A SPLENDID MILL!

The Best of Modern Machinery Brought to Butler and Put in Place in Reiber's Mill by Experienced Mill-rights.

All the Latest Improvements Made, and the Mill Now Turning out as Good Flour as is Made Any-where,

Mr Geo. Reiber, of this place, miller, has lately had his flouring mill, located on the Con-noquenessing a short distance above Butler, en-tirely overhauled, remodeled, and furnished with the best of new machinery and all the

with the best of new machinery and all the latest improvements.

This machinery was put in place and the improvements made by that well-known and experienced mill-wright and contractor, Mr. R. Bryson, assisted by Messrs. P. A. Stewart and Henry Yeakel, who are also mill-wrights, and the mill as it now stands speaks for itself, as everything is perfectly arranged and the workmanship and finish cannot be beat.

The mill is a three-story building, with a basement, all of which is occupied by machinery.

On the first floor are the four grain hoppers, all new and of the latest pattern; two for wheat, one for buckwheat and one for chop; also the burr for grinding the middlings, from which the best flour or what is commonly called the "patent" flour is made. The flour bins are also on this floor.

"patent" flour is made. The flour bins are also on this floor.

On the second floor are the middlings purifier a patent machine for removing the bran from the middlings and making it ready for grinding in the middlings burr, also a long, large, handsome box, containing the bolting eloths. This box was made and cloths put in place by Mr. Bryson and his assistants and cannot be excelled in the county. The cloths are arranged in four long cylinders from two to three feet in diameter and perhaps twenty feet long. The cloth or fine netting is of the best quality of silk and is imported from Germany.

This floor also contains an apparatus for heating the grain so as to make sure that it is perfectly dry before reaching the hoppers, and also a corn sheller, buck wheat bolter, and other machinery.

On the fourth floor are the separating and cleaning machines, buckwheat huller the bolting box which extends through from the second floor, machinery for the hoisting rope, and some grain bins.

In the basement are the boiler and engine, water wheel, crown wheel, and the other machinery necessary for running the mill by either steam or water power. All the machinery is in perfect order and runs smoothly. Mr. Hance Frazier is the miller. He has initiated himself in all the mysteries of the new machinery and is now turning out as good an article of flour as can be made anywhere.

Mr. K. seems to be at a loss to know wherein the poisonous substance exists when he says, though at the same time it is not known that the shuck or outer black shell is really the portion of the berry containing the deleterious substance. We will endeavor to give more light on the subject, viz: we have manufactured buckwheat flour for years past by a system of hulling or shucking, and separating all other impurities from the meats before grinding; and of this flour, our family (several in number), fared daily during the winter season, and have so far experienced no skin disease or itch. THERE IS A BALM IN GILEAD.—
The success which has marked the introduction of Cream Balm, a Catarrh remedy, prepared by Ely Bros., Owego, N. Y., is indeed marvelous, Many persons in Pittston and vicinity are using it with most satisfactory results. A lady down town is recovering the sense of smell which she has not enjoyed for fifteen years through the use of the Balm. She had given up her case as incurable. Mr. Barber, the druggist, has used it in his family and commends it very highly. In another colume, a young Tunkhannock lawyer, known to many of our readers, testifies that he was cured of partial deafness. It is certainly a very efficacious remedy.—Pittston, Pa. Gazette, Aug. 15,1881. A young man has discovered an —A young man has discovered an ingenious and successful way to capture squirrels, dead or alive, without either gun or amunition. His outfit consists of a set of climbers, such as are used by telegraph repairers, a sheath knife, a pack of firecrackers, a box of matches, and a dog. The dog holes the game. The young man puts on his climbers, and goes up to the hole in the tree, lights a firecracker and drops it into the hole. When it explodes the frightened squirrel rushes out into a bag held over the hole, or if he wishes to kill it he strikes its head off with the sheath-knife; if he misses his aim and the squirrel leaps to the isses his aim and the squirrel leaps to the sesses his aim and the squirrel leaps to the ound the dog soon finishes it. By this novel mirrivance he often brings in from ten to renty squirrels a day. Larger game is capred in the same way.

The race of fools still lives. 'A few days ago a young man of South Chester Delaware county, made the foolhardy attempt to put a billiard ball in his mouth. He did it but when he attempted to remove it his trouble came and he pretty nearly came to the conclusion that he would be compelled to have his teeth removed or he would die. A physician came to his relief and took the ball out. It is pretty certain that he will never attempt such a ridiculous undertaking again.
