ADULTERATIONS AND SUBSTITUTIONS.

People who like to mix chicory with their coffee should undoubtedly be allowed to do so, although, for one who knowingly uses coffee unadulterated, probably there are a dozen who do it without knowing.

Perhaps one of the most successful of the comparatively new adulterations is that of the use of glucose, made from corn, for the adulteration of sugar and sirup supposed to be made from the sugar cane.

SHARP PRACTICE.

A number of very clever though by no means new swindles are described by a writer in Chambers' Journal.

This reminds us of the story of two fellows whose money was almost entirely expended, and who determined that a wealthy hotel-keeper should be the means of replenishing their purses.

"I have read the news from Maine," Livingston said yesterday, "and it makes me feel better. All I care for now is to finish this fast of forty-two days, and then to help elect Winfield S. Hancock."

The ambulance was summoned to remove Mrs. Livingston to the hospital, but Livingston said that she should not go. Dr. Stuart said that there was nothing the matter with Mrs. Livingston, and that, although she appeared to have taken poison, she probably had not done so.

FAST BROKEN.

Charles Livingston, at 1 o'clock yesterday, finished the eighth day of his fast in the hall, No. 5 Wiltoughby street, Brooklyn, and cheerfully entered upon his ninth day.

"I have read the news from Maine," Livingston said yesterday, "and it makes me feel better. All I care for now is to finish this fast of forty-two days, and then to help elect Winfield S. Hancock."

The ambulance was summoned to remove Mrs. Livingston to the hospital, but Livingston said that she should not go. Dr. Stuart said that there was nothing the matter with Mrs. Livingston, and that, although she appeared to have taken poison, she probably had not done so.

A CHANCE FOR INVENTORS—THE $5,000 CAR.

Our readers will remember that a prize of $5,000 was offered last year by the American Humane Association for a cattle car so constructed as to allow cattle to lie down while in transit, and to be fed and watered while in the cars.

The judges do not prescribe the size of the internal arrangement of the car. He ed car; but among plans which meet the conditions, that will have the preference which can most readily and cheaply be adapted to the cattle car now in use.

As models and plans may be seen by others than the judges while in their possession, they suggest, as a precautionary measure, that each inventor file a caveat at the United States Patent Office before sending them—Scientific American.

REASONABLE DILIGENCE.
A very recent decision of the Supreme Court, at Washington, strikingly illustrates the importance of the inventor's using reasonable diligence and promptness in prosecuting his application.

ABSENCE OF MIND.

"Speaking of absence of mind," said the Rev. Sidney Smith, "the oddest instance happened to me once in forgetting my name when I was at a door in London, and asked if Mr. Jones was at home. 'Yes, sir; pray what name shall I say?' I looked in the man's face astonished—what name? Aye, that is the question—what is my name? I believe the man thought me mad, but it is true that during the space of two or three minutes I had no recollection of who I was, and if I had never existed, I did not know whether I was a dissenter or layman; I felt as dull as Stenhold or Jenkins. As last to my relief it flashed across me that I was Sidney Smith. I heard also of a clergyman, who went jogging along on a road until he came to a turnpike. 'What is to pay?' 'Pay sir; for what?' asked the turnpike man. 'What for?' 'For your horse, sir! Your horse, sir; what horse? There is no horse, sir!' 'No horse! God bless me,' said he, suddenly looking down between his legs, 'I thought I was on horseback!'"

LITTLE TANGLES.

Once there was a king who employed his people to weave for him the silk and patterns were all given by the king. He told the workers that when any difficulty arose they should send to him, and never to fear troubling him. Among men and women busy at their looms was one little child whom the king did not think too young to work. Often alone at her loom, cheerfully and patiently she labored. One day, when the men and women were distressed at the sight of their failures, the silks were tangled, and the weaving unlike the pattern, they gathered round the child and said: "Tell us how it is that you are so happy in your work. We are always in difficulties."

THE ONE SAFE WAY.
The pilot of a United States revenue cutter was asked if he knew all the rocks along the coast where he sailed. He replied: "No; it is only necessary to know where there are no rocks." These words suggest a deep moral and spiritual truth. Sermons, lectures, and books abound on the temptations which lie along the life-course of the young to eternity. Over the most dangerous shoals are lifted the solemn notes of repeated warning. This is well. And yet how much more frequently does the Word of God present and enforce, with all the urgency of motive love can suggest, the very truth contained in the pilot's answer—the "King's highway of holiness." Looking unto Jesus with simple faith, the soul is secure, and the perils that lurk on every hand, there are no rocks ahead.
