed, and no doubt, the average farmer will not raise one hundred bushels of shelled corn per acre, but the successful efforts will, in fact, induce him to strive to increase his yield. It would be well if a great more thought and investigation were given to increasing the yield of potatoes.

The exports of breadstuffs from the United States for the fiscal year ended with June 30th reached the enormous total of $277,236,722, the largest amount for any one year in the history of the country. This places breadstuffs in the front rank of our export trade, for in no other line of products does the total reach these figures, and the only approach to them is found in cotton and provisions.

The Form and Fireseed speaks with just severity of the blacksmiths with their work on the horse's foot, as though nature had made a mistake in putting it there. "We know," it says, "what an elephant's foot is; it is all rubber-like. The horse has the same encased in a shell, which gives him accuracy and steadiness of movement. Now, this casing protects the frog. It grows slowly, the frog grows rapidly. The healthy frog of the colt lies at least with the line of the hoof. He does not take his weight wholly on the rim of his feet. Old horses would have feet more like them if blacksmiths would allow they knew a little less than nature, and really knew enough to read her intentions."

A correspondent of the Chicago Times relates some remarkable experiences with the use of salt in his garden and orchard. In 1877, he says his wife had a garden forty feet square which it was necessary to water every day, and still the plants and flowers were very inferior. The next year he put half a barrel of brine and half a barrel of salt on the ground and the result was that the plants were much more abundant and the plants were of unusual size and the flowers of great beauty. He also had some potatoes growing from seed that wilted down as soon as the weather became very hot. He applied salt to the surface of the soil till it was white. The vines took a vigorous start, grew to the length of three feet, blossomed and produced tubers the size of the hen's eggs to that of goose eggs. His soil is chiefly sand.

The high prices that ruled for wheat during the past season, led farmers through the Northwest to sell, as a rule, all they could possibly spare, while the same cause seems to have deterred millers from laying in a heavy supply. Accordingly the miller, though almost that entire section appear to be short of wheat, and it is reported that the 204,730 bushels of the variety lately in storage in Chicago, 60,000 are to be sent by water to Milwaukee, and 100,000 by rail to Minneapolis. In the absence of a sufficient supply of "hard," it is doubtful whether the miller will decide to take what is known as "soft" Spring wheat, or shut down as usual the new harvest in the market. The new wheat in that region will hardly be ready for grinding before the middle of September; for after it has ripened and been harvested it will require some time until it is dried enough for millers' use.

Success in butter-making depends largely on the prompt cleaning of the dairy utensils. Every utensil, after being used, must be cleaned immediately in order to prevent taints in the milk, cream or butter. On the 15th of July thirty Norman horses, all sound and healthy, and in fine condition, arrived in Boston by the steamer Anglia. The lot consisted of twenty-two stallions and eight mares, and the importation is regarded as the most valuable assortment of Norman horses ever brought to this country.

A correspondent of the Ohio Farmer, who strongly urges the growing of turkeys for stockfeeding, says that with turkeys fed tops and all to sheep, with a small additional quantity of grain, either oats or corn, the amount of hay required for a flock of sheep will be very small. Cattle also eat them with great relish. Ohio in 1879 had 9,150,000 sheep, and a dog interest assessed at $373,624. These dogs last year killed 47,636 sheep, valued at $102,444. In 1871 the value of sheep killed by dogs in that State was $200,000. From this it appears the Ohio dogs destroy their value in sheep in a period of less than two and a half years.

Skimmed cheese, says an exchange, has received the black eye it has long deserved. Illinois creamery skims are selling in New York at from three to five cents a pound, which is about half what whole milk cheese is worth. The practice of the creameries of taking off all the cream they can get, and then making up a cheap cheese to remain in the market, has had its day. The practical full stock, with just as little as possible taken of the night's milk, is the coming cheese, and the nearly worthless commodity made by some of the creameries will be forced out of the market.

CIDER WINE.—To three gallons of new, unfermented cider, add nine pounds of sugar; dissolve the sugar by stirring it well. Put it into a sweet keg, and let it stand four weeks; then strain it through a cloth strainer, and put it either into bottles or jugs; cork tightly, and it will keep for a length of time, as age improves it. Every housekeeper knows what a luxury and convenience a pure, unadulterated wine is in a family, either for cooking purposes or medicinal uses. Maple sugar is as nice for wine as any other.

An English contemporary very properly describes as "decoy ducks" the prominent persons whose names appear as "patrons" of one enterprise and another that are begging for public consideration. Here the business is managed somewhat differently, for well known people are named as "trustees" or "directors" of various businesses, with a tacit understanding that a president, a secretary, or a cashier shall manage the business according to his own sweet will, while the gentlemen with high sounding names do nothing whatever until a crash comes, and even then they only wonder blankly how it happened.

TOO GENEROUS.

An old gentleman who is avaricious and has the disadvantage of a large family of relations, has contrived an ingenious plan for getting rid of the necessity of making birthday presents to them, or at least to such of them as are of gentler sex. His method was simple enough. He sent them presents in large boxes, conspicuously addressed thus: "To Mad. Emoxie B., on her sixtieth birthday." "To my niece Gertrude, on the thirty-first anniversary of her birth," etc. His relatives instantaneously united in begging him not to waste money on presents for them, now that the times were so hard.

JOHNNY'S ESSAY ON DOGS. Last summer our dog Towser was lying in the sun trying to sleep, but the flies that had been bothering him for some time, and which he could not get rid of, had become so annoying that he had to catch 'em, and bring 'em back like a dog, was his work. Towser held his head still, and when the bee was close to his nose, Towser winked at him like he said you see what this bugger is doin', he thinks I'm a lily-of-the-valley which isn't opened yet, but you just wait till I blossom and you will see some fun, and sure enough Towser opened his mouth very wide, so as to let the bee in, and the bee went into Towser's mouth. Then Towser he shut his eyes, and his mouth too, and had begun to make a peaceful smile when the bee stung him, and you never see a lily-of-the-valley look so in your life.

A SHOWER OF RAILROAD SPIKES.

The great demand for railroad spikes has called into existence a remarkable machine, now in successful operation at the establishment of Dilworth, Porter & Co., Pittsburg. It is the invention of the late Mr. James Sweet, and comprises a series of "continuous" rolls handling the material automatically. The material, in the form of billets two and a half inches in diameter and three feet long, is taken in by the machine, and in three seconds reduced in diameter and increased in length to a rod thirty-six feet long and nine-sixteenths of an inch square. In forty seconds more this rod has to be cut in two and passed through two spike machines, from which finished spikes shower at the rate of forty tons every ten working hours. By working "double time" five of these machines can handle over eleven hundred logs of railroad spikes per day, each log containing one hundred and fifty pounds, or thirteen cwt. to the ton. The product of ordinary rolls and machines is from two to two and a half tons of finished spikes per working day of ten hours.

GOVERNMENT DEBTS.

Parties in legislative bodies may eagerly clutch at everything that will give them a vote. It is not so with the public, but there is one task upon which they may always be trusted to join forces, and that is the work of making ends meet. No matter who may rule, no matter for what the outlay may have been incurred, the running expenses of the government must be met, and neither party are likely to refuse to do so. In England there has been no more distasteful more of the new government than the proposal to increase the income tax, and the opposition could not ask a better grievance upon which to gain the sympathy of the people, if only they dared use it; but if more money is raised England cannot meet her bills. There is no other method of making ends of the necessary amount, so when the proposition was made in the Commons on Wednesday night to reject the proposal to increase the tax it was defeated by a large majority, many of the opposition voting with the government. Some of the money will go to pay for old liberal lunacies and some for conservative blunders, but it matters not who did the dancing or how they danced, the piper must be paid. The same experience comes to our own parties; they may call each other the most dreadful names for past party blunders, which may claim to have the only knowledge that exists about economy, but when it comes to the work of raising the money the party that refuses to help must give up the ghost.

A Chinaman was three days without food, in a California wilderness. When found, he said he had been fed abundantly by strange beings, who carried all sorts of delicacies, which he had been affected by hunger, as is frequently the case; but his countrymen believe that he has been in the hands of devils, and they are putting him through a purifying course of ceremonies. A diamond expert of Chicago asserts that many of the so-called solitaires, sold as single stones, are made up of small stones cleverly put together. In some cases the blowpipe test separates. He adds the surprising statement that not one diamond in ten sold in this country is other than the refuse of the London market. Nearly all are off-colored, speckled, or feathered, and are sold at a fictitious value. The new dance, "the racquet," is thus described: "The embrace is close, for the dancers need the strongest support from each other; while they give a sideways kick with both feet, at the same time the body bends with a low dip. The lady's shawl ends and frills and the coat tails of the gentleman fly about in all sorts of odd fantastic forms. The time and motion of the music and steps must satisfy the fastest and giddiest of our young people. It is a parlor substitute for a can-can."

Walnut Ridge, a wealthy Quaker settlement, which was completely undressed lately became very much excited over a new religion, which they call White Lightning Religion. The excitement became so great that schools were dismissed and the people left their places of business and farms to participate. The leaders pretended to have supernatural powers, and held the bodies of friends who attempted to revive them until burial was compelled by the authorities. A man named Pitts, a leader, married a woman imbued with the same faith, and who greatly maltreated the daughter of Pitts' first wife. They gave her a severe beating, compelling her to leave the settlement to receive it. This so incensed the irreligious neighbors that they went to the house in a L.J., tarred and feathered Pitts and left him a sample of the rope that would be used if the religious frenzy be not checked.
